

Architecture, Summer Job Discussions Set for Today

Architecture and summer work are the subjects of two talks to be given at 4 and 5 p.m., respectively, today before the University foreign students' orientation class in the men's lounge of Gerlinger Hall.

Sidney W. Little, dean of the School of Architecture and Allied Arts, will talk on various phases of American architecture at 4, while Harry Burks, college secretary for the American Friends Service Committee in Seattle, will deliver the 5 p.m. talk.

Preparation Made

Foreign students have been studying architecture this week as a background for Little's talk. A. M. Vincent, professor of art, spoke at their Monday meeting. They also took a tour through the University art school gallery, where F. H. Heidel, instructor in art, explained modern painting.

Burk's talk will be of interest to both foreign and American students. He will outline opportunities for scholarship appointments to Friends Service summer camps and other projects here and abroad. The scholarships provide maintenance, board, and room for the camps.

Secretary to Appear

The Friends secretary is coming here through the efforts of Jack Merner, executive secretary of the campus YMCA.

Interested foreign students, particularly those who have not formerly attended the orientation meetings, are urged to attend the meetings by James D. Kline, foreign student advisor. Any University students may attend the 5 p.m. meeting.

Press Meeting Set in February

The program for the 31st annual Oregon Press Conference, to be held at the University on Feb. 17 and 18, will emphasize news and editorial problems.

The conference is jointly sponsored by the Oregon Newspaper Publishers Association and the University School of Journalism. Sessions will be held in the new University Theater.

Featured speaker will be a Washington author, reporter, and columnist, Marquis W. Childs. He will discuss news coverage at the nation's capital.

The conference is expected to attract editors and publishers from all over the state.

"We hope that every newspaper in the state will be represented, for we believe there is something of interest to everyone," said Jack Travis, president of the conference.

Several members of the University faculty will speak at the conference.

'F.D.R. Story' To Be Shown

"The Roosevelt Story" will be shown in 207 Chapman at 7 and 9 p.m. tonight.

The United Artists' release won first prize in the 1947 Brussels World Film Festival and is claimed to be "one of the most important films of history" by Cue magazine.

A documentary of Franklin D. Roosevelt's life, the film is made up of actual motion pictures from as early as 1903. The movie starts with the late president's early private life and shows main events up to the time of his death in 1945.

Only University students and faculty will be admitted. Students must present student body cards for admission to the free movie.

Communist China Subject of Debate

The question "Shall We Recognize Communist China?" will be debated at 7:30 tonight in a forum sponsored by the campus Young Progressives organization, in the United Lutheran Church at 11th and Ferry.

Mrs. David Campbell, who has spent a number of years in China in Communist-held territory, will argue for the opposition, while E. C. Robbins, instructor in economics, and J. V. Berreman, professor of sociology, will uphold the affirmative stand. H. N. Wieman, visiting professor of philosophy, will moderate for the group.

The discussion will be open to anyone wishing to attend.

At a meeting of bankers the general opinion was that the future of the U. S. is still rosy. What a whale of a difference a few millions make.

KORE to Air Youth Music

"Symphonies for Youth," a Mutual program originating in Los Angeles, will be heard for the first time in Eugene over KORE Saturday at 4:30 p.m.

The program features the Philharmonic Orchestra with Alfred Wallenstein conducting. Broadcast of the weekly show was encouraged by music education classes of the University, which thought children in this region should have an opportunity to hear the program.

In Los Angeles, 5000 school children attend the broadcast each Saturday.

Asklepiads Meet Today

Asklepiads, pre-medical honorary, will meet at 4 p.m. today in room 103 McClure. All members are asked to attend.

Students Apply For Fee Grants

University students with a 2.5 minimum GPA may now apply for scholarships issued by the State Board of Education for the coming school year.

Each scholarship carries a value of $66 toward annual fees totaling $127.50. Applications will be judged on the basis of financial need as well as scholarship.

Deadline for filing applications is April 1, 1950. Forms may be secured from Mrs. Nancy Harris, scholarships and financial aid secretary, Room 216, Emerald Hall.

Oregon State Licker Comish has finally succeeded in trading off most of its high cost bourbon for new blends but we fail to notice Peruna, Swamp Root or Indian remedy in the deals.

52 Attend School For Oregon Police

Fifty-two city and county police officers attended the second class of the advanced training school in Johnson Hall Tuesday.

Studying the procedure of interviews, the class was directed by Special Agent Max E. Taylor, Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Patrol techniques will be the subject for the next session, scheduled for Friday. The school is sponsored by the Oregon State Sheriffs' Association and the Oregon Association of City Police Officers.

Major Norm Hays, Oklahoma A&M, '40 - Aviation Executive, U.S. Air Force!

A native of Grove, Oklahoma, Norman Hays graduated from Grove High School in 1935. The following year he entered Oklahoma A&M, where he majored in engineering; also took public speaking.

Active in national 4H Club work while in college, he helped organize its statewide activities, won a national 4H championship in Public Speaking. In 1940 he received his BS degree in engineering.

A month later he began navigator training as an Aviation Cadet. In 1941, he received his navigator's wings and a commission as Second Lieutenant . . . married his college sweetheart.

Sent to an RAF Navigation School in Canada, he graduated with the highest possible rating of Specialist. Norman served overseas for 18 months in the Aleutians, Italy and Saipan.

Accepting a regular commission after the war, he was assigned to development of navigation instruments; navigated the B-29 "Pacusan Dreamboat" on its famed Hawaii-Cairo non-stop flight in 1946.

Typical of college graduates who have found their place in the U. S. Air Force, Major Hays is Chief, Navigation Section, at Headquarters in Washington . . . with a secure career . . . a promising future.

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26 1/2, with at least two years of college, consider a flying career as an officer in the U. S. Air Force. You may be able to meet the high physical and moral requirements and be selected for training. If you do not complete Aviation Cadet training, you may return to civilian life or have opportunity to train for an important officer assignment in non-flying fields.

Air Force officer procurement teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain about these career opportunities. Watch for their arrival or get full details at your nearest Air Force Base, local recruiting station, or by writing to the Chief of Staff, U. S.
