

Water Pageant Tickets on Sale Starting Today

Tickets for the Amphibian water ballet, "Western Melodies," are being sold today and tomorrow in the Co-op and by members, for 50 cents.

The pageant will be presented in three acts Wednesday and Thursday nights at 8 p.m. in the men's pool, Thirteenth and University.

PROGRAM

The program, according to general chairman, Joan Carr, will include water ballets by members and pledges of the swimming honorary, and diving exhibitions by Jim Stanley, Northern Division diving champion, and Pat Neilson, sophomore in health and physical education.

Included in the first act, "Pitching Hay," are "Jamboree" and "Down at the Barn" by Barbara Ebeling, and "Cowboy Waltz" by Joan Skordahl.

Act two, "Hickory Hat Days," will include "Cool Water" and a sextet by Joanne Gilmore, and "Donkey Quartet" by Pat Honl.

"ON THE TRAIL"

The third act, "On the Trail" by Miss Carr, will include "The Whistlers," "Trail Blazers," and the finale.

The Amphibian show has been an annual affair since 1943, when it was held in the Millrace. It was held in the women's pool until three years ago when, to accommodate spectators, the scene was changed to the men's pool and two performances were given.

The show is being directed by Miss Jeannette Masionis of the physical education department, and is sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association.

Justice Will Out; Koke-Chapman Lose In Millrace Fiasco

By Bill Stanfield

He who laughs last, laughs loudest, and the last twist of the cat's tail gives the loudest howl, as Cervantes' lovable character Sancho Panza would say.

Last year, a local business concern, the Koke-Chapman company, began filling in the lower end of Eugene's historic millrace in preparation for construction of a service station.

Indignant University students threw a futile road barricade in protest over the proposed defamiation of the colorful stream site and prevented trucks from dumping loads of dirt into the stream bed.

But Eugene-style justice won and the millrace was filled in. Not all was lost, however, as a culvert was laid under the fill to allow water to flow through when the millrace should be filled again.

With its tongue in its cheek, the Eugene Zoning Committee recently refused to allow the Koke-Chapman company to build a service station at the site of the fill.

Hello Girl, Miss Hospitality Titles Of Hostess for Past Homecomings

Homecoming Hostess Marguerite Johns is the seventh Oregon co-ed to rule over Homecoming festivities.

Hope Hughes, who held the position in 1941, was the first hostess, and was officially known as "Hello Girl." She was one of eleven senior girls who petitioned for the honor and was selected from four finalists by members of the football team.

She was an attractive dark-haired girl chosen because she best "typified the friendly Oregon spirit."

Frosh Beware! Lest You Disobey Old Traditions

Due to the "staggering" number of violators apprehended on Monday, the Order of the O has given one day of grace, Monday, and will observe traditions starting today and continuing throughout the week, stated Bob Don, chairman of traditions, Monday.

Traditions are:

1. Class pants for underclassmen—freshmen may wear anything but cords and jeans; sophomores may wear anything but cords.
2. No smoking on old campus.
3. No walking on grass anywhere on the campus.
4. "Hello" on "Hello Walk" between Villard and Fenton Halls.
5. Freshman girls wear green ribbons in their hair.
6. Freshman men wear green and yellow rooters' lids.

In view of this delay, the dunking and hacking will start at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday on the stairs of Fenton Hall. All violators should appear at that time or face the consequences of being "hunted down" at the game Saturday.

Oregon State Asks For Physical Ed Major in Corvallis

Oregon State alumni presented an appeal to the State Board of Higher Education Friday and Saturday in Portland to add a physical education major to the OSC curriculum.

The brief will come before the regular curriculum meeting of the board in January, President Edgar W. Smith said. It asks that a physical education major under the education department be introduced in the graduate as well as undergraduate level.

Proponents of the idea state that no new money, nor staff, nor even new degree will be involved in granting the major. They emphasize that under the present system, OSC athletes are handicapped when they seek jobs because they lack the technicality of a major in physical education, which is given at the University of Oregon.

R. W. Leighton, dean of the school of Health and Physical Education here, declined Monday to make a statement on the effect such a change in the OSC curriculum would have on the University.

'One Touch of Tomorrow' Homecoming Dance Theme

Will Osborne Scheduled for Homecoming

It's Will Osborne and his orchestra for the Homecoming Dance. Short silks will be the dress for the Saturday evening affair; McArthur Court the place; and $2.40 a couple the admission price.

Osborne, who played at the 1948 Junior Prom, is a Canadian by birth. He studied at St. Andrews College in Toronto, and also in London and Paris.

He is noted for smooth, rhythmic music. The "Slide Music" of his group is the earmark of the leader and vocalist.

The composer of such numbers as "Pompton Turnpike" and "Between 18th and 19th on Chestnut Street," Osborne records for Decca, Columbia, and Victor.

The band has appeared over the Pebecco Toothpaste, Fitch Bandwagon, and Abbott and Costello radio shows. Motion picture credits range from Warner Brothers' "Blues in the Night" to Paramount's "In Society."

Holding a record of playing more college proms than any other orchestra, Osborne has also had the all time attendance record at the Palomar Ballroom in Los Angeles. Previous engagements have been Hotels New Yorker and Pennsylvania, Edgewater Beach Hotel, State and Chicago Theaters, and Aragon and Trianon Ballrooms.

Puddles Shuffles Between Phi Sigs

It looked like a game of "now you see him, now you don't" for awhile Saturday, but Puddles, Oregon's webfooted mascot, is now safe at home in Eugene.

Overwhelmed by a human flood of California students after Saturday's game at Berkeley, Puddles was borne away by triumphant Golden Bears. The Oregon mascot ended up at the Cal Phi Sigma Kappa chapter house.

Infiltrating among the ranks of their southern fraternity brothers, Oregon Phi Sigs retrieved the duck, only to have it restolen by the stubborn Californians.

Puddles was again imprisoned in the Phi Sig house, where preparations were under way for a house dance that night. Finally the mascot was placed on the fraternity house roof.

Dim moonlight early Sunday morning revealed four Oregon Phi Sigs—Delbert Fennel, Dean Merton, Bob Huey, and Bob Hubert—storming the roof, at 2 a.m., they recaptured Puddles, whisked her to their awaiting limousine, and took off for Eugene.

So Puddles is back, little the worse for wear but taking a rest cure to prepare himself for the OSC game this Saturday.

Weather . . .

Partly cloudy weather is predicted for today and Wednesday by the weather bureau. Fog will roll in during nights.

To Play Dance

WILL OSBORNE, whose band will play Saturday night at McArthur Court for "One Touch of Tomorrow," Homecoming dance.

Futuristic Motif Plus Black Light Slated Saturday

"One Touch of Tomorrow" will be the theme of this year's Homecoming Dance, Jerry Smith, chairman, has announced. Mac Court will be dressed in black and white with black lights playing on designs for the futuristic theme.

The dance will begin at 9 p.m. Saturday. Short silks for women and suits for men are in order.

PRICE $2.40

Tickets for the dance will be sold by representatives in men's living organizations and in the Co-op this week. Admission price is $2.40 a couple including tax. Ann Darby, ticket chairman, has asked that Skull and Dagger members and dormitory representatives pick up their tickets at the Pi Beta Phi house today.

Programs will be handed out at the door, but Georgie Oberteuffer, program chairman, requests everyone to come early because only a thousand are being printed.

Students are also asked not to sit in patrons' places during the dance.

DECORATIONS

Decorations committee members, working under chairman Betty Wright, are Joan Skordahl, Gretty Grese, John Otto, Joan Cartozian, Sally Pitman, Kathy Fletcher, and Marian Christenson.

U.O., OSC Men To Meet Tonight

Student and faculty representatives from the University of Oregon and Oregon State College will meet at 6:30 tonight in the Corvallis Hotel to discuss phases of relationship between the two schools.

Particular attention will be given to means of protecting band instruments from both schools when bands are playing at the other's field, stated Vergil S. Fogdall, University director of men's affairs.

Attending from Oregon will be Fogdall; Art Johnson, ASUO president; Jim Bartelt, Order of the O president; J. H. Stehn, associate professor of music; and Don Smith, Emerald editor.

Oregon State representatives include Dan Posing, dean of men; R. B. Walls, head of the music department; Theodore Mesang, instructor in music; Jim Hankers, ASOSC president; Rudy Ruppe, Orange O president; and Jim Barratt, Barometer editor.

Dinner will be served first, with the discussion to follow.

Buttons Feature Fierce Webfoot

"Beat the Beavers!"

Probably it will never be known if that's what the duck on the Homecoming buttons is saying.

But it's for sure the Duck looks mad enough to chew Oregon Staters.

The Homecoming buttons, lemon and green in color, are now being sold at the Co-op and in the living organizations by members of Kwama, sophomore women's service honorary. They cost 10 cents.

They've come a long way from St. Louis, too—they're made by the St. Louis Button Co.

Sales will continue through Friday according to Chairman Cal Smith.

Flashcard Section To Get Game Seats

Seats between the 40 and 50 yard lines will be roped off Saturday for members of the flashcard section, chairman Jerry Kinersly announced Monday.

Twelve volunteers from each men's living organization will be seated in the section. Kinersly requested presidents of men's dormitories, fraternities, co-ops, and Yeomen to turn in their groups' list of volunteers to him tonight at Phi Kappa Psi between 7 and 10 p.m.

Seats in the flashcard section will be saved until 1 p.m. Saturday. All participants will wear white shirts and rooters' lids. Direction sheets will be issued to each man and will be tucked under the collar of the man in the row ahead. Kinersly said.

Yellow, green, orange, black, and red cards will be used.

Guides Out Today

The 1949-50 edition of the Pigger's Guide, student directory, will be distributed today and tomorrow at McArthur Court by members of Phi Theta Upsilon and Kwama, women's service honoraries.
