myself, and everyone should have their own interpretation." You will probably end up with your own interpretation, all right—a highly original one, at that.

To add to all these sorrows, this is the time of year when your old drinking buddies turn to coffee and milk; when your girl disappears deep into the library, never to be heard of again; when people go quietly mad and begin chewing on the living-room rug.

For this is the time of the year when the body withers, the mind grows dim, and the soul cries out: If finals come, can death be far behind? Next week we will talk about indigestion or something a little more pleasant.

Vet's Dorm Cars Cal Professor to Give Need Stickers Lecture at Goethe Fete

Parking in Vets' Dorm lots by non-residents will be curbed through use of parking stickers and patrolling of the lots, it was decided at a recent meeting of the Council of Men's Dormitory Presidents.

Parking stickers will be issued to car owners in the dorms by house presidents. Men from the halls will check the lots each night. Cases of persistent violators will be turned over to the Office of Student Affairs. Guest stickers will be issued to visitors for use while they are in the dorms.

The council also named a committee to confer with Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, director of dormitories, concerning a blanket fire insurance policy for personal belongings of Vets' Dorm residents, a protection which saved dorm residents at Washington State College much money in a dorm fire there this fall.

Hans Wolff, professor of German at the University of California, will speak at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Music School Auditorium in a program honoring the bicentennial of Goethe's birth.

Mr. Wolff will repeat an address he gave at the University of California for a similar program. His speech here is part of the University Lecture Series.

The Goethe program will be given in conjunction with the School of Music.

Three groups of music will be presented. Herman Gelhausen, associate professor of voice, accompanied by Stacey Green, assistant professor of piano, will sing "Calm at Sea" by Franz Schubert, "Wanderer's Night Song" by Hugo Wolf, and "To Father Chronos" by Schubert.

Florence Vanderwicken, assistant professor of voice, accompanied by Wade Parks, instructor of piano, will sing "The Violet" by Mozart, "Delight of Sorrow" by Beethoven, "Who Never Ate His Bread With Tears" by Schubert, and "Restless Love" by Schubert.

The cathedral scene from the Oratorio "Faust" by Robert Schumann will be sung by Miss Vanderwicken and Gelhausen with the University Singers and the University Orchestra.

Mr. Wolff is the son of Max Wolff, great German Shakespearean scholar, Prof. R. H. Ernst, chairman of the University Lectures Committee, pointed out.

He has written a number of books about rationalism, Mr. Ernst said. One of his books is titled "Goethe's Path Toward Humanism."

Mr. Wolff has taught at Brown University, in Texas, and the University of California.

Grapes of Wrath To Show Tonight News Analyst Swing Claims U.S. May Lose European Power

"Grapes of Wrath," a movie starring Henry Fonda, will be shown at 7 and 9 p.m. tonight in 207 Chapman. The story, based upon the novel by John Steinbeck, involves the life and hardships of a migratory-worker family in California in the Dust Bowl days of the middle 1930's.

A short subject will be shown along with the main feature.

Everyone is invited to attend the movies which are sponsored by the Student Union.

Autumn approaches the year's little breathing spell between the hay fever and the cold.

The American public is showing such disinterest in United States dealings in Europe that this country will eventually concede its European power.

American people feel that they are not seeing enough results from American money now being spent in Europe, Raymond Swing, news analyst and journalist, explained at an informal discussion yesterday afternoon in the Faculty Club. He also spoke last night at Eugene High School.

Questioned and heard by a small group of faculty members and students, Swing recently returned from a five-month trip to Europe. Swing expressed a pessimistic outlook on today's international situation.

"Marshall Plan money, on the whole, has been spent well," he said. "But it will not bring a sufficient dollar balance to Europe by 1952."

Germany has increased its war potential, the U. S. is not strengthened by such movement, and the American public is becoming isolated by indifference. "It's enough to scare the life out of you," he stated.

A nationalist Germany will be in German interests, he felt. To think it will be subjugated to American interests he termed "self kidding."

On the Russian situation, he believed "we're just as much under a threat of the atom bomb as the Russians—or will be in two years. We must enormously increase our standing military power."

"You have to fall back on the power technique if you've got nothing else," he felt. "And we have nothing else."

Also needed is a genuine effort on both sides to settle the issues of the cold war.

"No one will win any war to be fought in the future," he declared. He expressed favor toward a limited federal world government which would include no sovereign powers. Differences would be settled by arbitrations and by police courts.

This would be one way to help regain the moral leadership which the U. S. has been losing since 1946, he claimed.

U.O. to Observe Ad Week Jan. 8

"Advertising Recognition Week" will be held at the University from Jan. 8 to 14, R. D. Millican, professor of advertising, disclosed Tuesday.

The week is being sponsored throughout 11 Western states by the Advertising Association of the West. It affords clubs and other media the opportunity to present to the public the advantages of advertising.

Alpha Delta Sigma, men's advertising fraternity, and Gamma Alpha Chi, women's advertising fraternity, will participate in the program at the University.

Committees are being formed at the present time, and tentative plans call for speakers, posters, editorials, and news stories heading up the value and potency of advertising.

Cavallero Band Show Booked At Park Dec. 7 Women to Petition For Carnival Jobs

Carmen Cavallero, who will appear at Willamette Park Dec. 7, owes his rapid rise to fame in part to the immediate popularity of his first recordings.

The pianist is a member of the Decca "Million Club" which means that his top recordings have sold over one million copies. Bing Crosby, Perry Como, and the Ink Spots are other members of the club.

Cavallero introduced the now popular "Warsaw Concerto" to this country. He lists "Voodoo Moon" and Chopin's "Polonaise" as favorites among his recordings.

His appearance is being sponsored by the Eugene Exchange Club, which was responsible for bringing Tex Beneke to the Park last month. Late permission of 1 a.m. was granted students by the Student Affairs Office for the event.

Women students may petition this week for chairmanships of the annual Carnival sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association, and held winter term.

Any WAA member is eligible to become general co-chairman or head of decorations, finance, food, booths, properties, tickets, clean-up or promotion and publicity.

Petitions may be turned in to President Bonnie Gienger at Hendricks Hall, or Vice-President Joan Carr at the Pi Beta Phi house.

SU to Show 1948 Football Highlights

Movies showing highlights of the Oregon Webfoot's 1948 football season will be shown Thursday at 7 p.m. in 207 Chapman Hall.

The program will include shots of last year's contest with Michigan.

Sponsored by the Student Union, the films are free to students and faculty members. Students must present registration cards.

A second showing, immediately following the first will be held if there is sufficient demand.

It may be more than a coincidence that the arch criminal seldom is caught flatfooted.
