Public Service Grants Open

Five fellowships of $1800 to $2250 in citizen leadership and public administration will be granted to graduate students for 12 to 15 months of a combined academic and work training program this year.

Academic courses prescribed to the student's individual needs may be taken at Michigan State College, the University of Michigan, or Wayne University. The courses will lead to the degree of Master of Public Administration or its equivalent.

Field training is provided by the Bureau of Government Research in citizen agencies and public offices all over the nation.

The fellowships are administered under the auspices of the National Training School for Public Service.

Further information is available at the office of Karl W. Onthank, graduate placement director, 216 Emerald Hall.

Frosh Dance Cancelled Again; Vote on Substitute Set Today

The Frosh Glee, one-time traditional freshman dance, has been called off for the second year in a row. Two suggestions for a replacement, on Apr. 22, will be voted upon by freshmen today.

This was the substance of what freshmen were told at a class meeting Monday by President Don Denning. He reported that although the class as a whole favors holding the glee, because of past losses the dance will not be held this year. This decision was made at a meeting of class officers with ASUO President Art Johnson.

Freshmen were asked to vote today by living organizations upon their preference of the following two possibilities, suggested at yesterday's meeting:

A Sadie Hawkins-type dance at Swimmers' Delight which would include afternoon activities and the dance in the evening; or an afternoon picnic, also at Swimmers' Delight, which would include square dancing, auctioning of box lunches, and entertainment, with organizations to be paired by a drawing held beforehand.

Results of the vote by the freshmen in the various houses should be turned in by 5 p. m. today to Denning at Beta Theta Pi, or Vice-President Don Paillette at Campbell Club.

Petitions for general chairmanship and for work on whichever alternative is chosen were also called for. They should be turned in to Secretary Jackie Wilkes at Sigma Kappa or Treasurer Helen Jackson at Highland House by Thursday at 5 p. m.

Phi Theta Award Applications Today

Sophomore women wishing to apply for one of the annual Phi Theta Upsilon scholarships, to be awarded this term, may now obtain applications from the Office of Women's Affairs in Emerald Hall.

The scholarships are paid for out of proceeds earned by the junior women's honorary from various projects throughout the year, according to Phi Theta President Ruth Landry. Last year two scholarships of $75 and one of $50 were awarded.

Awarding of the scholarships will be based on scholarship and need. Applications should be filed at the Office of Women's Affairs by May 1.

Radio Program Initiation Stunt For Honorary

A program labeled by its producers as "one of the most unusual radio shows ever to be heard" will be presented tonight at 11 p. m. over Don Porter's "Swing Soiree" program over KUGN.

Authored by Jack Vaughn, senior in speech, the program is part of the initiation ceremony for the ten pledges of radio honorary Kappa Rho Omicron. The show is entitled "An Ode to Roger Dangerfield." Vaughn refuses to call his brainchild a drama, terming it instead a "thing" for radio.

Pledges of KRO taking part in the presentation include Dick Zarnes, narrator; Ken Neal, Roger Dangerfield; Martha Stapleton, a waitress; and Bob M. Roberts, announcer. A chorus of voices dissimilar to anything used by the Greeks will consist of Ivan Hoyer and Glenn Gillespie. Janet Harris will supply ukelele accompaniment, and Bob Chapman is in charge of sound effects. Elmarie Wendel will direct the entire production.

Concert Series Slates Craighead To Play Finale

The last of the Chamber Concert series this year will feature Organist David Craighead at 8:15 p. m. Thursday in the Music School Auditorium.

Craighead, a member of the Occidental College faculty, began his musical career in a mausoleum when he was thirteen years old. Unable to find an organ on which to practice in his home town of Santa Ana, Calif., he was finally offered the use of a mausoleum organ by a mortician friend.

Every day, after school, young Craighead tiptoed into the funeral parlor for several hours of practice.

In 1942, the organist entered Curtis Institute, Philadelphia. In 1946 he was awarded a bachelor of music degree.

Craighead's program will include works by Bach, Willan, Honnegger, Messiaen, and Mozart. Admission will be by season tickets or tickets purchased at the door of the auditorium.
