

The Dormitory Report

to make introductions at the dance."

To further relieve "the tension of a rather hectic week," informal open houses might be held by women dormitory organizations. "Such functions would help people get acquainted and might lend some impetus to dorm social programs for fall term."

In the period preceding new student week, the committee suggests the sending of a booklet explaining the dormitory set-up to new students. A form with information to the students "home background, high school scholastic activity and athletic record, interests, probable major, etc." might be secured and used in making room assignments.

After new student week, informal talks and discussions might be held with freshmen by the hall, unit, and floor organizations, and in some cases by the counselor, and might continue throughout the school year. Suggested topics would include "Meaning of Grades," "Meaning of Education," "How to study," "How to write an exam," "Opportunities in and advantages of campus activities."

The program suggested by the committee rests a great deal upon the wise selection of the counselor, and his ability to gain the respect of the freshmen. The next article of this series will summarize the committee's recommendations on Counselors.—Editor.

Services Slated For Good Friday

Special Good Friday services will be held in Alumni Hall, Gerlinger, Friday afternoon at 4 p. m.

These services, to be a meditation service with a slide-story of Easter, will be conducted by the Rev. David Seaman of Wesley Foundation.

Wesley Foundation's chorus is scheduled to provide special music for the services. This will be the first time such services have been held on the Oregon campus and the sponsoring group hopes that it will become an annual affair. The services are being sponsored by the University Religious Organization Director's council.

These services are designed on an interdenominational basis.

Future Kwamas To Petition Now

Freshman women may petition for membership in Kwama, sophomore women's service honorary, until May 1.

New members of the organization will be tapped from the freshman class at the Mortar Board Ball May 27.

Members of the white-uniformed group are chosen on the basis of activity participation and scholarship. A minimum of 2.00 GPA, both cumulative and last term, is required. Membership is limited to 30 women.

Petitions may be turned in to Kwama President Lorna Larson, Chi Omega.

Kwama to Present Three Scholarships

Kwama, sophomore women's service honorary, will award three $100 scholarships to freshman women this year. The scholarships will go toward expenses for the sophomore year.

Scholarship petition blanks are available at the Office of Women's Affairs, 201 Emerald Hall. Applications are due at the office by 5 p. m. May 8.

Money for the awards was earned by Kwamas through fund-raising projects: selling football programs, sweater bags, and ushering at concerts.

Business Honorary Slates Conference

Phi Chi Theta, national women's business honorary, will hold its annual conference Apr. 11 in the Alpha Xi Delta house.

A committee composed of Chairman Annie Wong and Dorothy Thompson, Betty Jo Carton, Maxine Landon, and Virginia Drake will handle plans for proceedings.

The conference will be preceded by a banquet at the Anchorage, which is open to anyone.

APO Invites Men To Open Meeting

All men interested in membership in Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, are invited by the group to attend a 5:30 open meeting tonight at the campus YMCA.

To qualify for membership in APO, an Oregon student must have been a Boy Scout, have a 2.00 GP A, complete an assigned pledge project, and show interest and desire for service.

Among fall and winter term services of the organization were ushering at University Theater productions, selling Homecoming buttons, aiding at the International Relations Conference, handling polling booths at freshman elections, and active and advisory participation in the Boy Scout program in the Eugene area.

Schedules Requested

Students with part-time job applications on file now with the Office of Student Employment are asked to submit their schedules for spring term to the office. Those who do not do so will not be considered for employment.

Youngsters tore down 12 signs in Long Island that read, "Drive Slowly, Children at Play." Oh, they play the same outdoors as indoors, huh?
