

Unusual Advertising Feature of Second Day of WSSF Drive

"Give Your All to WSSF—I Did!"—That's the message of the man with the barrel who will appear on the campus today every hour between classes.

He and his three brothers with sandwich boards will boost the WSSF drive, now entering its second day. Burma-Shave style signs advertising WSSF will also be up today on the Old Campus and the Quad, according to Ann Gillenwaters, poster chairman.

By these means, plus posters and flying speeches, Oregon students are being acquainted with the World Student Service Fund. Through the efforts of WSSF, students and faculty are given the opportunity to directly help others who are seeking an education in foreign countries.

Much of the work of World Student Relief depends upon WSSF, its American agency. This is the only drive of the year that the ASUO officially sponsors and appeals to the students to support.

Personal solicitation is keynoting the Oregon drive. House representatives in every living organization are contacting all members of their group during the week. Contributions are to be kept in milk bottles in the Co-op.

Special features of the drive will be a contest Wednesday an auction in front of the Side Friday at 4 p.m. All proceeds from the Vodvil Show Apr. 14 will go to the campus WSSF campaign.

Petitions Due For Mothers' May Weekend

A call for petitions for general chairman of Mothers' Weekend, held in conjunction with Junior Weekend May 12-14, was issued by the ASUO Executive Council in its regular meeting Monday night.

Sophomores, juniors, and seniors may petition for the post. Applications are due by 5 p. m. Thursday in the ASUO office, Emerald Hall.

Last year's chairman was Ruth Landry, now a junior in sociology. University of Washington Student Body President Phil Palmer will be the guest of the Council at next week's meeting, ASUO President Art Johnson announced.

The Washington student leader will discuss the National Student Association program. Oregon is not a member of the NSA.

A report from the ASUO Constitution Committee will be presented at the next meeting by Chairman Dick Neely. The committee has been at work revising the old constitution and preparing a new one.

Reports from other Council committees will be discussed in order to form a picture of the Council's spring term activities.

Panhel Names New Officers

Joan White has been named 1950-51 president of Panhellenic, beginning her duties this term.

Other new officers are Phyllis Mathews, first vice president; Pat McGinty, second vice president; Pat Mullin, secretary; and Joanne Lewis, treasurer.

These officers are chosen on the basis of rotation of the houses.

Chairmen of standing committees for the coming year are as follows:

Shirley Hillard, relations; Ann Gillenwaters, standards; Shirley Potter, social; Bev Miller, publicity; and Pat White, scholarship.

Weekend Theme Due by 5 Today

Deadline for Junior Weekend theme suggestions is today at 5 p. m. They may be placed in the box in the Co-op or given to junior class officers up to that time. Dinner and tickets for two to the Junior Prom are offered to the winner.

Class officers are Barry Mountain, at ATO; Ed Peterson, Lambda Chi; Kathy Littlefield, Alpha Phi; Anne Goodman, Hendricks.

Incomplete Grade System Subject of Faculty Vote

Motions concerning the removal of incompletes and requirements for the bachelor's degree will be voted upon by the faculty at its meeting Wednesday, 4 p.m., in 3 Fenton Hall.

The first proposal would change University legislation so that a student, to remove an incomplete, must complete the course within his next three terms of residence in the University, or at such earlier date as the instructor may specify.

One Year Limit
As it now stands an incomplete must be removed within one calendar year after receipt of the mark.

To this motion an amendment has been added by P. J. Powers, professor of romance languages. The amendment states:

"If an incomplete has not been removed, or if the student has not repeated the course with a passing grade, within his next three terms of residence, the Registrar shall change the incomplete to F. For purpose of this motion, summer sessions shall not be counted as terms."

45-Hour Rule Questioned
The second motion to be voted upon would repeal the requirement that "A minimum of 45 hours is necessary after obtaining the Junior Certificates before the bachelor's degree is granted."

Both motions will be presented by C. F. Weigle, chairman of the special Committee for the Study of Academic Regulations.

Nominations of candidates for membership on the Advisory Council is also scheduled to take place at the faculty meeting. The council members will be elected at the May meeting.

Harpham Cup Reading Award Date Chosen

The night of the All-Campus Sing, May 12, has been chosen as the date for presenting the annual Josephine Evans Harpham silver cup to the living organization which is judged to have promoted the most interest in good reading among its members.

Every campus living group is eligible for the award, providing it has sent a representative to each meeting of the house librarians, kept records of the author, title, and individual readers of the books read, organized an approved reading program for the organization, and declared an intention to compete in the contest no later than last Oct. 15.

Judging will be based on the number of books borrowed per student

Campus Vodvil Themes Chosen

Most living organizations have now chosen themes and are beginning work on their acts for the All-Campus Vodvil Apr. 14. Program Chairman Gretchen Grondahl said Monday.

Post cards are being sent to all groups today informing them of the time for their act in eliminations next Monday and Tuesday nights. Eliminations will begin at 6:30 in Gerlinger Annex both nights.

Cards should be returned by Thursday, indicating theme title in order to avoid any possible duplication. Groups not planning to enter an act, should state so on the card.

Winners of the Vodvil show will receive first and second place trophies, with men's and women's houses competing equally. There will also be an award for the most outstanding individual performer.

Committee chairmen for the Vodvil are Willy Dodds and Ed Peterson, general co-chairmen; Gretchen Grondahl, program; Judy Rowe, awards and final judging; and Mary Hall, stage.

Last year's winners were Orides, Lambda Chi Alpha, and Sigma Nu.

Weather . . .

Fair and warming today. Thickening cloudiness tonight, becoming cloudy with rain Wednesday. High today, 62; low, 40.

'Music for Fun' Subject of Spaeth In Speech Tonight

Noted Lecturer to Discuss Lighter Aspects Of Field in Final 1950 Assembly Program

By ANDY FRIEDLE

Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, author, lecturer, and composer, will speak at 7:30 tonight in McArthur Court on "Music for Fun."

The lecture will deal with the "availability" of music. Dr. Spaeth will discuss music as a recreation, regardless of the talent or experience of the participant.

Well known in this country for his easy, humorous approach to music. Dr. Spaeth has appeared on both radio and the motion picture screen. He lectures and writes on music, and is a composer. However, the composer-writer is not entirely one-sided.

On the serious side, Dr. Spaeth has written "A Guide to Great Orchestral Music," "Great Symphonies," "Stories Behind the World's Great Music," and "At Home With Music."

On the lighter side, Sigmund Spaeth has to his credit, "Read 'Em and Weep," a large collection of American song-lore containing the words and music of more than 200 popular songs of the past. The work, along with the music, also contains a store of anecdotes and humorous, personal comment. Other popular books include, "The Art of Enjoying Music," and many others.

Called Tune Detective

The "Tune Detective," as Sigmund Spaeth is popularly known, possesses a sound musical background, wide experience, and amazing versatility, which, in part, accounts for his ready sense of humor, dependable grasp of human inclinations, and consistent adaptability.

Dr. Spaeth applies the same original technique to the medium of motion pictures as he does in his books and has won the acclaim of thousand of admirers. His literary contributions on the musical side have appeared in Life, McCalls, Esquire, Liberty, and The Saturday Evening Post.

The well-known lecturer and writer was recently elected president of the "Songmart," an organization designed to bring together the amateur composer and the publisher. He is also president of the National Association for American Composers

Authority Widely Recognized

Political and musical talent are only two of the many talents of Dr. Spaeth. His renown as an authority on music is so outstanding that he is asked, frequently, to appear as a witness in a court case involving musical plagiarism.

Sigmund Spaeth graduated from Haverford College, Philadelphia, and later earned his Ph.D. degree from Princeton where he was also a member of Woodrow Wilson's faculty.

His speech will be tape-recorded by radio station KORE for rebroadcast at a date to be announced later.

Dr. Spaeth's lecture will conclude the Assembly Committee lecture series of 1949-50. Other Assembly Committee speakers this year were Dorothy Thompson, William L. Shirer, and Norman Thomas.

Registration for Term Reaches 5019 Total

Sixty-three students completed registration steps Monday bringing the total spring term enrollment this far to 5019.

Registration is running somewhat behind last year's comparable figure of 5304, according to registrar's office statistics.

Portland Pastor Slated to Speak At Sunrise Service

Dr. John Anderson, professor of religion at Lewis and Clark College, will be the third consecutive Portland man to speak at the Eugene Easter Sunrise Services.

"The Light Still Shines" will be his topic in services to start at 6:30 a. m. Sunday in McArthur Court. Doors will open at 6.

In 1949 Dr. Morgan S. Odell, president of Lewis and Clark, was guest speaker. Dr. Henry Marcotte, retired Presbyterian minister doing ad-interim work in Portland, gave the 1948 sermon.

Special music for the Easter services will be furnished by the Eugene Gleemen. Organist will be Donald Allton, University professor of organ and theory.

Radio Station KORE will broadcast the services direct from McArthur Court.

The annual Sunrise Services are co-sponsored by the University Religious Council and the Eugene-Springfield Ministerial Association.

Littlefield Named Junior Secretary

Kathy Littlefield, junior in architecture and allied arts, was named junior class secretary yesterday, to replace Anne Case who has withdrawn from school.

Miss Littlefield is president of Alpha Phi sorority, a member of Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's service honorary, and was co-chairman of this year's WAA carnival and chairman of the AWS auction. She was selected from a group of petitioners by junior class officers, Barry Mountain, president; Ed Peterson, vice president; and Anne Goodman, secretary.

Science Excavation Set for This Week

Excavation for the new science building on University street across from the School of Journalism building will begin late this week, according to I. I. Wright, superintendent of the Physical Plant.

Work will be done by the Ross B. Hammond company of Portland who won the general construction contract for the building Mar. 21.

The new structure will house the departments of biology, chemistry, and physics. It is scheduled to be completed in approximately 18 months.

Old Oregon Petitions
