

Naval Reserve Brass Up for Promotions

Eugene area Naval Reserve officers were advised Tuesday to review their ranks, determining if they are eligible for promotion.

The Navy Department has announced the schedule for the boards who will consider promotions, LCDR. John A. Lindbeck, Naval Reserve inspector-instructor for this area, said. The first boards will convene on June 5.

Reserve officers must first be sworn into permanent rank before their promotions will be considered, Lindbeck explained.

Only about 50 per cent of the reserve officers in this area have changed from temporary to permanent status, as permitted by a 1948 directive, he said.

A communication received by the officer last week advised all reserve ensigns in this area who were commissioned before Dec. 31, 1946 in the line, supply corps, or civil engineering corps, to contact his office regarding to advancement to lieutenant junior grade.

Alpha Xi Delta Plans Eugene Convention

The Oregon Chapter of Alpha Xi Delta and Eugene Alumnae will act as hostess to the three active chapters, and nine alumnae chapters, at their province convention to be held here this weekend.

Representatives from the chapters at University of Washington, Oregon State College, and the University of Oregon will attend.

Mrs. Vivian Harper Pitman of Eugene, who is province president, will preside.

Attorneys Teaching Law

Otto Vonderheit, Eugene attorney, is teaching a course in taxation to law students this term. Mr. Vonderheit has taught this course for the last three years to senior students and is considered an expert on the subject.

Stanley Darling, of the Eugene firm Darling and Vonderheit, is also teaching at the University this term.

AID GIVEN

WSSF has helped 870,000 needy university students and faculty members in Europe, China, and Southeast Asia since its organization.

Library Contest Set May 12-14

Entries are now coming in for the Library Day Prize Contest, May 13, reports Miss Bernice Rise, library circulation head.

Books worth $150 will be awarded first, second, and third-place winners in the three divisions of the contest. Books will be awarded by the Association of Patrons and Friends of the University Library and the University Co-op.

Divisions of the contest include undergraduate student's generalized library, undergraduate student's specialized library, and graduate student's library, which may be specialized or general.

Judging of the collections of between 20 and 50 books will be based on the selection of titles as a nucleus of the personal library and as they show the broadening interests of the student. The number and money value of the books is not important.

Libraries entered will be on display in the library May 12, 13, and 14.

Complete contest rules are available from Miss Rise.

WSSF is a student-faculty drive for needy contemporaries abroad.

Duck Preview Housing Explained

The housing preference of the visiting seniors is to be indicated on the return post cards they received with their invitations to the weekend. April 1 has been set as the deadline for reply.

Students indicating dormitory preference will be housed in John Straub Hall, for the men, and in Carson and Hendricks halls, for the women. Men desiring cooperative housing will stay at Campbell Club.

Representatives of each living group will be at Johnson Hall for the registration of the visiting high-schoolers on Apr. 14, Church said. All visiting seniors will be expected to go through registration.
