

Oregon Daily EMERALD

VOLUME LI

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, FRIDAY, APRIL 7, 1950

NUMBER 102

Sunrise Service Planners

STUDENTS PICTURED organized the Easter Sunrise services scheduled for McArthur Court Sunday morning at 6:30. Miss Charlotte Stone is General Chairman. From left to right, top row, they are, Lee McClelland, Don Smith, Jerry Owsley, and Frank Cothrell; bottom row, Barbara Howard, Melissa Millam, and Charlotte Stone. Music chairman Faye Schick could not appear.

* * *

Sunrise Services Set For Easter Sunday

Annual community Easter sunrise services will be held at McArthur Court Sunday morning at 6:30.

Dr. John Anderson, professor of religion at Lewis and Clark College will deliver the sermon entitled "The Light Still Shines."

Szigeti Concert Set April 23

Hungarian-born Joseph Szigeti, concert violinist, will play in McArthur Court Apr. 23.

His appearance will be sponsored by the Civic Music Association.

Szigeti made his American debut in 1925 with the Philadelphia Orchestra, under Leopold Stokowski.

Highly Rated

In "Musical America's" national radio poll, six hundred music critics named Szigeti as one of the dominant violin personalities of the year.

The violinist had planned a Eugene concert last January, but stormy weather and snow prevented his appearance.

Program Set

Numbers to be included in the program, which will start at 3 p. m., are Corelli's "La Folia," Bach's "Adagio and Fugue," Beethoven's "Sonata in A major," Momopou and Szigeti's "Maidens in the Garden," Szymanowski's "Fountain of Arethusa," Cowell's "Sonata," and Stravinsky and Dushkin's "Russian Dance" from "Petrouchka."

These services are sponsored by the University Religious Council and the Eugene-Springfield Ministerial Association. This year's general chairman is Miss Charlotte Stone, La Grande.

Revised ASUO Constitution To Submit to Student Vote

A new proposed ASUO constitution is now in the final stages of formation, ASUO Constitutional Revision Chairman Dick Neely revealed yesterday.

The new constitution may be voted on at an election to be held about Apr. 19, prior to the regular spring elections, ASUO President Art Johnson stated.

Law Students Prepare Briefs For Court Case

Law students were working Wednesday and Thursday on their briefs to present to the Judiciary Committee in their contention that the ASUO student court is not properly constituted to fine students for traffic violations.

No further comment was heard from the law students, who protested when the case of a law major was brought before the student tribunal Tuesday.

A car belonging to the student, John C. Caldwell, and his wife was claimed to have been illegally parked on the campus. The car had no student registration sticker.

The court was set up by the ASUO Executive Council last spring under authority delegated by the Office of Student Affairs to judge and fine student traffic violators.

Student traffic cases were previously handled in the office of Director of Men's Affairs Vergil S. Fogdall.

"The avenue of appeal from the student court to Mr. Fogdall is still open if the students are not satisfied as to the authority of the student court," Director of Student Affairs Donald M. DuShane commented last night.

In general, rules and regulations of the University are established by the faculty or by agents on behalf of the faculty, he explained.

The Director of Men's Affairs is a member, and thus an agent, of the Faculty Disciplinary Committee. Authority was delegated from his office to the ASUO Executive Council to set up the court last spring.

Inside Today . . .

Beaux Arts Ball	3
Baseball, Track	4
Campus Lighting	5
Tri-Delt Award	6
Campus Vodville	6
University Singers	7

Classes-or-Registration Conflict

Random Sampling of Student, Faculty Opinion Shows Improvement of Present System Needed

A random sampling of student and faculty opinion regarding holding classes the same day as registration disclosed a large majority of 37 persons contacted felt there was room for improvement.

Among 28 students, 21 were against classes and registration the same day. Seven felt there was nothing wrong with the system.

Of nine professors who expressed opinions, only one felt that the existing system was satisfactory.

Vacation Status Quo

According to the academic calendar planned for next year, spring vacation will remain short and reg-

Water to Refill Millrace Today

Water will start refilling the Millrace today after three months of dryness, thus signalling the return of spring canoeing.

The water has been held back to permit construction of the foundations for the University's new heating plant. Work is now sufficiently progressed to allow the headgates to open.

Organizations on the campus area are urged by City Manager Orin L. King to clear their sections of the streambed.

WSSF Drive Drops Behind, Dodds Asserts

"This is the student's drive, it's up to us to make it a success," Willy Dodds, co-chairman of the World Student Service Fund campaign, said Thursday night.

With the drive entering its fifth and final day, contributions were definitely lagging. Dodds stated that last-minute donations should be given to house representatives before tonight.

"We had hoped we could top last year's drive when approxi-

Auction Set at 4 Today

The WSSF auction gets underway at 4 p. m. today in front of the College Side with 15 girls from both Kappa Alpha Theta and Pi Beta Phi and 15 boys from Sigma Phi Epsilon as the prize merchandise. Their table-waiting services will go to the highest bidder.

Curt Finch and his pep band and short skits by the Pi Phis and Theta will afford entertainment. Miscellaneous items such as slide rules and rainhats will be auctioned also.

Representatives from houses will take part in the bidding.

"Ately $1,000 was raised," Dodds stated. An additional $500 was added to the total in 1949 from the All-Campus Vodvil.

Ann Darby, collections chairman, reported that milk bottles will be left in the Co-op until noon Saturday in order that all contributions may be turned in. Money will be counted Saturday afternoon.

Faculty envelopes will be picked up again today, Miss Darby announced. Thus far, she said, faculty response to the drive has been quite good. She also expressed her appreciation to the house representatives and captains for the job they have done throughout the stration will proceed the same as it was this year.

(Please turn to page six)

Faculty members were in accord with students in voicing the opinion that spring vacation was too short.

F. R. Lacy, professor of law, said that because of the high mortality rate in law school, time should be given to get grades to students before returning to school.

"There is no reason for the short spring vacation," he continued. "Students should be given enough time to get a job lined up before summer vacation."

One sophomore student decided that "as long as we have to get started, we might as well use the first day to begin classes."

Not Feasible

In the Philosophy Department, one of the professors stated he might get arrested if he said exactly what he felt about registration this spring term. But he did think that the plan of having registration and classes on the same day was definitely not feasible and completely disagreeable to both students and faculty.

Many of the teachers definitely felt that too much time was being

(Please turn to page eight)