

YWCA Begins Drive For New Members In Service Activities

A new membership drive for the YWCA Service Committee begins today.

Interest in recreation, social work, office work, or "just kids" is the only requirement for membership in the Service Committee, co-chairman Beverly Buckley asserted Monday.

Petitions for committee work may be turned in to Miss Buckley at Delta Delta Delta by noon Thursday. Suggestions for widening the committee's present scope of service were requested by the chairman.

MEETING SET THURSDAY

A general meeting of the committee is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Present projects of the group include Saturday morning programs at the recreation center downtown. Games, singing, movies, and a radio broadcast "Sing Song Time" are supervised by members.

Students interested in the performance or leadership of dancing, piano playing, drama, or turabbling are needed, Miss Buckley stated. Advisers for junior and senior high councils for weekend dances are also wanted.

PROGRAM FOR DELINQUENTS

Social work opportunities include the Big Sister program for juvenile delinquents.

"If you have a soft spot in your heart for children, we specialize in giving parties for the boys and girls at the Alice Marie Foster Home," Miss Buckley continued.

Present plans call for putting into effect a program of individual counseling by which each child at the Home will be under the particular supervision of one girl who takes an interest in the child as an individual.

MANY POSTS OPEN

Study time plus experience in meeting and dealing with people is offered by the job of Y office hostess, also under the service committee.

"These and many other positions are open," Miss Buckley concluded. "We will try to work in all interested petitioners."

Vice-president Of WAA Quits; Leaves Oregon

Joan Carr, vice-president of the Women's Athletic Association, is leaving today for Santa Barbara, Calif., where she will enter the University of California Santa Barbara College.

No one will be appointed to take the position left vacant by Miss Carr's resignation since elections are scheduled in the near future.

As vice-president, Miss Carr was in charge of the freshman orientation program and all initiations. She was also president of Amphibians, swimming honorary.

She was a junior in Architecture and Allied Arts.

Graduates to Apply For Record Exams

Students planning to take the graduate record examination are required to apply by Jan. 15, the University Counseling Center reported Monday.

Applications may be obtained from the counseling office in 213, Emerald Hall.

Journal Club In Third Year

The Journal Club of the Foreign Language Department was organized three years ago for the purpose of "raising the intellectual temperature on the campus a degree or two," in the words of its founder, Chandler B. Beall, professor of romance languages.

It is designed to give faculty, interested students, and outside people opportunity to bring each other up to date in the fields of scholarship and creative work—"a project in mutual education," explained Beall.

In its first year on the campus, a few surveys were conducted on different periods, movements, authors, and fields of scholarship.

Last year the club sponsored a series of lectures and demonstrations devoted to the study of Baroque style in French and Spanish literature, the arts, and music.

This year's series of meetings is to be devoted to the artistic styles and vocabularies of the Twentieth Century, in order to make students more aware of the age in which they are living.

Although the Journal Club originated in the foreign language department, it is campus-wide in scope.

'Challenge of Teaching' Interests Busy Professor

By JACKIE PRITZEN

Would she enter it or would she teach it?

It was always business, Miss Jessie Smith, attractive assistant professor of business administration, said, but whether to teach or to enter the field was another problem.

Miss Smith came to the University as an instructor in 1942, from the office of the chancellor of Oregon's state system of higher education. Gaining her master's degree in 1946, she became an assistant professor, and began work for her doctorate.

As a major factor in her choice of education, Miss Smith points out an interest in the development of the individual.

"I admire the inquiring mind of the student, and believe in the encouragement of the student's abilities."

Evidence of this attitude is the amount of individual counseling which is included in her daily activities, and her advisory work in Phi Chi Theta, women's business honorary.

On leave of absence, Miss Smith attended Columbia University last year, working toward a doctorate degree in business education.

A study of New York secondary schools revealed many weaknesses in the preparation of high school students for later work or study in business, she explained.

"These weaknesses may be eliminated largely through better preparation of business teachers in secondary schools—the ultimate goal in the field of business education."

Toward this objective, Miss Smith pointed out the co-operation of the University schools of business and education to promote an enriched program of teacher training in business.

"The improvement of teacher-training techniques is always a challenge to education," she added.

But the challenge of teaching is not new to Miss Smith, who began tutoring other students before she entered high school.

Clubs Arrange Film Showing At Mayflower

Four silent films dealing with surrealism and experimentalism, sponsored by the Foreign Movie Club and the Journal Club, will be presented at 3:30 p.m., Thursday, in the Mayflower Theater.

R. L. Picard, assistant professor of romance languages, and president of the Foreign Movie Club, will introduce the hour and a half program. The pictures will not begin until approximately 4 p.m.

The films are "Rhythmus" by Hans Richter; "Ballet Mecanique," a cubist film by Fernand Leger; "Symphonie Diagonale" by Viking Eggeling; and "Entr'acte" by Rene Clair and Francis Picabia.

"Symphonie Diagonale" is an experiment made in an attempt to discover the basic principles of the organization of time intervals in the film medium.

Tickets may be obtained for 25 cents at the door, or from club members.

An orchestra leader says the concertina is the greatest of all musical instruments. It's all according to how you look at it.
