

Psychology and the Hickory Stick

Education School Trains High School Teachers

Although it appears that women number only about half of the 671 registered in education courses, the opportunities for teachers are very favorable.

It takes 17 hours of education, including six hours of practice teaching, with a bachelors degree to be eligible for a high school position the first year.

Certificate Requirements

An additional nine hour requirement must be met each year then, until the teacher has forty-five hours beyond the bachelors degree. This is the qualification for a five-year teaching certificate.

This year, 342 students from Oregon's education school will enter the field. Mrs. Catherine Lauris, secretary of the education school, stated the minimum wage scale in Oregon has been $2,100 and $2,400 with a bachelors degree and two years experience.

Conditions Improved

"The public is becoming education conscious," Mrs. Lauris said. "Teacher's housing conditions have improved and school systems have modernized for greater enjoyment in the school."

Education advisors suggest that the student prepare himself in two teaching fields. A social studies teacher may have only those classes, but in smaller schools it is often combined with English. Science instructors may also teach math.

Combination Fields

"There were countless combinations of teaching fields," Mrs. Lauris said, "when a survey was taken three years ago. Some seemed completely weird, but small schools need teachers with general knowledge."

"The satisfaction in teaching depends upon the individual," said R. G. Langston, assistant professor of education. "It can and should lead to an enriched and interesting life. If the teacher has the vitality and interest in society and life itself, she will be adding to the community and helping to cast the student's personality for life."

Spinsters Entertain

The Spinsters' Club, composed of 30 University students and alumni, today leaves for Roseburg where it will present a dance for patients in the Veterans Hospital there tonight.

The affair is sponsored in conjunction with the Red Cross unit in Roseburg.

The club is a charity organization made up mainly of students on campus living in Eugene.

Mortar Board To Entertain

Here, from Ackerman to Ziniker, are the potential feminine Einsteins of the freshman class. These women will be guests of Mortar Board at its Smarty Party Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. in Alumni Hall, Geringer.

The following women received 3.00 or higher GPA that qualifies them for attendance at the annual party.

Kathleen Ackerman, Coral Albee, Mary Alice Baker, Norma J. Beetem, Hilda Bernau, Bonnie Birkemeier, Judy Bolender, Marian Briner, Anne Britts, Marian Brown, Connie Butler, Betty Jo Clack, Jacqueline Conrath, Amy Marie Davenport, Mary Dorris, Bobby J. Ellis, Virginia L. Ellis, Elizabeth Erb, Mary Karen Eremeeff, Lorita A. Ewing, Barbara Fulton, Nancy Galbreath, Anne Gentle, Mary Gillham, Francis Gillmore, Beverle Goheen.

Dorothy Grevig, Gretchen Grefe, Janice Hipkoe, Marilyn Holcomb, Shirley Hutchinson, Carol Irvine, Helen Jackson, Joan Jacobs, Vera Jensen, Barbara Jean Johnson, Eleanor Johnston, Helen Jean Jones, Evelyn J. Keefe.

Joanne Kellog, Maxine Krisch, Nancy Jean Lageson, Norma L. Latimer, Jacqueline Lewis, Nancy J. Lumijarvi, Alice M. Maier, Melissa Sue Millan, Elizabeth J. Miller, Betty J. Moshofsky, Norma J. Munie, Maxine Nuttman.

Lois Nathan, Connie Ohlsen, Donna Pastrouich, Vera Paugh, Marigene Pelouze, Carolyn Petersen, Margaret Phelps, Sally Pitman, Joann Quane, Joyce Rathbun, Barbara Beck Rauch, Dorothy Rowe, Lois E. Schmidt, Ernestine Schulenberg, Stephanie Scott.

Janet L. Shaw, Marlee Smith, Lois Ann Sorenson, Maureen Sullivan, Mary Swigart, Sue Teter, Sarah Turnbull, Shirley Vander Ende, Virginia Vincent, Marcille Wallace, Joanne Walker, Patricia Ward.

Jane Wiggen, Ruith Joanne Wilcox, Pat Wasson, Myrna Lou Wormington, May Wong, Sharon Williams, Nancy Ann Yates, Joan Zener, Agatha Ziniker.

Professor Meredith Co-authors Article

Howard V. Meredith, professor of health and physical education, is co-author of a study appearing in the December issue of the American Journal of Orthodontics.

The other author is Gerald P. Larson, practicing orthodontist in Boise, Ida.

The two questions presented in the article were dental treatment and the correction of dental defects.

Mortar Board Meeting

A Mortar Board meeting has been called by president Marjorie Petersen for today. The meeting will be held at the Chi Omega house at 12 noon.

Study Chances Open to Coeds

Numerous study possibilities in other parts of the United States are now open to interested, qualified women students.

For women desiring to prepare for personnel work in schools or social agencies, Mills College, Oakland, Cal., offers five resident fellowships leading to master of arts and master of education degrees. At Mills, students will divide their time equally between studies and personnel work in dormitories.

Personnel Work

Women interested in student personnel administration, counselling, and social work will be granted graduate assistantships in Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y. The course will consist of discussions, field work, lectures, and original research.

Management training fellowships at the graduate level are open in Radcliffe College, Cambridge, Mass. The ten-month program provides basic training in administrative level work for young women.

Studies Based on Law

The Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, Tufts College, Medford, Mass., will award several fellowships leading toward careers in the State Department, diplomatic service, United Nations, and other international work. Studies will be based around international law, politics, economics, and diplomacy.

A western candidate will be awarded a 1950-51 public service fellowship by Barnard College, Columbia University, New York City. Under the award, a student may study for one year in social science at any approved U. S. college or university.

Further information on these and other study opportunities may be obtained through the office of Mrs. Golda P. Wickham, director of women's affairs, in Room 201, Emerald Hall.

Pomeroy Writes Article

An article written by Earl S. Pomeroy, professor of history, entitled "Wisconsin in 1847: Notes of John Q. Roods," was published in the December issue of the Wisconsin Magazine of History.

The Wisconsin Magazine of History is a quarterly published by the State Historical Society of Wisconsin.

OREGON DAILY EMERALD Women's Page

AWS Board Face Coordination Problem In Women's Activities

Greater opportunity and efficiency in women's activities is the goal of the new Associated Women Students Activity Board formed this term with activity chairmen or representatives from each women's living organization.

Efforts of the board are directed toward coordinating women's activities and bringing about better inter-house cooperation, so that participation in extracurricular activities will be based more on personal interests than on organizational "pushing."

Positions Unlimited

The board has accepted the ruling by the AWS Council that no University woman can hold more than one major office at a time, effective with the coming women's elections.

Working in reverse order, the board approved the council's plan for a six-week adjustment period for freshman women.

Three board subcommittees now active are concerned with:

1. Investigating the merits

and workability of an activity point system.

2. Determining the feasibility of starting a file system of women and their activities.

3. Coordinating poster-making, selling and soliciting, and flying speeches, not including YMCA promotion.

Activity points are used in other colleges and universities to encourage wider participation in activities, Anne Case, AWS secretary, explained.

The file system, if put into effect, would be used as a reference in choosing committee workers and honorary members, Miss Case added.

Publicity Organized

Better known is the coordination committee to apportion posters, flying speeches, and selling.

This committee was formed so that when committees need posters made or flying speeches given or tickets sold in the Co-op, chairmen would contact committee

(Please turn to page eight)

ing and Jeannie Davis are wearing ATO pins all the way from the U of W.

Down by the Millrace, Phi Barbara Hawkins and K Sig Bill Bassett have taken the step, as have Corlista Vonderahe and man about the campus Fred Zolezzi.

Three Gamma Phis moved out of circulation when Millie Tyler, Helen Simpson, and Jean St. Onge came home with the pins of Kappa Sig Reg Shirley, Fiji Bill Vannatta, and Sig Bill Colver. Helen and Bill both hail from the Hawaiian Islands.

Oops—some more DU's. What is it, a mass movement? Jim Haycox's pin and Susan Boehlman's Kappa key are side by side, Mel McClean gave his pin to Chi O Phyllis Bladine and over at the Pi Phi house, Mary Margaret Jones, last year's co-Junior Weekend Queen, announced her engagement to DU Warren Lovell, who is in medical school in the east.

Remembering the old adage that "the quickest way to a man's heart is through his stomach" and to prove her domestic ability, Theta Melba Heyser & Friends baked a cake for Hal Torkelson's birthday. Quite a cake it was—complete with pink roses and "Happy Birthday Hal."

Things have really been busy around the Kappa house recently. Harriett Vannatta passed the candy and announced that November is the date that she and Tau Bill

(Please turn to page eight)

YOUR NAME
YOUR PRODUCT
IN THIS SPACE

WILL REACH AN EAGER STUDENT MARKET

Oregon Daily
EMERALD

