Highland House, Tri Delts Win Tilts

Thursday's intramural women's basketball play saw the Limes from Highland House defeat the Delta Zeta's, 22-13, and the Tri-Delts eke out a narrow 21-18 victory from Rebec House.

Ducks Buckle Down for Idaho Attack

EMERALD Sports

The Hot Stove

By MARTY WEITZNER
Last year the outfield of the Philadelphia Phillies looked pretty well set. There was the fleet Nebraskan Ritchie Ashburn in centerfield, flanked by power men Bill Nicholson and Del Ennis. When the season ended, Manager Eddie Sawyer figured to have the same crew around on opening day 1950. Right now he isn't so sure.

The reason for his hesitance is a recent acquisition, Oregon's own Dick Whitman. Whitman came to the Phils direct from Branch Rickey's snake pit over in Brooklyn. It seems as if Dick spent 1949 getting into Mr. Rickey's doghouse, and he who does that is soon traded or given a one way ticket to the furthest possible piece of Dodger property.

Whitman's career has been a

Favorites came through last week in the University Inter-Dorm Bowling league at the U-Bowl, as Gamma hall shut out Merrick 4 to 0, Stan Ray blanked Minturn 4 to 0, Sherry Ross trounced Sigma 3 to 1, and Omega goose-egged Hunter 4 to 0.

Bob Downs of Hunter won high single with a 199 game, and Pete Darlington of Gamma took high series with 526. Gamma carried off high team single with 531, and Stan Ray brought home high team series with 1439.

succession of ups and downs. In his stay in the majors he managed (if we exclude last year) to keep close to the .300 mark. His big fault was his ability to hit only singles, while contemporaries Duke Enider, Gene Hermanski went for the fences. The moral of the tale is that the latter are still in Dodger livery while Whitman is now seeking to impress new owners.

In 1948, while with Montreal of the International league, Dick attracted the eye of Clark Shaughnessy, president of that loop. At the conclusion of the season Clark remarked that Whitman was one of the few men in his league that showed major league possibilities.

Last year, infrequent appearances and injuries cut down the efficiency of the former Webfoot outfielder. He was used chiefly as a pinch-hitter and compiled a batting mark that was slightly higher than his body weight. The grandstand Dodger-worshippers turned their thumbs bottoms-down on Whitman and so he is now a Phillie, via the $10,000 waiver price.

In his late twenties, Whitman can be of great help to the Phils. His biggest defect is an arm of questionable ability and the lack of a distance bat. The former is Spudmen Fearsome...

After a light practice Monday, acting-coach Don Kirsch will send the victory-flushed Oregon Webfoots through the scrimmage mill today in preparation for this weekend's two-game home stand against the suddenly fearsome Idaho Vandals.

Head Coach John Warren, who is still at Sacred Heart Hospital, was reported improved Monday. He may return to his home some time today, pending the result of an X-ray taken Monday, but the honest mentor is scheduled for a week of rest after he leaves the hospital.

A Poor Patient

His wife, Fran, described Warren as "much improved." Still weak, and suffering from an aggravating cough, he has been a "poor patient" because of his anxiety to rejoin the maple-wood Webfoots.

Kappa Sig Crew Ruins Alpha Hall In Track Clash

Kappa Sigma spilled Alpha Hall 47-12 in an intra-organizational track meet Monday. Two records were broken, although one was disqualified because of "jumping the gun." Chet Noe threw the shot 41' 3", breaking Darhl Davis's mark of 39' 11".

The disqualified mark was set by the Kappa Sig relay team which ran the relay in 16.2. However, the official 16.7 mark still stands. The results:

- Hurdles—(1) Hassman (KS), (2) Henrick (KS), (3) Collier (KS). Winning time: 6.1.
- 40-yard dash—(1) Countryman (KS), (2) Timms (KS), Shephard (A). Winning time: 4.6.
- 1/4-mile run—(1) Bushnell (KS), (2) Clausen (KS), (3) Dunlap (A). Winning time: 3.59.
- Shot put—(1) Noe, (KS), (2) Daugherty, (KS), (3) Jensen (A). Winning distance: 41' 3".
- Broad Jump—(1) Timms (KS), (2) Shephard (A), (3) Dunlap (A). Winning distance: 18' 3".
- High Jump—(1) Fell (KS), (2) Missfeldt (KS), (3) Hassman (KS). Winning height: 5'.

At the free throw line, Lloyd Schmick, Colfax, continues to be WSC's top free throw artist. In season play he has dropped 19 of 20 through the hoop for a .950 percentage.

Way Down Low

Further incentive will be provided in the fact that should Idaho manage to win both games at McArthur Court, the Oregons will be relegated to the humiliating cellar position of the conference. Idaho was win-hungry when they perpetrated their two-game sweep of the Ducks, and now that they have had a taste of victory, the Vandals have risen from the murky depths to knock off high-flying Washington State.

Veteran Oregon Forward Will Urban described the Moscow debacle as the result of a couple of off nights. When the average is down, Urban pointed out, the score has a nasty habit of following suit.

National Basketball Ratings

By MARTIN MEADOWS

The rampaging Holy Cross Crusaders last week made it an even 20 victories in an unbeaten season to remain in first place in this week's basketball ratings.

The Crusaders added three wins to their streak as they swamped Colgate, 108-76; tripped Rhode Island State, 74-69, and laced the New York Athletic Club by a 73-56 margin.

Holding second spot was St. John's, which climbed from third after handily disposing of two tough teams. The Redmen swept by Canisius by a 62-50 count and then hung up their 20th decision against two losses as they rolled over Niagara, 72-63, Saturday.

The powerful Bradley Braves advanced a notch to third as they chalked up three wins to give them a 21-3 record. The Braves trounced Wichita, 61-49, coasted to a 77-53 score over Hawaii, and knocked off

DePaul, 65-56.

The Long Island U. Blackbirds (17-2), picked up a 51-49 and 90-59 victories from Springfield and Quantico Marines, but skidded to fourth as a result of their close contest with the former.

Remaining in the number five slot was Duquesne, which bounced Akron, 71-57, and thumped Geneva, 74-47, for a 19-1 slate. The top game of this week will match Long Island and Duquesne in a Thursday night encounter at Madison Square Garden.

Ohio State's Buckeyes (15-3) continued their advance by vaulting from ninth to sixth position. The Big Nine leaders eked out a 56-55 win from Indiana and blasted Michigan State, 87-43.

LaSalle's third defeat of the season, a 59-55 loss to Toledo, dropped the Explorers to seventh. They had previously snared their 14th triumph when they handed Baldwin Wallace a 91-65 setback.

An even break in two starts also caused North Carolina State to slip down one spot. The Wolfpack held on to eight after dropping a close 54-50 decision to William & Mary and coming back to register a 73-35 win over Wake Forest. They now own an 18-4 ledger.

The Kentucky Wildcats jumped to ninth as they avenged an earlier reversal by burying Tennessee under a 79-52 count. That gave them 17 triumphs and four defeats.

Another Kentucky squad, powerful Western Kentucky, rounded out the select group by hiking its record to 19-4. The Hilltoppers climaxed a long comeback by drubbing Morehead, 77-65, walloping Bowling Green, 103-87, and subduing Murray, 54-50, and replacing CCNY in the first ten.

They were barely ahead of Toledo (18-3), which proved itself as being of major caliber by edging LaSalle.
