Emerald Chiefs Picked May 17

May 17 has been set as the date for selection of next year's Emerald editor and business manager by the Publications Board.

The Student Union Office is handling petitions for the two positions. Assistant Director Olga Yevtich said students petitioning for these jobs must turn their petitions in to her by noon May 13.

The Publications Board will also convene May 24 to select the editor and the business manager for the 1950-51 Student Directory, otherwise known as "Piggers' Guide," the office announced petitions for these offices will accepted until May 20.

Oregana editor and business manager petitioners will be interviewed by the Publications Board next Wednesday. This Saturday noon is the deadline for these petitions.

Saturday is also the last day prospective members of next year's Ore-nter editorial staff may submit their petitions. The Publications Board is recommending qualified petitioners to the ASUO Executive Council, which will make final selections.

Petitions Asked For 'Mystick' Sale

Petitions are now being requested for general chairman and subcommittees for the Phi Theta "Mystick" Sale. Only freshmen women are eligible to petition.

Petitions are due to Ruth Landry at Alpha Phi or Leslie Tooze at Kappa Alpha Theta by next Wednesday.

Other positions open include chairmen of collections, house sales, decorations, publicity, promotion, distribution, and booth sales.

The annual sale will be held sometime in early May, according to Phi Theta President Ruth Landry. "Mysticks" will replace last year's "Mysties."

WSSF Work Earns Praise From Student

Shyun Daw Shaw could talk for hours about WSSF and what it means to students in his native China.

During the war he was a student at the University of Amoy in China. He told of countless students who came to college out of occupied China—many on foot.

"These students came unable to pay even for room and board," he said. "WSSF gave them the money. In return they did work and research for the University."

Shyun was a supervisor in China for the Social Educational Service. He taught in a prison. He lived with the poverty of his people.

"In war-torn countries the students do not have money to go to school," he said. He urged that "in this land where students do have opportunity they will contribute their aid and efforts to those in need."

A graduate student in political science, Shyun has been at the University of Oregon for two years on a scholarship from the National Student Relief Committee in China. Malayan Toh Lee Tan, sophomore in liberal arts, also spoke of the hardship of students in her native land.

"Unless you have money," she said, "you cannot go to school in Malaya. The number of students permitted to attend is very limited. The young people are eager for more education, but it is too expensive."

Miss Toh is studying here on a foreign student scholarship. Last year she attended a Quaker school in Iowa.

Faculty Passes On Incompletes, Degree 'Musts'

Faculty members Wednesday passed two motions concerning the removal of incomplete grades and requirements for the bachelor's degree.

The new legislation on incompletes states:

"To remove an incomplete, a student must complete the course within his next three terms of residence in the University, or at such earlier date as the instructor, dean, or department head may specify."

An amendment which would have changed an incomplete to F after the following three terms of residence was defeated.

Also approved by the faculty was the repeal of the requirement that students must have minimum of 45 hours after obtaining the Junior Certificate before being granted a bachelor's degree.

In defense of this motion, C. F. Weigle, who presented both motions, said that although the purpose of the rule was desirable in relieving pressure on the Academic Requirements Committee, the penalty imposed was too severe.

Weigle is chairman of the special Committee for the Study of Academic Regulations.

Bumps and Bruises . . .

At right end, Monte Brethauer seems to be top man in the offensive category, while Emery Barnes is mowing down the opposition from the defensive rung of that position. Other top right end possibilities are Wayne Johnson, a former Eugene High School player, and Milan Račovich, San Mateo, Calif.

Aiken plans to send the gridders through their paces this afternoon at 3:30, and then possibly lay-off Friday to give the men a chance to rest. Of the original 75 candidates, only a handful have dropped out, Aiken reported.

Skull & Dagger Sets New Rules For Selection

New membership selection procedures have been adopted by Skull and Dagger, sophomore men's service honorary, President Vernon Beard announced last night.

Incoming members of the organization this spring will be selected on the basis of petitions, and membership of the group has been upped from 26 to 32, Beard stated.

Each living organization will be limited to a maximum of one member in the honorary. Under the new plan, Skull and Daggers will select their new members from petitions, only three of which may be submitted from any one living group.

Freshmen who will have completed at least 36 hours by the end of spring term and who were enrolled at Oregon last term are eligible to petition, Beard stated.

Minimum scholastic requirements are a 2.00 GPA, cumulative and last term. Members will be chosen on the basis of activities and scholarship.

If one member is chosen from a living group, the other two petitioners will be designated alternates.

New members will be tapped at the Junior Prom, May 13.

Do You Know a Rumor--- when you hear one?

During the war we knew enough to mistrust rumors and particularly knew how dangerous it was to spread them. We knew then that rumors affected our unity, and unity was vital to winning the war.

But perhaps we don't know that rumors are just as dangerous today as they were during the war.

Because—rumors about other groups, other religions and other races always threaten our national unity—without which we cannot hope to survive.

Be an active citizen—help keep your country strong, united and secure—a good place in which men can live together, prosper together and pursue happiness together.

Make sure that you are not spreading rumors against a race or religion. Speak up, wherever you are, against prejudice, and work for better understanding. Remember that's being a good American.

Accept or reject people on their individual worth
