

Attention Helmet Makers! The Amazons Need You

By NORM ANDERSON

Forty shields and spears and fifty helmets. Most of them for a bunch of women who just won't be satisfied with anything but a perfect fit.

All this and more will bedevil the prop and stage crew chairman for "The Warrior's Husband." These guys need help, any kind of help, experienced or inexperienced, union or non-union, men or women.

The play goes before the lights in less than a month.

According to Bill Schlosser technical director of the University Theater (who also has to worry about making three sets for the Amazon comedy) it won't be such a rough job if people will drop into the Theater Workshop whenever they can and whip up a helmet or a spear or two. It won't leave all forty helmets and spears, to be made by the regular workshop crew.

Right now Hob Deul is the man worrying about these particular women and their helmets, and he's the man to see (or Schlosser or anyone in the workshop) about giving a little help to the rushed crew. No regular hours are required. Just drop in anytime. And the sooner the better.

French Comedy Set for Tonight

Rene Clair's French comedy "The Crazy Ray" and the Russian "Ballet Russe" will be shown in 207 Chapman tonight at 7 and 9 p. m. as part of the Wednesday night movie series.

Originally called "Paris Qui Dort," "The Crazy Ray" should be interesting especially to those who admire Clair's later films.

The story is of a French inventor who discovers a ray which makes the whole world stand still. The comic element comes in when a small group of people atop the Eiffel tower are unaffected and wander about the sleeping city.

Add to the bill, the 30-minute short "Ballet Russe" includes three films on classical Russian ballet. World famous ballet artists are featured in Bayaderka Ballet, Swan Lake Ballet, and Russian Ballet and Folk Dances.

Showings are open to all University students and faculty members. Students should bring student body cards for admission.

Professors To Speak At Lecture-Forum

Kurt Stern's "Human Genetics" is the topic for tonight's Lecture-Forum Series, to be held in the library browsing room at 7 p. m.

R. R. Huestis, professor of zoology, will deliver the lecture and C. W. Clancy, associate professor of biology, will lead the discussion after the talk.

The University library-sponsored program is open to students, faculty, and interested townspeople.

Vets Insurance To Be Renewed

Veterans who took out National Service Life Insurance in 1942 must convert or renew their present policies this year, before they expire, according to the Veteran's Administration. Failure of veterans to do so may result in the loss of their G. I. insurance, unless they are able to pass a physical examination.

G. I. policies issued in 1924 have eight years to run before they must be converted or renewed and veterans must apply for their new policies before the old ones run out. (This applies to term policies only.)

Many veterans, the VA said, are not sure when they first took out their N. S. L. I. policies and needlessly take the risk of losing their protection because they don't know when policies should be renewed.

Even though the VA will try to notify the veteran 60 days ahead of time before the expiration date of his G.I. insurance policy, it is wise for him to check with the VA determine the anniversary date of his insurance policy if he isn't sure.

Approximately one-third of the half-million veterans in the Pacific Northwest who have G.I. insurance pay their premiums during the 31-day "grace period." They face the loss of their insurance when it expires, because it may no longer be in force when they get around to making application for a converted policy or a renewal.

The VA advised veterans to pay their premiums on time and depend on the "grace period" only in cases of real financial emergency.

Wanted-Beachwear

Bathing suits from grandma's day are needed by members of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

The Thetas aren't planning a revolt against the suntan influence in modern beachwear; they merely need two colorful suits for a WAA Carnival skit, sophomore member Jeanne Hoffman explains.

Owners of the items in question may contact Miss Hoffman at 5-4391.

New Dance Club To Bring Lusk

Johnny Lusk's orchestra will play for the first dance of the new Faculty Dance Club, on Friday, Feb. 17, in Gerlinger Annex. This is the first of three semi-formal orchestra dances to be held this spring.

The other two dances in the current series will be held April 21st and May 19th. It is planned to have a different orchestra for each of the dances. After the May 19th dances, members will be polled for their orchestra preferences.

Admittance to the dances is by subscription. There will be no tickets available for individual dances. All faculty members are eligible for membership. Anyone interested should contact Mrs. W. J. Dixon, chairman, or Mrs. Jim Aiken, treasurer.

Officers Elected By Faculty Club

Charles G. Howard, professor of law, was elected president of the University Faculty Club for the year 1950 by the Board of Directors at a meeting Monday.

Other officers elected were Chandler B. Beall, professor of Romance languages, vice-president; Howard E. Dean, professor of political science, secretary; and J. Orville Lindstrom, business manager, treasurer.

Members of the Board are Howard, Beall, Dean, Lindstrom, Col Robert M. Lyon, retired professor of military science and tactics, Thursman S. Peterson, professor of mathematics, and Raymond T. Ellickson, associate dean of the Graduate School and head of the physics department.

Nominations Due For Press Awards

Nominations for two annual awards by the Press Club of Oregon must be submitted by March 1. The awards are for outstanding achievement in newspaper and radio during 1949.

The presentations consist of two engraved silver plaques and two life memberships in the Press Club of Oregon. A board of judges will select winners on the basis of nominations submitted with appropriate documentation.

Nominations may be sent to 721 S. W. Park Avenue, Portland, Oregon.

English Comp, Lit Signup Set Monday

Students now enrolled in English composition and literature classes must register Feb. 20 to 22 if they wish to remain in their present classes, announces Mrs. Roxanne Erb, department secretary.

Composition registration will be conducted in room 107A Friendly. Literature students may register in room 2 Friendly.

Students unable to secure their advisers' approval during the pre-registration period should go to the department office and fill out a reservation card, although they may not actually register.

Anyone wishing to change sections will have to register Feb. 23, at which time they may sign up for unfilled classes.

Ellickson to Lecture

"The Physicist Looks to the Past," a lecture by Dr. R. T. Ellickson, physics department head, will be presented Thursday night at 8:00 in 207 Chapman. Dr. Ellickson will speak under the auspices of the University Lecture Series.
