

Barbecue Plans Set By Brown

An innovation in Homecoming festivities, an all-University and alumni barbecue, will be held on Nov. 19.

Ron Brown, barbecue chairman, has set 11:30 a.m. as the hour for serving to begin. "We will continue to serve until everyone is taken care of," Brown stated.

Six serving tables will be set up at McArthur Court, with "eating space" available in the court. H. P. Barnhart, foods director for University dormitories, is in charge of catering. The meal will cost one dollar per plate.

Alumni who plan to attend the barbecue may obtain reservations through Old Oregon. A number of such reservations have already been received by Brown's committee.

Assisting Brown are Betty Boner and Don Paillette. There are also two volunteer committees, which will be in charge of serving and clean-up. Brown has asked for ten more members for the volunteer committees. Interested persons are requested to contact him at Campbell Club.

Johnson Heads Conclave Panel

ASUO President Art Johnson will lead a Student-Faculty Relations discussion group as part of the Oregon Federation of Collegiate Leaders convention.

Delegates from thirteen Oregon colleges are expected to attend this conclave to be held on the Willamette University campus Thursday through Saturday nights. A number of speakers, including Governor Douglas McKay, are scheduled to present addresses and discussions.

Also on the roster are several social occasions including attendance at the Whitman-Willamette football game and a dance Saturday night at several fraternity chapter houses on the campus.

Frosh Scheduled to Paint 'O'; Damaged Corner Must Wait

By Marjory Bush

The "O" on Skinner's Butte will be restored to its rightful yellow hue for Homecoming, but it may have to remain with a chipped lower right-hand corner for a longer time.

That seems to be the consensus of opinion of Student Body President Art Johnson and Homecoming Chairman Willie Dodds.

"There are no definite plans yet," Johnson said Wednesday, "but as soon as the financial problem is settled, action to repair the 'O' will be taken."

Dynamited Sunday at 5 a.m., the "O" suffered only a nicked corner and several cracks. Its rock foundation and thick concrete, which has withstood the attacks of weather and worse enemies since 1908,

Cal-Bound Rooters Must Have Cards

All persons attending the California-Oregon game this Saturday must present their athletic activity cards, as well as the student tickets they have purchased for the game, when they enter the gate.

No student tickets will be sold at the gate.

Students who have tickets to the game Saturday who may not use them may contact the athletic ticket office, Howard Lemons, athletic business manager said yesterday.

Students who do not have tickets in the Oregon rooting section, but who desire them, may also contact the office to see if any have been turned in.

Students Attend Honorary Meet

Four men students will represent the University at a sectional conference of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, held Friday, Saturday, and Sunday at the University of Washington in Seattle.

Students attending are Brian Graves, Sherman Holmes, Gale Sheldon, and John Musgrove.

Delegates from all northwest chapters of the service fraternity will be present for the conference.

Dean Arno Nowotny, national president of Alpha Phi Omega, will be honored guest at the conference. Joseph Scanlon will act as official representative of the National Executive Board.

Speaker for the meeting's opening dinner on Friday will be Dr. Raymond B. Allen, president of the University of Washington. Nowotny will give an address at president's dinner on Saturday.

Delegates will be lodged in fraternity houses and dormitories during the three-day conference.

proved too strong for the invaders, presumed to be Oregon State College students.

As it now is, the Homecoming tradition of freshmen serving as human paint brushes for the 50-foot block letter should not be hampered, Dodds stated.

Virgil S. Fogdall, director of men's affairs, reported that Dan Poling, dean of men at Oregon State, was ready to take appropriate disciplinary measures if necessary.

"I hope that Oregon students realize that somebody lost their head and went completely out-of-line in trying to show school spirit," Fogdall stated. He added that he was pleased with the Oregon students' reaction to the damaging of the "O."

Civic Music Concert Brings Welsh Baritone To Mac Court Stage

Thomas L. Thomas

Thomas L. Thomas Scheduled In Tonight's Concert Program

Welsh, Continental, and American music will comprise the concert program of Thomas L. Thomas, baritone, appearing tonight at McArthur Court. Doors will open at 7:30, the concert beginning at 8 p.m.

Students will be admitted to the concert upon presentation of student body cash register receipts. Athletic cards will not be valid for admittance.

Thomas is the second artist in the 1949-1950 Eugene and University Civic Music Association series. Accompanied at the piano by Jacob Hannemann, he will sing a program of five parts, including one section devoted entirely to songs of his native Wales.

Hannemann will perform individually at the piano during the first half of the program.

Baritone Thomas is well known to the American radio audience as singing star of such programs as "Manhattan Merry-go-Round," the Firestone Program, "The Family Hour," the "Chicago Theater of the Air," and "Carnegie Hall."

He has also gained eminence as a guest artist appearing with some of the nation's leading orchestras, including the Indianapolis, N.B.C., and Detroit Symphonies, and the New York Philharmonic.

Thomas, the son of a coal-miner, was born in Maesteg, Wales. When he was eleven, his family moved to Scranton, Pennsylvania. Later he entered the engineering field, and from there made a difficult detour into music. His affinity for Welsh songs is evident in tonight's program.

Flashcards Sure For Big Game

Flashcard stunts for the Homecoming game Nov. 19 are a certainty, chairman Jerry Kinersly stated Wednesday.

Although the receipts from last week's Paramount Theater rally must go to Seattle for auditing before an estimate of Oregon's cut can be made, enough money will be available to buy a number of cards. These will be added to the group of old cards found on the campus from previous stunts.

A section of 475 white-shirted, rooters'-lidded men will perform the stunts at halftime of the Oregon-Oregon State game.

Participation will be on a volunteer basis, with all campus living organizations to be contacted for recruits. The excellent seating, a section just south of the Oregon band to be reserved until 1:30 p.m., is expected to draw many volunteers.

Four stunts will be presented, Kinersly stated. Individual direction cards will be given to each participant. No practice will be required.

Flashboard manipulators will be given special seating tickets to admit them to the section.

Dating Boom Seen; 'Guides' on Presses

Pigger's Guides, student directories, are now being printed. Tentative plans call for distribution Nov. 16, Dorothy Orr, editor, announced.

Layout of the Guides will be identical to those last year, with the addition of emergency telephone numbers in the information section.

The University Press has finished printing the covers, and is now working on the center section.

College Story Contest Open

A College Writers' Short Story contest with a first prize of $500 has been announced by Tomorrow Magazine. Second prize is $300 and third prize is $200.

Anyone taking any college work may enter the contest. Manuscripts must not exceed 5000 words, but there is no limit on the number of entries that may be submitted, it was announced.

Judging will be done by editors of Tomorrow and of Creative Age Press. Entries should be marked "College Contest" and bear the writer's name, home address, and address of the college he is attending. Each entry should be accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

All manuscripts received will be considered for publication, and if used will be paid for at Tomorrow's regular rates.

WAA Fun Fest Friday Night

Fun Night, the last one this term, will start at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Gerlinger Hall.

Students wishing to square dance in stocking feet, swim, or play ping pong, badminton, or volleyball should enter through the Gerlinger side doors.

No admission will be charged at the no-date affair. Refreshments will be sold.

Louise Henderson, graduate assistant in physical education will call square dances. Records will furnish the music.

This is the second and last Fun Night this term. The first, a "great success," was Oct. 19. They are sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association, and are under the co-direction of Janet Frye and Joan Carr.

Few Vets Return Unused Books

A small number of veterans returned books and supplies to the Co-op Wednesday under the new Veterans Administration ruling, G. L. Henson, Co-op manager, reported Wednesday afternoon.

The ruling requires all veterans who have either dropped courses or withdrawn from school this term to return to the Co-op all books and supplies secured for courses they will not complete.

"There have been a few complaints from veterans on the ruling," Henson said. The Veterans Administration and the University would like to have supplies returned as soon as possible.

Reports from the registrar's office indicate that the list of veterans affected by the ruling this term will be quite extensive. It will probably not be completed until the end of the week.

Books returned to the Co-op will be placed in a separate section reserved for government property, and will be reissued only to veterans.
