planatory. Did it burn? That's bad, probably the beginning of an ulcer. Try milk in large quantities, straight, and quit smoking. If you have a strong fluttery feeling complete with butterflies and bats you were in a bad way and it's too bad Mom cooked little pig sausages and waffles cause you're not hungry. By the way, how did you explain your lack of appetite on mornings like that?

Nerves are next, assuming that you have nerves this morning. What shape were they in? Well, what woke you up? Was it that no-good cat stomping his feet on the Persian rug next door? Maybe it was Pop rustling the paper?

You, know as well as I do that nobody drinks too much so let's try and uncover the real reason for all this agony. Was it bad liquor? Somebody slipped you a mickey. "I got in a hurry." "I didn't stick to one thing." "Smoked too much." "It's the mixer." And a million others.

Of course nobody is going to do it again but if you had a penny for every aspirin consumed in Portland Sunday would you care to meet me somewhere in Frisco next Saturday night?

GE to Sponsor Science Awards

Students may apply now for science and industry fellowships sponsored by the General Electric Company.

The fellowships, worth an annual maximum of $1,500, commemorate Charles A. Coffin and Gerard Swope, past company presidents.

January 1, 1950 is the deadline for the applications which have been distributed to deans and professors of engineering, science, chemistry, metallurgy, and mechanical and aeronautical engineering, and to placement officers.

Applications also may be secured from A. D. Marshall, secretary, General Electric Educational Fund, Schenectady, N. Y.

Awards will go to graduates of any institution who need financial aid and who have demonstrated that they can do outstanding research in schools either in the United States or abroad.

Cykler Gives Music Talk

Dr. E. A. Cykler, associate professor of musicology, spoke on music in European universities at a program last night sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia. Also on the program at the YMCA was "Wings of Song" by Mendelssohn played by Dick McClintic, Lyle Gardner, and Gene Slayter.

Bids to Open Soon For Heating Plant

Bids will be opened tomorrow in Portland for construction of the new University heating plant according to I. I. Wright, superintendent of the physical plant.

The new plant will be located across the highway near the University warehouse.

Association Names Harr as Speaker

Dr. Frank Harr, professor of health education, will speak at the state meeting of the Oregon State Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation, Dec. 9 at Bend, according to Harris W. Olson, chairman of the association's health section.

Spanish Movie Set For Guild Theatre

"Reina Santa," a Spanish historical film dealing with the fifteenth century, will be shown Nov. 15, in Guild Theater, Johnson Hall.

The story concerns Saint Isabel, a princess of Portugal who became queen of Spain as the wife of Juan II, and her struggle to end the civil war between her son and husband.

Directed by Rafael Gil, the picture stars Maruchi Fresno as the queen, Antonio Vilar as king, and Fernando Rey as the son.

Admission charge will be 35 cents.

Phi Beta Prepares Formal Initiation

Phi Beta, woman's national music and speech honorary, will initiate three students at a formal ceremony to be held at 7 tonight in the home of Velma Snellstrom.

Carol Ann Cleaver, Leona Anderson, and Suzie Michel, are the initiates.

Two graduates, Genevieve Baker and Shirley Pape, will be initiated into the alumnae chapter at the same meeting.

Corps Prepares League Dance

The annual Marine Corps Dance, open to the public, will be staged at 8:30 p.m., Nov. 10, in the Veteran's Memorial Building.

The dance is sponsored by the Marine Corps League in affiliation with the Marine Reserve. A local band will provide music while free beverages and refreshments will be served.

"Uniform for the day" will be suits and short silks.

Tickets are $2 per couple and will be sold at the door.

"My Gawd! What an arm!"

Monegan Goes To LA for Meet

W. V. Monegan, associate professor of business administration, traveled to Los Angeles last week to attend the annual American Institute of Accountants. The institute was held from Oct. 31 to Nov. 3 in the Biltmore Hotel.

Accountants from all parts of the United States and several foreign countries were present, offering an excellent opportunity to keep in touch with world-wide trends and developments in the field of accounting, Monegan said.

Topics discussed by institute speakers included current tax problems, settlement procedures, and the inter-relationship of economy, government, and accounting.

Monegan joined the University staff in September. He was formerly with an accounting firm.

Student Union Opening Nears

"We're doing our best to get the Student Union Building ready for opening on March 1," Dick Williams, Student Union director, stated this week. "Many factors are slowing construction, but we hope to be ready on schedule."

Complete recreational facilities, snack bar, and a barber shop will be housed in the basement of the new Erb Memorial Union.

Eight bowling alleys, ten billiard tables, and seven ping pong tables are planned. A retail sales counter will rent and sell bowling balls, shoes, and other equipment.

Standard Eugene rate of 30 cents per line will be charged for SU bowling, and classes in this sport will be opened by the School of Physical Education.

Playing fee for each billiard table will be 75 cents per hour and table tennis, 25 cents. A centrally-located desk will control charges for all games by stamping time cards for each student before and after he plays.

The coke bar will sell candy bars, sandwiches, cigarettes, and other commodities. Opening and closing hours of the recreation room will be determined by student demand and enthusiasm.

A complete four-chair barber shop, under the direction of Leo Deffenbacher, manager of the Campus Barber Shop, will be provided.

Gifts Needed By Students Overseas

By Gretchen Grondahl
Christmas cheer for their families abroad cannot be supplied from the scholarship funds of Oregon foreign students.

In order that these students may be able to send gifts to relatives in their home countries this Christmas, the YWCA International Affairs committee has begun a drive for items which the students have listed as wanted abroad.

Deadline for donations is Nov. 15.

Boxes for collections will be placed at the campus YWCA and at the Community Center downtown. Living organizations or individuals who wish to be responsible for certain items may contact Delores Jeppesen after 5 p.m. or Pat Williams Brooks at the Y to make arrangements.

Named by foreign students as presents which their families would like to receive are nylons, soap, canned fruits, rice, chocolate, coffee and tea, baby clothes, bath towels, raisins, sweaters, flower bulbs, scarves, and sheets.

One student requested a trench coat; others list galoshes, shoes, socks, women's underclothing, tablecloths, yard goods, canned meat, nuts, peanut butter, shortening, gum, dolls, canned and powdered milk and eggs.

Foreign students may still turn in gift lists to Foreign Student Adviser J. D. Kline in Emerald Hall.
