

Upjohn Exhibit Set for Gallery

Paintings of the Upjohn collection of contemporary art are being prepared for display Sunday in the Art School exhibition gallery.

The exhibit will continue until Nov. 26, when the collection will be sent to Montana State College in Bozeman.

The collection, representing the work of 28 contemporary American artists, dramatizes health problems that face people in daily life. The collection is titled "Your Doctor Speaks."

Each painting will illustrate a message on the prevention and control of specific illnesses, summing up the latest advances in medical treatment of each illness.

The Midtown Galleries handles the yearly exhibition tour for the Upjohn Company, leading manufacturers of pharmaceuticals.

College Leaders To Hear Russell

Dr. John Dale Russell, director of the Division of Higher Education in the United States Office of Education, will be guest leader of a conference of presidents and executive officers of Oregon universities and colleges on the campus Nov. 16.

This is the second annual Oregon Conference on Higher Education. The first was organized by the University of Oregon last year. Every institution of higher education in Oregon will be represented. Sessions this year will be held in the Browsing Room of the Library.

Dr. Russell will speak on "A National Scholarship Program," and "Problems of Accreditation at the College and University Level." Following morning and afternoon talks, Oregon educators will participate in panel discussions.

Harry K. Newburn, University of Oregon president, will open the conference and present a summary at its close. Rex Putnam, state superintendent of public instruction, will be present and will take part in an afternoon panel discussion.

Morse to Talk On Congress

Senator Wayne Morse (R., Ore.) will present a discussion of the 81st Congress at the Chamber of Commerce noon luncheon today in the Persian Room of the Eugene Hotel.

The address has been publicized as an informal "down to earth" story of some of the major issues that came before the 81st Congress. A capacity crowd is expected.

Morse, whose home is in Eugene, arrived on the University of Oregon campus in 1929, serving as assistant professor of law until the following year when he became associate professor.

He served in that capacity until 1931, when he was appointed dean of the School of Law, a position he held until his election to the Senate in 1944.

During the Roosevelt administration, he was called upon in numerous instances to serve on labor arbitration boards and to conduct studies of penal institution administration.

Morse is the author of "A Survey of the Grand Jury System," and co-authored "The Administration of Criminal Justice in Oregon," and "Attorney General's Survey of Release Procedures," besides contributing to many law reviews and periodicals.

AWS Prexy Picks Charity Party Heads

Eleanor Johns, junior in liberal arts, has been named chairman of the annual Associated Women Students Charity Party, AWS President Marie Lombard announced Thursday.

This year's party, designed to collect and distribute Christmas boxes to needy Eugene families, is scheduled for Dec. 3.

Marilyn Thompson will chairman the collections committee; Dolores Jeppesen will head distribution; Elizabeth Waddell, program; Barbara Jeremiah, publicity; Betty Jones, decorations; and Arden Hebb, food.

Carson Housemother Slips, Breaks Ankle

Mrs. Edna Stokes, housemother at Carson Hall, suffered a broken ankle Wednesday night when she slipped on a step near the library.

Mrs. Stokes has been at Hendricks Hall since then, but will return to Carson today.

A small bone in her right ankle was broken, and she will use crutches for six to eight weeks. Her foot was placed in a cast at Sacred Heart Hospital.

No Council Meeting

No Executive Council meeting will be held Monday, Art Johnson, president, said yesterday. Several representatives will not have returned from an Intercollegiate Conference at Willamette University in Salem, or the California game.

Wesley Sets Open House

Wesley Foundation will hold open house at 8 p.m. tonight. Students may dance, sing, play ping pong, and other table games.

An old-fashioned "Box Social" will take place at the house Saturday evening. Students will square dance and play folk games.
