

Religious Events

By FRANK COTHRELL

Many campus religious groups held parties and open houses last week, skipping regular Sunday evening meetings to allow their members to participate in Religious Evaluation Week. Oregon State students were special guests at several of the functions.

Westminster House

Twelve students from Westminster House attended a Presbyterian Church Vocations Conference in Salem over the weekend. They were Beverly Goheen, Jackie Madigan, Shirley Tonseth, Morris Weakley, Sally Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCann, Jim Woodworth, Ed Neuenfeldt, Beverly Gunstone, Mary Nelson, and Andrew Flanders. The Rev. Thom Hunter accompanied them.

Chapel service will be held by Westminster House Wednesday noon, and in the afternoon the students will hold a reception for two campus living organizations. The weekly potluck is scheduled for Thursday evening.

Monday evening begun a series of fireside sings, which will be held from 9:30 to 10:15 p. m. each week, and will include refreshments.

Lutheran House

The Rev. Sterling Simonsen will conduct the weekly Bible study Tuesday evening at 6:30. The Thursday evening discussion, on the topic "What Do Lutherans Believe?" will be led by Rev. Aalbu.

Canterbury, Newman Club

Canterbury Club here will entertain Canterbury Club of Oregon State next Sunday evening. Newman Club will hold a card party at the YMCA Friday, and election of officers is scheduled for the Feb. 26 meeting.

Wesley House

A pot-luck dinner for married students will be held by Wesley House at 6 p. m. Tuesday. Wednesday morning at 7:30 the weekly chapel service will be held in connection with Religious Evaluation Week, under direction of Gordon Burtner.

"Jive Nite," informal fellowship session will be held from 9 to 10 Wednesday. Bible discussion groups studying "The Records of Jesus" will meet Thursday at 4 p. m. At 6:30 Wesley Chorus will rehearse with Lynn Sjolund in charge.

Friday and Saturday students have been invited to attend the annual conclave of the Methodist Youth Fellowship in Portland at Centenary-Wilbur Methodist Church. Sunday's dinner-forum at Wesley House will feature three foreign students in a panel discussion. They are Gisela Schmidt, Madelaine Michel, and Walter Billing.

Baptist Youth Group

University young people may attend an all-day "campference" at the Harlow Baptist Lodge Saturday. Guest speakers include Dr. John Houser of Lebanon and the Rev. W. M. Whitwell.

Alpha Phi Omega Chooses Officers

William Portis, senior in business, was elected president Thursday of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity.

He will assume his duties immediately. Outgoing president is Brian Graves.

Other officers chosen were John Musgrove, vice president; William Sloan, recording secretary; Richard Thompson, corresponding secretary; Gale Sheldon, treasurer; Leroy Hewlett, historian; and Thomas Goldsmith, sergeant-at-arms.

Journal Club Slates Speech on 'Atonality'

"Atonality—the Emancipation of the Dissonance," will be the topic of a lecture by Arnold Elston, associate professor of music, at the first winter term meeting of the Journal Club, to be held at 8 p. m., Wednesday, in 202, new Music Building.

Students, faculty, and other interested persons may attend and take part in informal discussion afterward.

Physics Lecture Next Feature In U.O. Series

"The Physicist Looks to the Past," will be the subject of a lecture by Dr. R. T. Ellickson, associate dean of the graduate school and physics department head, at 8 p. m. Thursday in 207 Chapman Hall.

The University Lecture Series, under the chairmanship of Dr. R. H. Ernest, professor of English, is sponsoring the talk.

Recent techniques developed to study the world of the past will be explained by Ellickson. One of these deals with using radioactivity to determine the age of parts of living things from 2,000 to 20,000 years ago. Another device enables physicists to discover the temperature of water in which creatures lived millions of years ago.

Ellickson will also explain how scientists determine the age of the earth and universe.

The lecture is open to the public. No admission will be charged.

Pre-med Honorary Initiates Thirteen

Thirteen junior and senior men were initiated into Asklepiads, pre-medical honorary fraternity, at a formal initiation ceremony in Gerlinger Hall Thursday evening.

Those initiated were Mustafu Ahamed, George Armen, Richard Belt, Richard Baker, Neil Dies, Henry Dixon, Daniel Heryford, James McCullough, Robert Michel, Richard Smith, Charles D. McCarthy, Peter Wright, and Alan Chaimov.

Dutch Physicist To Speak at 4

W. G. Burgers, professor of physics and physical chemistry at the Delft Institute of Technology, The Netherlands, will speak to an open chemistry department seminar on "Metal Crystals" today, at 4 p. m. in room 105 McClure.

The lecture will be illustrated with slides and specimens from Burger's personal collection will be displayed.

The Delft Institute of Technology is the only engineering school of the university level in Holland. It is prominent in research activities in pure science.

Burgers was a visiting lecturer in physics during the first semester of the present academic year at Purdue University. He is now visiting west coast universities before returning to Holland.

What shall I do? I'm engaged to a man who just simply can't bear children.

You mustn't expect too much of a man.

Police Training Begins Today In Johnson Hall

15-hour project school, completing the Oregon regional police training program, starts in Johnson Hall today.

Instructors for the Engene school will be Special Agent Kelly D. Deaderick, Federal Bureau of Investigation, and Sgt. Vern L. Hill, department of State Police.

This year's project, which will be divided into five three-hour sessions, will deal with a practical problem of burglary, including a detailed crime investigation, interrogation of suspects, and court trial conducted in cooperation with local court officials and attorneys.

Classes will continue Feb. 16, 21, 23, and 28.

Reports from the 10 regional schools throughout the state indicate the largest attendance in the history of police training in Oregon, according to Chief Keith L. Jones, Eugene, chairman of the training committee. Attendance at the Eugene school's last class Feb. 7 was 56.

The training program is sponsored by the Oregon Association of City Police Officers and Oregon State Sheriffs' Association in cooperation with federal, state, and local agencies which provide instructors and handle school arrangements.

Article, Reviews Written By Dull

Paul S. Dull, professor of political science and history, has authored an article and two book reviews soon to appear in print.
