

Ducks Riddled by Iowa

the speed and accuracy showed by the Iowans. Hawkeye Guard Bob Clifton hit 5 of his 6 attempted field goals.

Oregon's shooting was comparatively mediocre and the Ducks were decidedly outrun on the floor. The absence of Sowers in this game was more notable than in any other during the trip.

Warren's cagers had their closest scrape with victory in the second Iowa game when they went into an overtime before dropping the contest, 70-69. At the end of the regular playing period the score was knotted at 60-60.

Oregon led at half-time in this game by a 33-29 score, and was ahead in the last two minutes by a 60-57 count before the Hawkeyes began their final blast of scoring.

TKE Receives National Awards

The University of Oregon chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity was recently awarded the "Outstanding Chapter of the Year" plaque by the national offices of that fraternity.

Beta Kappa chapter was given the award for the academic year 1948-1949. The plaque was presented to the local chapter by field director Ralph Frickenstein.

A similar award is made each year by the fraternity national, based on scholarship, activities, and house efficiency. Beta Kappa chapter also currently holds Tau Kappa Epsilon's scholarship supremacy plaque, which goes each year to the highest scholastically of the fraternity's 79 chapters.

Junior Writes, Designs Book About College Life

Vic Flack, a junior majoring in drawing and painting, has authored "I Just Had to Before I Was 20," a book of 23 poems, three short prose works, and three radio monologues. They're available at the co-op for $1 a copy.

Flack, who designed the cover himself, stated that the material might be tagged as largely representing college life out of class.

Of the book, Flack said, "Since the subject matter of the book is usually unpretending, I think there are things in it that would have popular appeal. But for those who will know, the material at its worst naturally lapses into juven-ilia, marked, as juvenilia usually is, by a 'sentimentalodrama' sort of thing.

"I've been told that it was 'pretty direct' and that it had a 'shrewd naivete'—whatever that is—but most important to me was the remark that it showed a development in physical structure. My personal favorites are poems 9, 12, 13, 14, and 17 and possibly the last three."

Flack, who has had a poem accepted for the Annual Anthology of College Poetry, last year published an unusual dedication to the Erb Memorial Union.

New Men's Co-op Started on Campus

Philadelphia House, a new men's cooperative living organization, has been established on the Oregon campus.

The house, located on Alder Street near the Millrace, was formerly occupied by the Pi Kappa Phi men's fraternity. The co-op is interdenominational.

Jim Cummings, sophomore in architecture and allied arts, is president. Other officers are Price Roop, senior in chemistry, vice-president and business manager; Jim Hunt, senior in architecture and allied arts, secretary; Evan Skersies, senior in business, treasurer; Bill Portis, senior in business, sergeant at arms; and Dick Pearson, senior in architecture and allied arts, chaplain.
