Senior Entrants Needed In June Speech Contest

All seniors, regardless of major, are eligible to participate in the Failing-Beekman senior oratorical contest to be held June 9 at the University Theater, according to W. A. Dahlberg, professor of speech.

Prizes amounting to $300 will be awarded. First prize is $150, second $100, and third $50.

Rules governing the contest are:
(1) Speeches are limited to 15 minutes.
(2) Speeches are to be original and may be on any topic of interest to the individual.

(3) Two typewritten manuscripts must be made of the speech, submitted by May 28 at the office of W. A. Dahlberg, 210 Villard Hall.

Copies of former prize winning speeches are available for study in Dahlberg's office for those interested.

"It is interesting to observe that relatively few seniors have participated in this event of recent years, particularly in view of the attractive cash awards they are given," Dahlberg commented.

"Any or all students eligible for the contest will be given individual direction and help by the Speech Department faculty, if so desired."

Lenten Production Tryouts Set Today

Tryouts for a Lenten radio production to be presented next Thursday will be held today in Studio "A" from 3 to 5 p. m. The play is "The Story of the Other Wise Man."

Eleven men and two women are needed to fill the various roles, with a narrator and male lead as the principal characters. No previous radio experience is required.

Regular University broadcasts will begin Monday night.

Student Gets Scholarship

Art Ross, junior in business administration, has been awarded a scholarship for scholastic achievement by the national office of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

The award is for the 1950-51 school year and was made following a nationwide contest.
