

Houses With Largest Attendance of Dads To Receive Trophies

Three trophies will go to living organizations with the highest percentages of dads registering for Dads' Day Jan. 28, Herb Nill, awards chairman has announced.

New this year will be the first place trophy presented by J. C. F. Merrifield of Portland. It replaces the award won for the third consecutive year in 1949 by the Delta Delta Delta sorority

Szigeti Recital Still Indefinite

T. M. Alexander, president of the Eugene and University Civic Music Association, expressed hope yesterday that the recital of violinist Joseph Szigeti can be held here in the near future.

Szigeti's recital, originally scheduled last Sunday, was postponed when the artist's train was delayed by the weather.

"We talked to Szigeti when he was through here," Alexander explained (the violinist went through Eugene late Sunday night), "and there is a possibility that he will appear here later. Of course, he has to get in touch with his management. Right now we're waiting for word from their Chicago offices."

Alexander said a replacement would be made if Szigeti does not return to Eugene. "We haven't given Szigeti up yet, but if he can't come, we will schedule another artist, of course.

"I don't know just who the replacement would be—until we get a definite answer from Szigeti's agents we won't start looking around for someone else."

Tri Delts, SAE Take Top Places In 1950 'Letter-to-Dad' Contest

Delta Delta Delta sorority and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity won Thursday's "Letter to Dad" contest, Promotion Chairman Roger Nudd revealed.

Second places in men's and women's competition went to Sigma Hall and Delta Zeta. Awards of two record albums, donated by the Radio Laboratory, will be presented to the first-place winners at halftime of the Oregon-Washington game Jan. 28.

Prizes of a single record will be awarded to second place winners Sigma Hall and Delta Zeta. These records were donated by the Appliance Center.

Dads' Day Chairman Gerry Smith commended the participants for their interest, but added, "Sending out the clipped letter from the Emerald is not enough to convince every Oregon Dad to attend the weekend festivities."

Smith urged students to write personal letters of invitation to their dads, and especially re-

Light Rains Forecast By Weather Bureau

Eugene's recent cold spell has apparently ended, according to weather forecasters, and light rains are predicted for today.

The only serious damage attributed to the severe weather was caused by three trees uprooted Friday on the old campus, said I. I. Wright, superintendent of the Physical Plant.

Almost all campus sidewalks were cleaned Thursday by a small grader attached to a tractor. Physical Plant clean-up crews had previously shoveled the top layers of snow from the walks but were unable to use the blade because of ice.

which now goes to them permanently.

SECOND PRIZE

Second prize in the attendance contest is the Paul T. Shaw trophy. The O. L. Laurgaard trophy will be awarded to the living organization with the highest percentage of freshmen's dads registering. Tri-Delts also won this trophy last year.

The awards, based upon registration figures up to 5 p.m. Jan. 28, will be given at the Oregon-Washington basketball game in McArthur Court Saturday night.

REGISTER SOON

Eleanor Johns, registration chairman, urges dads to register as soon as they get to Eugene. Otherwise their attendance will not count in deciding the awards. Money from registration dues will go into scholarships. Last year it was given to the student union.

Tickets to Saturday night's basketball game will be available at the registration points. Kwama, sophomore women's service honorary, will handle the booths.

WHERE AND WHEN

Registration booths and hours on Dads' Day will be:
9-5—Johnson Hall
9-12—Osburn Hotel
9-5—Eugene Hotel
12-1—John Straub

Hostess Contest Closes Monday

There is still time for all students' wives to enter the Dads' Day hostess contest.

Deadline for pictures to be turned in at the Emerald quonset has been extended till 3:30 p.m. Monday, Dick Lee, special events chairman announced yesterday, due to the limited number of entries by Thursday afternoon.

Black and white pictures, identified by name, address, and phone, are the only requirements.

All wives of students are eligible for the contest this year, and not only veterans' wives as in the past.

Judging for the three finalists will take place Monday. Dads will elect the hostess when registering Saturday, Jan. 28. The hostess will be introduced at half-time of the Oregon-Washington game Saturday.

No Emerald Monday

No Emeralds will be published next Monday. But a 16-page edition will be distributed the following Saturday, in honor of Dads' Day, Don Smith, editor, announced.

Ducks Set for Husky Series

The University of Oregon Webfoots, set for a two-game basketball series with the league-leading Washington Huskies this weekend, arrived in Seattle yesterday afternoon in time for a workout in spacious Edmundson Pavilion.

A 12-man Oregon traveling squad left Eugene by bus yesterday at 7 a.m. The Ducks changed to train at Portland for the remainder of their trip.

Eugene radio KERG will broadcast the contests tonight and Saturday night, starting at 8 p.m.

Guard Dale Warberg, still bothered by a painful leg muscle, made the trip, but Warren doesn't think the veteran will start. The Duck coach is still looking for a suitable replacement, and may alternate several men in the vacant spot.

Four Duck regulars are ready to see full duty. Forwards Paul Sowers and Will Urban, Jim Vranizan at center, and Guard Mel Krause are certain starters. Mel Streeter will play at center, while Paul Cooper, Bob Lavey, Jack Keller, Ken Hunt, John Neely and Hal Webb are available for reserve action.

Art McLarney's Huskies, tabbed as underdogs in pre-season forecasts, rest in first place in division standings, with three wins and one loss. Washington has beaten Idaho twice, and divided a series with the WSC Cougars.

Oregon has a two and one record, with a split Washington State series and a loss to Oregon State.

Two fast, high-scoring guards have paced the Husky attack so far this season. Louie Soriano and Frank Guisness lead their team in scoring, with 167 and 146 points in 15 games.

Center Duane Enochs, from Portland's Jefferson High, stands fourth in the scoring column, but has the best shot percentage, a .352 average. Forwards LaDon Henson and Hal Arnason round out McLarney's probable starting lineup. Russ Parthemer and Keith Jefferson will see plenty of reserve duty.

See the sports page for further details.

Senior Ball Saturday Night; Semi-Formal Dress Retained

SKITCH HENDERSON brings his famous band to McArthur Court Saturday when he performs at the Senior Ball. Skitch Henderson records will be played today in the Co-op.

Henderson to Play For Dance at 8:45

Intermission entertainment at the Senior Ball Saturday will feature a medley by the Kappa Sig Quartet, a "Musical Midget" act by Margaret Jarvis and Twila Kevin, and an interview with orchestra leader Skitch Henderson. ASUO President Art Johnson will announce acts.

Short silks for women and suits for men will be worn at the "Golden Anniversary Ball," to be held from 8:45 p.m. to 12:45. Flowers will not be in order. Tickets may be purchased at $2.40 per couple in the Co-op, men's living organiza-

Still Semi-Formal

The Senior Ball definitely will be semi-formal Saturday, Senior Class officers disclosed Thursday night. Numerous protests throughout the campus had raised the possibility of switching back to formal attire. Flowers will not be in order.

Slushy weather conditions were given as the reason for the change. It was felt that formal attire in such weather would be inadvisable.

The switch also was a precaution against the possibility that Skitch Henderson might not make an appearance due to poor road conditions. However, it has since been learned that Henderson is scheduled to perform in Portland Friday. Thus, nothing should preclude his appearance here Saturday, according to Senior Class President Bob Weber.

After weighing all factors, the Senior Class officers felt that semi-formal dress was justified.

Conditions, and at the dance. Samples of Skitch Henderson style will be heard at the Co-op today. His records will be played from 15 minutes to the hour to 15 minutes after, according to Promotion Chairman Marguerite Johns.

"Skitch is a terrific player and the dance should be very successful. Considering the weather, I think street dress is far more practical than formals," said Miss Johns. She predicted "a huge turnout."

Only 600 programs have been printed, the dance committee

IFC Continues Talks With Dorms

Interdorm Council Discusses Pledging

Continued mediation with the Interdormitory Council on matters concerning rushing regulations for deferred living was authorized by the Interfraternity Council Thursday night.

The group retabled a motion brought over from last week's meeting to go on record in favor of immediate rushing and pledging next year in hope that a compromise favorable to all interested groups could be worked out.

Other business at the IFC meeting included the presentation of the Karl Onthank cup to Phi Gamma Delta for having the pledge class, numbering more than 12, with the highest GPA last term.

Discussion of the implications of deferred pledging in the event it is made a campus policy dominated the Interdormitory Council meeting Thursday night.

No official action was taken. The IDC still supports deferred pledging.

In other business discussed, it was decided to invite women to attend dance classes free. Tuesday's opening turnout included 40 men and 3 women.

Petition Deadline Today

Deadline for petitions for sophomore traffic court member is 5 p.m. today in the ASUO office, Emerald Hall.
