

McKay, Newburn Main Speakers For Dads' Day Luncheon Saturday

Three Prizes To Be Given

Living organizations with the greatest percentage of fathers registering for Dads' Day will receive three trophies during half-time of the Oregon-Washington game Saturday night, Herb Nill, awards chairman has announced.

Going to first-place winner will be the J. C. F. Merrifield trophy, replacing the A. W. Norblad award, which is now the permanent possession of Delta Delta Delta, after three successive wins.

The Paul T. Shaw coffee set will be presented to the house with the second highest total. The third prize, given by O. L. Laurgaard, is for the house with the highest percentage of freshman dads coming.

Dads are urged to register as early as possible at the four registration booths, which will be handled by Kwama members. Times and places are Johnson Hall, 9 to 5; Osburn Hotel, 9-11 a.m.; Eugene Hotel, 9-5; and John Straub Hall, 11-1:30.

Voting for hostess candidates will be done at the registration points and basketball tickets for Saturday's game may be bought there.

Registration fee is $1. This year's collections will be used for scholarships.

Welcoming Program For Dads Outlined

Downtown Hospitality Chairman Dave Palmer's committee is planning a "bang-up welcome" reception for dads who arrive on the Shasta Daylight at 10:10 Saturday morning.

Special taxi service will be donated by students who plan to have from 10 to 15 cars at the depot, Palmer said. Bob Heffernan, freshman in pre-law, is in charge of the service.

Skull and Dagger, sophomore men's service honorary, will supply 12 student "redcaps" to carry luggage at the station.

Dads arriving on the Shasta will get a chance to see their Dads' Day Hostess finalists in person before voting for them at registration booths. Finalists Bobbie Bagley Chambers, Harriet McGill O'Toole, and Joanne Johnson Thompson will join the greeting party at the Southern Pacific depot.

Eugene merchants, particularly those in the campus area, are to be commended for their cooperation in putting up Dads' Day window displays, Palmer stated. Jack Pyle is in charge of merchant contact.

As a sign of welcome, all students on campus will wear lemon-and-green paper ribbons proclaiming "Hi Dad!" Ribbons will be distributed to all living organizations Friday night by Roger Nudd's promotion committee.

The Interdormitory council will meet tonight at 6:30 in the Side.

Negligible damage was reported. Total time spent by firemen at the Infirmary was under nine minutes. Several hundred students lined 13th street as the fire trucks roared past.

The 500 available tickets were reported sold out Wednesday. However, there may be a few more before Saturday if students turn tickets in if their fathers are unable to come. These would be available in Karl Onthank's office, Emerald Hall.

Don't Rejoice Now Says Bill Shirer, Prominent Analyst

Mac Court Lecturer Warns Nazism Rising In Germany; Communists Will Not Retreat

By NORMAN ANDERSON

Reviewing the state of the world since January, 1949, William L. Shirer, noted news analyst informed an audience in McArthur Court last night that the United States has very little grounds for rejoicing.

"We must recognize the fact that the Chinese Communists have conquered China, that they are not going to be driven out of there or anyplace else where they now exist as rulers. We must also realize," Shirer continued, "that Germany is once more a hot bed of rabid Pan-German nationalism, and Nazism is once more on the march."

Policy Shaken

Shirer further declared that the whole structure of American foreign policy has been rudely shaken in this last year by three significant events:

1. The collapse of Nationalist China and the succeeding rise of Communism in that country.
2. The collapse, or near-collapse of "our friends abroad, particularly those in the sterling block."
3. The development of the Russian atomic bomb.

Shirer envisions no real reasons for hopefulness in attempting to bolster Chiang's sagging Nationalists. He supported the decision of the United States State Department in refusing further aid to the Nationalists, declaring that "aid given to Chiang when he controlled most of the Chinese mainland proved useless. There is no reason for supposing that further aid now that the Nationalists are entrenched on the island of Formosa will be any more useful."

Bad Leadership

Shirer denied that America is to blame for the Chinese debacle. He said that "the world's worst leadership, leading to a complete loss of will to fight, combined with disastrous corruption in the armed forces led to the Chinese Nationalist defeats."

"The loss of China," Mr. Shirer continued, "cannot be minimized. It now means a Communist Empire stretching from the Elbe to the Pacific."

Shirer deplored the situation now existing in Germany. He briefly reviewed the occupation of that country and stated that with all the money, time and energy poured into the recovery and rehabilitation of Germany, "the German people remain fundamentally unchanged. They are merely waiting for another Hitler. They are utterly contemptuous of democracy, regretting not that they fought the war, but that they lost the war."

Nazis Take Over

They still believe, Shirer continued, that Nazism is a good thing, but that under Hitler it was just badly carried out. Since the war's end, the Nazis have completely taken over all the lower posts in both eastern and western Germany, Shirer said.

Shirer could give little hope for an immediate reconciliation of the world situation. He cited the Tito revolt in Yugoslavia as one of the more pleasant aspects in the world, pointing out that not since 1917 have the Russians been so worried over the fate of their Communist organization. He went on to declare that the losses suffered by Communism in western Europe will not be regained by Russia. Both Italy and France, said Shirer, owe much of their present position as far as governmental poli-

Delinquency Discussion Scheduled

Robert D. Clark, assistant dean of the College of Liberal Arts, will be moderator at a forum tonight on the topic, "Should Parents Be Responsible for the Delinquencies of Their Children?"

Jack R. Parsons, professor of sociology, will be one of four speakers on the forum, which starts at 8 p.m. at the Congregational Church.

Parsons will speak on "Social Worker's Evaluation of the Eugene Ordinance."

Eugene recently passed an ordinance that would hold parents responsible for delinquent acts of their children. The ordinance has received widespread criticism from social workers and others in the Eugene area.

The forum is a session of the Eugene YMCA "Little Town Hall."

Other speakers on the program are Keith Jones, chief of police, Lewis Sherman, chief juvenile officer for Lane County, and Stanley R. Darling, attorney.

A question and answer period will follow the speeches.
