

Hot Husky Hooper

RUSS PARTHEMER, whom Webfoot fans will see Friday and Saturday nights when the Ducks take on the University of Washington in McArthur Court before a Dads' Day crowd. In the Washington offense, Parthemer plays down in the left-hand corner and drives in for occasional shots. He also plays close for rebounds on both offense and defense.

Frosh Battle Redmond High School, Vanport in Weekend Preliminaries

The talented Oregon Frosh have another tough pair of games scheduled for McArthur Court this Friday and Saturday nights as preliminaries to the Oregon-Washington Northern Division games. Both of the Duckling encounters will get underway at 6:15 p.m.

Redmond for Friday

Friday night Coach Don Kirsch sends his charges against Redmond high school and Saturday evening Vanport J. C. makes its second trip of the season to McArthur Court. In the first Vanport game the Ducklings rallied late in the game to defeat the Vikings, 50-44.

The Ducklings now have a record of nine games won and one lost. The Oregon State Rooks throttled the Oregon scoring punch at Corvallis Saturday evening to hand the Ducklings their first defeat of the season.

Coach Kirsch will use the same lineup against the weekend opponents as opened against the Rooks. Curt Barclay, back after a week-long layoff with a bad ankle, and Chet Noe will be at forward, Henry Bonneman at center and Clarence Schmer and Chet Covey at guard.

Huskies Scheduled for Igloo; Dads' Day Crowd to Watch

Kappa Sigs, DUs, Sherry Win IM Tilts

Wednesday's Schedule
Basketball "A"
3:50 Gamma vs Stan Ray
4:35 Pi Kappa Phi vs Beta Theta Pi
5:15 Hunter vs Stitzer

By PETE CORNACCHIA
Three thrillers and three run aways were staged Tuesday night in another found of intramural "A" basketball action. Kappa Sigma, Delta Upsilon and Sherry Ross won the thrillers and Sigma Nu, Alpha, and Merrick did the running away. Chi Psi took all three matches from Alpha in handball action.

Kappa Sigs Win
Archie Gacek's fielder with seconds to go gave the Kappa Sigs a 20-18 win over the Sammies in one of the better ball games of the season. The contest provided better basketball than McArthur Court has seen on several occasions this year.

The winners held a narrow 10-8 lead at the half and increased it to 15-10 at the end of the third quarter. The Sammies never gave up and finally knotted the count at 18-18 with less than two minutes to go. Then came Gacek's game-winner.

Ross Gets Tricky
Art Ross, Kappa Sig guard, earned a roar from the big crowd lining the walls with a pretty exhibition in the first half. The speedster bounced the ball between the legs of a Sammie, picked it up behind the defender without breaking his dribble, and drove on in for a lay-in. Gacek shared scoring honors with teammate Clausen by grabbing seven points. Mink, Ginzberg, and Artzt each got four for the losers.

DU Overcomes Lead
The DUs came from behind in the second half to drop the SAEs, 20-16, in another close one. Paced by Bud Helm, the SAEs rolled to a 11-5 halftime advantage and seemed to be on the way.

Delta Upsilon found the range in the third quarter, however, and moved into a 17-13 lead on the final turn. The teams exchanged baskets graveyard any night. The Sigma Oregon's Ducks have the job this weekend of stopping the University of Washington Huskies before a Dads' Day crowd in McArthur Court.

Coach John Warren thinks he has the answer for the question, "How to stop Washington?"

On defense, the Webfoots will have to hang onto guards Louie Soriano and Frank Guisness.

Oregon Must Work Outside
On offense, Oregon will have to be able to make their points, or at least start their point-making plays, from outside the keyhole.

Washington's defense, Warren said Monday after his observations of last weekend in Seattle, collapses to the center of the keyhole when the ball is put therein.

Last week, Warren put Dale Warberg, his fast-pivoting forward, in front of the hoop in the key hole. After the game Friday night, Warberg's forearms and hands were so bruised that it was painful for him to move them.

Guisness and Soriano Tough
Ken suffered two sprained fingers in that first fray, said Warren. Everytime the ball was thrown into Warberg or Vranizan, four, and sometimes five, Washington men would pounce on it, and the Oregon man who was trying to do anything with it.

As for Oregon's defense this coming weekend, Warren said, it will be simply a matter of trying to stop Soriano and Guisness, because all the Husky scoring punch is located in those two men and the plays they start.

Soriano is a dead shot from any Nu defense was tighter than a Re-Both teams were guilty of more bad passes than you could find in the for the remainder of the contest. Pope and Schmieling contributed six points apiece to the winning effort, and Karnofski got the same for the losers.

Sherry Ross Rolls
Sherry Ross punted and passed to a 12-11 victory over Cherney in the final close game of the night. Halftime count was 5-4 for the losers, with most of the action in mid-field. Sybouts, Meade, and Anthony claimed equal shares in the Sherry Ross total, but Agee of the losers took scoring honors with five.

Sigma Nus Victors
Sigma Nu rolled over Phi Gamma Delta, 12-4, allowing their victims only one field goal in the process. publican on Saturday night, and was largely responsible for 9-0 halftime lead held by the winners. McBee and Salters each claimed four place on the floor, Warren stated.

Guisness' Shot Like Vranizan's
Guisness is no slouch at hitting the hemp from the floor, but his specialty shot really takes place after he fakes his opposition out of position and drives down along the right side to lay the ball up in an underhand fashion.

This shot, Warren described, is somewhat like Oregon Center Jim Vranizan's pet shot from under the basket, except that Guisness tries it after leaving the floor about five feet out from the hoop.

Tall Men Don't Score
The Washington tall men, said Warren, aren't too dangerous as point-getters except when they grab rebounds. LaDon Henson is capable of a fairly accurate shot from the right-hand corner, but he spends more time screening for Guisness when the latter drives in for his jump shot.

Duane Enochs, sophomore center, has one chief occupation during the game, Warren declared Monday. That is screening for the guards, usually Soriano. Enochs will occasionally attempt a shot, but did little shooting last weekend.

Cooper Shows Defense
Russ Parthemer, the other regular forward, generally plays in the left-hand corner when the regular Art McClarney offense is in progress. He is expected to garner his share of rebounds this weekend.

In Seattle, Warren said, good defensive work was put in Saturday night by Jack Keller and Paul Cooper. Keller was effective in hanging onto Guisness and Cooper bothered Enochs considerably.

points, and Waddle was responsible for the one Fiji bucket.

Alpha Hall Scores
Alpha moved on from a 9-0 halftime edge to wallop Sigma, 22-8. Shepherd turned in a good nine-point performance for the victors. Mocabee potted the evening's conventional four points for Sigma.

Bill Foreman copped all scoring honors for the night in leading Merrick to 29-5 rout of Sederstrom. Harold Smith was right behind with nine. It was 20-3 at halftime. Sederstrom was another club that managed only one field goal for the night's work.

"It's no use, Mary, he's been like that since he discovered there's NO CIGARETTE HANGOVER when you smoke Philip Morris."

You don't have to smoke like a chimney to discover that PHILIP MORRIS are milder, kinder to your throat. Here's why: PHILIP MORRIS is the one cigarette proved definitely less irritating, definitely milder, than any other leading brand.

NO OTHER CIGARETTE CAN MAKE THAT STATEMENT!

Nation's Basketball Ratings Given

By MARTIN MEADOWS
The Holy Cross Crusaders, undefeated in 14 starts this season, are the new leaders in this week's basketball ratings. They replaced Long Island U. by smashing previously unbeaten Providence, 84-56.

Despite the fact that no less than ten of the first 20 squads were beaten in a series of stunning upsets, the top ten clubs remained intact, although several changes were made.

Long Island Second
Long Island, after dropping a close 55-52 decision to North Carolina State, came back to swamp Fort Monmouth, 82-55, but still skidded to second.

Duquesne followed in the number three slot. The Dukes are the only other major team without a loss on their record; they have won 14 games. Fourth spot was held by St. John's which lost to DePaul, 74-68, and trounced Kings Point, 85-47.

One of the week's major shockers was engineered by Detroit, which blasted Bradley U., 67-54, after losing to the same team earlier in the week, 71-50. The split tumbled Bradley to fifth.

The number six squad was idle CCNY (9-2), which moved up past Kentucky. The latter dropped to seventh as the result of a 71-60 defeat to Georgia, although they racked up wins over Georgia Tech and DePaul.

NCS Up To Eighth
North Carolina State was elevated to eighth after picking up victories over Long Island and North Carolina to give them a record of 11 wins and three losses.

The Indiana Hoosiers, conquerors of Butler, 57-49, and Purdue, 49-39, were lodged in the number nine position, while Kansas State remained tenth by rolling up a 99-57 triumph over Iowa State.

Other surprises saw Illinois whip Ohio State, Alabama edge Tulane, and Iowa State bounce Missouri.

This week will see several important contests, the outcome of which should have a direct bearing on the national hoop picture. These include Bradley-St. Louis, Colorado-Kansas State, Minnesota-Ohio State, North Carolina State-Louisville, San Francisco-USC, Kentucky-Notre Dame, and CCNY-Muhlenberg.

The Ratings
Here are the ratings, including Saturday's games:

1. Holy Cross (14-0)
2. Long Island (13-2)
3. Duquesne (14-0)
4. St. John's (15-2)
5. Bradley (15-2)
6. CCNY (9-2)
7. Kentucky (11-3)
8. North Carolina State (11-3)
9. Indiana (12-2)
10. Kansas State (12-3)
11. La Salle (11-2)
12. Ohio State (9-3)
13. Louisville (16-3)
14. Wisconsin (10-3)
15. Western Kentucky (12-4)
16. UCLA (11-4)
