

Final Vote For Hostess Scheduled

Selection of the Homecoming Hostess and regulations concerning the sign contest are among items reported by members of the various Homecoming committees.

Homecoming Hostess will be selected from a group of six candidates by student vote in the Co-op today and tomorrow, according to Betty Wright, selection committee member. Finalists are Janet Morrison, Marguerite Johns, Coral Kneeland, Grace Hoffman, Barbara Buddenhagen, and Carol Bartel.

TO CONTACT CHAIRMEN

Sign chairmen in each living organization will be contacted this week to prevent duplication of signs, says Steve Church, sign contest chairman. Church emphasized that the $30 limit on total cost will be enforced. New cups to be awarded this year to winning men's and women's living groups will be on display soon in the Co-op.

Registration of alums for Homecoming will be held Friday afternoon and evening until 8 and Saturday until game time, announces Chairman Ann Case.

PAIRINGS REMAIN SAME

Same pairings as for the noise parade will be used for gathering wood for this year's bonfire, according to Herb Lombard, chairman. The bonfire will follow the noise parade and will be held in the center intramural field.

The barbecue for alums Saturday will begin at 11:30 a.m. in McArthur Court, says Ron Brown, chairman. Using student volunteers for serving, the committee expects to serve over 600. Price will be $1 per person. Aiding Brown on the barbecue are Don Paillette and Betty Boner.

Radio Auditions Set

Radio tryouts for male and female voices to participate in a radio broadcast at the Homecoming game will be held at 8 p. m. tonight in the radio studio of Villard Hall.

Students selected will speak on a five-minute broadcast during half-time.

U.O. Building Program Featured by 'Old Oregon'

A picture story of the University's building program as well as student-authored articles and alumni news, is featured in the November 1949 issue of Old Oregon, alumni magazine released yesterday.

Latest developments in the construction of Carson Hall, Erb Memorial Union building, and the theater addition to Villard Hall are shown pictorially.

Henry N. Weiman, visiting professor of philosophy, outlines his ideas on the role of education in the solution of world problems in his article, "Education for Today."

Marks of Halloween Pranksters Show on U.O. Campus, Houses

Halloween pranksters opened up with an overloaded bag of tricks Monday night and left conspicuous evidence of their visits about the campus.

University high reported the loss of two blocking dummies, one of which was found Tuesday prominently displayed on the heating plant roof of Northwest Christian College.

Contrary to a sign posted in front of the Oriental art museum, no one should expect to learn the samba or see graceful ballerinas in action there. The sign read "Sandy McTavish School of Ballroom Dancing—Acrobatics and Tap."

Humorous pranksters evidently thought the girls ought to keep the public informed about their pets. At Hendricks Hall they planted the sign, "No Horses Allowed on Bridle Path," and Delta Gamma found "Rabbits for Sale" in their front yard.

Sororities seemed to be victims of most of the Halloween celebrating, but Vince (Weepy) Dullich of Phi Gamma Delta had sand poured in his gas tank and air let out of the tires.

Alpha Gamma Delta and Tri Delta reported rubber tires had been set afire on their lawns and Gamma Phi Beta had to call on the fire department to put out a blaze someone had started in a barrel on their front porch.

Girls in the Alpha Phi house were startled about 1 a.m. when they heard the fire bell ringing. They discovered the fire escape had been pulled down and tied securely to a saw horse.

Hoses and water tanks were used on several of the houses. Alpha Omicron Pi complained that persons with water tanks had climbed ladders in order to water down the upstairs rooms. The study room of Kappa Alpha Theta was drenched by jokers who thrust a hose through the window.

Even cars found their way into some peculiar positions. One of them was parked in the yard of Alpha Xi Delta and another was precariously placed on the Gamma Phi's front porch.

A wheelbarrow on the second-floor fire escape had the Alpha Xi's wondering, but how the front room furniture in the Theta house was upended will probably be a mystery for some time.

Means to Leave For Singapore

Paul B. Means, University professor of religion, will leave in December for Singapore to study religious trends of Southeast Asia.

"Singapore," Means believes, "is the great melting pot of ideas, and peoples; the cross roads of the Orient where people, cultures, and ideologies mingle."

He plans to do research on the Mohammedan religion, noting the effect of modern trends as represented by their leaders and periodicals.

Means, with his wife and daughter, will sail aboard the U.S. India Mail from Seattle on a "slow boat to China" cruise which will last seven weeks.

During his eighteen months stay in the Malay Peninsula, Means will tour the nearby islands to study political influence on religion.

Be-Ribboned Mums Go on Sale Tonight

The chance to look like an alum by wearing a mum at the Portland game is still open to all students (female) who can convince students (male) to order one for them before Thursday night.

The water-proof ribboned, green-O'd chrysanthemums are offered today and Thursday in three prices at the Co-op by Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism honorary.

They are to be paid for upon order and picked up Saturday at Lubliner Florist in Portland.

Hinz Named Program Head

Appointment of Bob Hinz as program director of the University radio studios was announced today by W. H. Ewing, head of the Radio Division of the Speech Department. Hinz succeeds Norm Lamb, who graduated last spring.

As program director, Hinz will have the primary responsibility for supervising the programming and personnel of campus station KDUK. He will make all lower staff appointments on the station with the approval of faculty members.

Faculty members will maintain a greater degree of control over the situation on KOAC where they will still supervise production of most of the programming. They will however, relinquish some of the duties concerning student personnel used on the state station schedule.

Hinz' appointment will be for the remainder of the school year. Last spring, he was chief announcer for KDUK, and has appeared over many University KOAC programs.

Paramount Rally Ticket Cut Slated For Flashcard Fund

Twenty percent of the net take, or approximately 14 cents on each ticket to Friday night's Portland rally, will revert to Oregon students, for use in building up a flashcard section at football games, rally board chairman Art Ross revealed Tuesday.

The rally is scheduled for Portland's Paramount Theater. Doors will open at 7:30 p. m. Friday, and the 45-minute campus entertainment show will start at 7:45.

Webfoots Plan Rally for Team Thursday Night

Since Oregon's gridiron team has never been to a pre-game rally this season, an all-campus rally is slated for Thursday evening at 6:15 p.m. in front of John Straub Hall.

Tying in with this week's concentrated "Beat Washington" campaign, all Webfoot rooters will cheer the Duck squad as they finish eating in Straub's cafeteria.

"Beat Washington" rally signs will be made by all campus living organizations today. Signs can be on paper or cardboard, and must be ready for Thursday night's spirit rally.

Paper "Beat Washington" badges will be distributed to students today.

Coach Jim Aiken, all members of the team, backfield and line coaches will be present to hear the campus spirit behind them.

Living organizations are urged by the rally board to have early buffet dinners so that all members may be at the rally at 6:15.

Free Football Films Scheduled Thursday

Football films of Oregon-University of Southern California games played during 1948 and '49 will be shown Thursday at 7 p.m. in room 101 Physical Education.

Students and faculty will be admitted free. Another showing will be made at 9 p.m. if there is an overflow crowd.

Other movies in this series, sponsored by the Student Union office, will be announced later.

Prof. Paul Dull to Open University Lecture Series

Paul S. Dull, associate professor of political science and history, will speak on "The Chinese Way of Thinking" Nov. 8.

This will be the first of this year's University Lecture Series, according to R. H. Ernst, professor of English, who is chairman of the University Lectures Committee.

Dull is considered an authority on the Far East and has been studying the subject since 1933. He visited China in 1938.

Dull received his doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Washington in 1940 and then attended the Harvard-Yen Ching

"Pinky," a first-run motion picture starring Jeanne Crain, Ethel Barrymore, Bill Lundigan, and Ethel Waters, will follow the Oregon rally. The 85-cent ticket price will admit Webfoot rooters to both rally program and movie.

Living organization representatives are now selling tickets. The Paramount Theater will refund the 20 per cent only on tickets sold on the campus.

HOUSES COMPETE

Highest percentage of rally tickets sold will win the members of some campus living organization free passes to a Paramount show during some later week.

All living organizations which have not chosen ticket salesmen are requested by sales chairman Jerry Kinnersley to do so and contact him at Phi Kappa Psi by 5 p.m. today.

Entertainment chairman Gay Baldwin yesterday revealed more of his list of top campus talent scheduled to appear at the rally.

"I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles," a pop style, will be the contribution of Dick Barber and Jack Dalk.

HILLBILLIES PERFORM

Bob Chambers and Kay Keller, roundly applauded at the combination Millrace-Idaho game rally, will present a hillbilly routine.

A new Kappa Kappa Gamma song and dance routine will be presented by Georgie Balaam, Mary Dunson, Joanne Gary, Betty and Marilyn Hillman, Barbara Needham, Emily West, and Eva Moore.

Working out a "Hellzapoppin" act are Bob Nelson, Bill Lance, Bill Harber, and Rod Bright.

The Delta Delta Delta and Kappa Sigma quartets will join forces in "Coney Island Baby," and sing other numbers separately.
