Cavallero to Entertain Next Wednesday at Park

Carmen Cavallero and his Orchestra will appear in Eugene on Dec. 7, at Willamette Park.

Known the country over as the "Poet of the Piano," Cavallero received the title from fellow musicians after a columnist described his "poetic" piano interpretations.

Cavallero's first movie appearance was as featured artist in "Hollywood Canteen." He has since appeared in "Diamond Horseshoe," "Out of This World," and "The Time, the Place, and the Girl."

Besides his regular personal appearance tours, Cavallero and his orchestra have appeared often at many well known theaters and hotels throughout the nation.

He has made radio appearances as guest star and starred on his own program for the Sheaffer Pen Company.

On each musical session which Carmen Cavallero plays, there is a portion called "Album Time" in which he features his piano and a medley of songs from his record albums.

His Eugene program will include one hour of concert and three hours of dance music.

'Senior Six' Gives Recipe for Success

By MARJORIE BUSH

Find your interest and capacity in the right combination of studying and activities for success in college.

That is the opinion of the "Senior Six," who will be initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, national liberal arts honorary, at 4 p. m. today in Gerlinger Hall.

These outstanding seniors, chosen for diversified interests as well as scholarship, are Jack Lawson, English major; Eugene Maier, mathematics; Joan Minnaugh, English; Stanley Pierson, history; Eleanor Ribbans, sociology; and James A. Sanders, history.

Registration Steps End Today at 5

Today at 5 p.m. is the deadline for securing advisers' program approval and enrolling in courses with departments in winter term advance registration.

Registration material won't be issued after 5 today. All but 500 sets of material have been secured by students, according to information released Thursday afternoon by Registrar Clifford L. Constance.

Remaining registration steps, with the exception of the Student Affairs check, may be completed through Dec. 10 and on Jan. 3. Students not completing the Student Affairs check by Dec. 10 will be assessed the full late fee of $5 on Jan. 3. Thursday night about 1800 students had completed this step.

Students failing to complete the final two steps, checking with the registrar and paying fees, on Jan. 3 will be charged a late fee of $1 a day to a maximum of $5.

Dads' Day Head Applications Due

Deadline for petitions for general chairmanship of Dads' Day, Jan. 28, has been extended to 5 p.m. today.

Applications, completely filled out, may be turned in to the ASUO office, Emerald Hall.

Petitioners will be interviewed by the Executive Council at its next meeting Monday, Dec. 5.

For the secret of success in studying the Senior Six advised: Keep up with studying during the term, proportion time wisely to different classes, and use time to good advantage.

LAWSON TO TEACH

Lawson, the only married member of the "Senior Six," believes that "detailed notes religiously studied and memorized are the best means of review." He is planning to take work in California, possibly at Stanford, for his master's degree, with his goal college teaching.

Miss Minnaugh, now business manager of the Emerald and a member of Mortar Board, proves that grades and activities can be combined.

ACTIVITIES TOO

"The more I try to do the more I get done," she said. "People should have activities, studying, and fun."

Last year she won the Winship-Pegg plaque for outstanding work on the Emerald.

Another of the "Senior Six" with a bent toward business is James Sanders, 1950 Oregon business manager, and last year's advertising manager.

For next summer he is planning a three-months bicycle trip in Europe on a Youth Hostel tour, and will do government work in Washington, D.C. on returning. He believes activities in college are practical and give valuable experience.

Dean Backs Decisions Of Advisers

Dean R. W. Leighton of the School of Health and Physical Education Thursday criticized five girls who were dissatisfied with recommendations by their advisers to change their majors for not bringing their complaints to him.

The two advisers of all women with a major or minor in PE, Myrtle S. Spande and Marjorie Murray, have been asked to evaluate students carefully and tell them "if we thought they'd be better off in another field," Leighton stated.

"Our judgment concerning the success of a person in PE does not mean he cannot change to another field, he added.

Leighton said that both advisers have excellent records. Both are new at the University this year.

Students claimed they had been told to discontinue courses in the school because of "improper professional attitudes."

All five felt they had not been given satisfactory reasons for being advised to leave the school.

One student accused of disloyalty asked for a definition of her disloyalty. She was told she did not talk to her instructors frequently enough.

Leighton believed that "the whole thing started when the girls were told at a meeting Oct. 27 they could not waive chemistry and physics requirements of the school, as far as I know."

The girls, when questioned, refuted this. They claimed they were willing to follow the school requirements after the Oct. 27 discussion. Their complaint is in not being told satisfactorily why they would not succeed in their chosen field.

WAA Carnival Heads

Liz Erlandson and Kathy Littlefield will head the Women's Athletic Association Carnival winter term. They were selected last night following a WAA initiation of 54 girls.

AWS Charity Party to Bring Cheer To 22 Needy Families Saturday

"Mommy, why doesn't Santa Claus come to our house?"

In the homes of 22 needy Eugene and Springfield families, that question will not be asked this year.

In those homes on Christmas day there will be a box for the women students of the University to remind those children that even though he doesn't come in a sleigh with 12 reindeer, there is a little of Santa Claus in everyone's heart.

The boxes of food and toys collected in each women's living organization will be on display at the Associated Women Students' Charity Party from 3 to 5 p.m.

Theater to Present Formal Opening

Formal opening of the new University Theater and the opening performance of Maxwell Anderson's "Winterset" will be held at 8 tonight, under the direction of Horace W. Robinson.

Gordon Erickson as Mio and Barbara Pasquan as Miriamne play the leading roles. Terrance Roseen plays Trock, the gangster; Paul Wexler is Rabbi Esdras, and Richard Walker plays his son, Garth. Cliff James is Judge Gaunt, Richard Bentz plays Carr, and Fred Schneider is Shadow.

Tonight's production will be number 300 for the University

IFC Criticizes Emerald Policy

Objections to the manner in which the Emerald is handling the deferred living situation were raised at the Inter-Fraternity Council meeting last night.

The student newspaper recently has followed a policy of advocating immediate action on deferred rushing as well as deferred living, which goes into effect fall term of 1950.

The council voted to write a letter to the Emerald, stating the fraternity position.

Fred Van Horn, IFC president, pointed out that the council has many details to work out in regard to deferred living and rushing, and doesn't want to act in haste.

One council member asked what right one man, meaning Emerald Editor Don Smith, had to step into the situation and make it "ten times worse than it actually is."

Objections were also raised to the over balance of power against the fraternities on the nine-man committee set up by ASUO president Art Johnson to study the deferred living plan.

The committee is composed of three persons representing independent living groups, and three persons representing Greeks, in addition to Johnson, Smith, and Anita Holmes, junior representative on the executive council.

Smith and Miss Holmes were singled out by the council as having no business being on the committee, that they only over balanced independent representation.

Committee to Study 'Living In' Today

Meeting of the nine-student committee to study "living in," scheduled for last night, was postponed to 4 p.m. today because of a conflicting Inter-Fraternity Council meeting.

The meeting will be held in the ASUO office, Emerald Hall.

Theater. The new theater is the second campus structure to be built especially for the performance of plays. Guild Theater in Johnson Hall was opened in 1915.

Robinson calls the new theater, "The best academic theater in the United States devoted to play production."

MODERN BUILDING

The building is modern in style and has modern furnishings. The auditorium is said to be built for comfort as well as appearance.

"Winterset" is considered a very difficult play to produce. Two settings are called for. One is a large exterior and the other is an interior which is built on wheels for rapid shifting. The production uses a wide range of lighting and sound effects.

27 PLAYERS

The cast is made up of 27 players, and technical matters are handled by a large crew of stage hands, property managers, sound and light technicians.

Grace Hoffman is assistant director and William E. Schlosser is technical director and scene designer. Larry Barsness is assistant technical director, Howard Zimmerman is stage manager, and Robert Morton is electrician.

Joan Landman is wardrobe and property manager and John Lehman handles the sound effects. Dale Thorsted, Terrance Roseen, and Warren Holbrook assist the scene designer.

TICKETS AVAILABLE

Tickets for the play, which will be shown Dec. 2, 3, 4, 7, 8, 9, and 10, may be purchased at the box office in the lobby of the theater. Season tickets will also be on sale through Dec. 10.

Ken Olson is ticket manager for all University Theater productions this year.

will be given by Joyce Sommerlade.

On Sunday the packages will be taken to 13 families in Eugene and Springfield and 9 families in outlying areas. The number of children in these families ranges from two to six. Their names were obtained from Lane County Relief.

Ellie Johns is general chairman of the Charity Party. Committee chairmen are: Marilyn Thompson, collections; Betty Jones, decorations; Dolores Jeppesen, distribution; Elizabeth Waddle, entertainment; Arden Hebb, food; Barbara Clerin, invitations; and Barbara Jeremiah, publicity.
