

Religious Activities Planned

Initial Dinner Sunday In John Straub Hall; Events End Thursday

A full schedule of activities is planned for Religious Evaluation Week, beginning Sunday, and ending Thursday, Feb. 16.

"First-Hand Religion," theme for the week, will be emphasized upon by Dr. Charles W. Gilkey, nationwide lecturer and principal speaker for the week, in a series of five addresses.

First event of this year's observance will be the Fellowship Dinner, an all-campus affair scheduled for 5:30 p.m. Sunday at John Straub Hall. Speakers will include University President Harry K. Newburn and ASUO Harry Art Johnson. Dr. Gilkey and his wife, a leader in the national YWCA movement, will be introduced.

Music Included

Special music and group singing will be included in the dinner program.

Students, faculty, and town-people will join in a union worship service at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Music Auditorium. Dr. Gilkey will deliver his first address of the series, "How Long Will Cut Flowers Last?" Local clergymen and the Eugene High School A Cappella Choir will participate in the service.

Dr. Gilkey's major lectures will continue throughout the week at 4 p.m. daily. Monday's address, "The Impotence of Second-Hand Religion," will be given in the new University Theater.

His lectures Tuesday through Thursday will be presented in 3 Fenton. Topics will be "Contemporary Religious Illiteracy," Tuesday; "New Grain out of Old," Wednesday; and "The Roots of First-Hand Religion," at the concluding meetings Thursday.

Discussions Limited

Discussion periods after the lectures will be brief, limited to approximately 10 minutes. Student questions on religion, however, will be discussed at an informal "bull session" Monday through Wednesday evening, 7 to 8 p.m. at Westminster House.

Dr. Gilkey will discuss with students questions which they have submitted through boxes to be placed at the lectures and in the Co-op. Questions may also be raised at the discussion meetings.

Morning worship services will be held daily as part of the week-long emphasis on religion. Devotions will be held from 7:30 to 7:50 a.m. in Alumni Hall, Gerlinger, Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday, and in the men's lounge downstairs Wednesday.

Morning Services Set

The morning services will include meditation, hymns, and a 10-minute talk by a local minister.

Pastors participating will be the Rev. Mr. Berlyng Farris of the Methodist Church, Monday; the Rev. Mr. Charles Epple of the United Lutheran Church, Tuesday; the Rev. Mr. Carroll Roberts of the Christian Church, Wednesday; and the Rev. E. S. Bartlam of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Thursday.

Student committee members will lead the devotionals each morning. Chairman Gordon Burtner will take charge on Monday; Jane Simpson, Tuesday; Bob Peterson, Wednesday; and Kenneth Neal, Thursday.

Interviews Available

Personal interviews with Dr. Gilkey during the weekday mornings may be arranged by calling Ben (Please turn to page eight)

Perpetuation Of SU Board Mulled at Meet

The subject of perpetuation—the method by which provision is made for replacing retiring members on the Student Union Board—was still under discussion by the SU Board at Wednesday afternoon's meeting.

Although several suggestions were made and examined by members of the board, the question was referred back to the planning committee headed by Hank Panian.

Ed Peterson, junior in music and board member, was elected to the post of assistant chairman of the group. Peterson will replace Les Jones, chairman, when necessary. He will remain at the head of the orientation committee of the board.

The National Conference of Association of College Unions which will meet in April in Swanscott, Mass., was discussed.

The Oregon Student Union is a member of this group. Possible representation at the meeting was considered.

There was also a final discussion regarding the Kenton concert Monday.

Emerald Shift Promotes Five

Five Emerald staff appointments were recently made by Editor Don Smith.

Lorna Larson was appointed as assistant news editor replacing Mary Ann Delsman, who resigned to work for the University news bureau.

Mary Hall replaces Miss Larson as chief night editor.

Gretchen Grondahl has been appointed feature editor, while Jackie Pritzer has been named desk editor replacing Larry Meiser, who resigned.

Abbott Paine has been promoted to night editor.

Weather . . .

Partly cloudy with scattered showers Thursday.

No Prejudice Here! But Who's to Judge?

Three Eugene judges encountered a real "point of law" last week when they answered an invitation of the Law School to preside over oral arguments.

After the sessions were over the three lawmen returned to their car and found a ticket for parking in a forbidden area.

Since the student court doesn't have jurisdiction over non-students the big question is who will try the judges.

Crown Seekers Battle for Title

By DONNA PASTROVICH and SARAH TURNBULL

It's still a man's world.

At least it will be when one of the six King of Hearts finalists is chosen to reign over the 14th annual Heart Hop tomorrow night.

Competing for the crown will be Leigh Campbell, Alpha Tau Omega; Dave Palmer, Phi Gamma Delta; Bob Wilcox, Phi Gamma Delta; Ron Gillis, Chi Psi; Ray Karnofski, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; and Ed Eveland, Sigma Chi.

Leigh Campbell, a sophomore in liberal arts, came to the University from Eugene High where he played basketball and was president of his senior class. The tall, slender candidate still plays intramural basketball and like to ski and golf. He never gets far from the campus, spending his summers working at his father's service station in Eugene.

Political Future

Another Eugene man, Bob Wilcox, was president of the student body at University High. He turned out for football, basketball, and track during high school and played frosh football for Oregon last year. Bob is in the school of business and plans to go into politics after graduation. The black-haired sophomore is social chairman for the Phi Delt. Summers he works for his father's construction company in Kansas.

Dave Palmer transferred to the University from Oregon State spring term. After a career of activities at Grant High in Portland,

(Please turn to page seven)

U. O. to Be Site For High School IRL Conference

Two hundred delegates from high schools throughout the state will meet on the campus Feb. 23 to 25 for the third annual conference of the Oregon High School International Relations League.

"Will Present U. S. Foreign Policy Promote Peace and Prosperity?" will be the general topic of the conference. Principle speakers will be John F. Gange, director of the Woodrow Wilson School of Foreign Affairs at the University of Virginia, and Grace Bok Holmes, liaison officer for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

Foreign Policy Discussion

The conference will take the form of the United States Senate, with committees discussing eight aspects of U. S. foreign policy.

Topics are: "What are the probabilities and conditions for the success of the Marshall Plan?" "Can the United States and the New China Come to Satisfactory Terms?" "What kind of U. S. tariff policy is best for peace and prosperity?" "Can we solve the German problem?"

"What kind of policy should the U. S. pursue with respect to Yugoslavia?" "Will the North Atlantic Treaty make for peace or war?" "Is U. S.-Latin American Friendship based on opportunism?" "Will the bold new program of economic and technical development areas make for peace and prosperity?"

The conference is under the direction of Dr. Charles P. Schleicher, professor of political science and executive secretary of the International Relations Committee of the Oregon Education Association, which, in conjunction with the University, sponsors the league program. Dr. Schleicher also edited a study guide designed to assist the students in the consideration of the conference subjects.

Members of the campus International Relations Club assisting with the conference are Nancy O'Connor, meals and banquet; Grace Sargent, housing; Claire Cordier and Marilyn Dawley, registration; Sally Waller, program; Antoinette

(Please turn to page eight)

Drama Session Begins

Broadcasters Meet; Building Dedication Set for Weekend

Opening of the Northwest Drama Conference today at 11 a.m. in Villard Hall begins a series of three-day activities which will include the Oregon Broadcasters Association convention and the dedication of new University buildings.

The University today becomes host to prominent theatrical and educational personalities, representatives from Oregon radio stations, and prominent civic, educational, and political figures.

Among prominent personalities attending the three-day series of events will be Gov. Douglas McKay, who will speak Saturday in the lobby of Carson Hall during dedication ceremonies. The governor will also be a guest of the Drama Conference and the Broadcasters Association. He will speak to both groups.

Welcome by Newburn

President Harry K. Newburn will welcome the delegates to the third annual Northwest Drama Conference this afternoon at its opening session. Friday and Saturday the delegates will participate in a series of meetings and discussions in connection with the theater. Saturday afternoon the conference will hear an address by Barrett H. Clark, executive director of the Dramatists Play Service of New York.

The University Theater and the Portland Civic Theater will cooperate in presenting three plays during the three-day meet. The University Theater will show "Thunder Rock" Thursday and Friday, and "Winterset" Saturday. The Portland Civic Theater, making its first appearance at the University for the Drama Conference, will present "Yes, My Darling Daughter" Thursday and Friday nights in the Laboratory Theater.

Oregon Originates

The Oregon Conference, originated at Oregon by Horace W. Robinson, professor of speech and director of the University Theater, has become one of the largest regional drama conferences in the United States. Delegates this year represent the states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Nevada, and California. In addition, personalities from South Dakota, New York and Los Angeles will attend.

This year's discussions will center around the general topic "Art and Business of the Theater." Discussions represented will be high school, civic, community, college and university, and children's drama. Sectional meetings will be held in technical, business and promotion, playwriting, and direction fields.

Friday evening, the delegates will gather in the Eugene Hotel for a buffet dinner.

Delegates to the Oregon Broadcasters convention will participate with the Drama Conference in many of the scheduled activities. In addition, the broadcasters, meeting for the first time at the University, will hold several business meetings and a drama festival.

Saturday Forum Set

A student forum Saturday morning and a radio broadcast of "Macbeth" Saturday afternoon will be features of the meeting. Gov. Douglas McKay will address the closing session Saturday night.

Both conferences, sponsored by the Speech Department, headed by Dr. Roy C. McCall, will end Saturday.

(Please turn to page seven)

'Heart' Hopefuls Await Judging

ONE OF THESE CANDIDATES for "King of Hearts" will reign over hop festivities Friday night. The "King" will be announced during half-time activities at the Oregon-Oregon State basketball game tomorrow night in the Igloo. From left are Ron Gillis, Bob Wilcox, Ray Karnofski, Leigh Campbell, Dave Palmer, and Ed Eveland.