Vodvil Acts Add Talent To Program

Sixteen acts of the best talent of Oregon will be only part of the All-Campus Vodvil Friday night when it gets underway at 8 p.m. in McArthur Court.

Added to the show, which last year attracted 1,700 students, faculty members, and towns people to the Igloo, will be a 16-piece band, singing and dancing Hawaiians, and between-act entertainment to keep the Vodvil moving.

Students Donate Time

With everything from a piano to a bongo, the band, directed by Gene Zarones, has been especially organized for the Vodvil. The musicians are all students, who are donating their services for this event. They will play before the show starts and during intermission.

Special song arrangements will be featured, Zarones said. Among these will be "Reed Rapture," as played by Stan Kenton, spotlighting the saxophone and rhythm

The three top acts selected in eliminations last night will be heard on Don Porter's program tonight. The program will be at 10:30 p. m. over station KUGN.

section. "Goosey Gander," in the Woody Herman vein, and "Blue," in Les Brown style will also be on the program. Several original numbers are being rehearsed, Zarones stated.

Among the band personnel are John Roark, who was formerly with Stan Kenton, and Dave Wright, who has played with Bobby Sherwood. Bongo man is Frank Wright.

Zarones, whose past experience includes playing with Ted Hallock in 1946 and with Joe Ingram's combo in 1947, has had his own dance band for the past two years. In the Navy he led one of the fleet entertainment bands.

Hawaiians to Play

Eight members of Hui-O-Kamaaina, Hawaiian club, will provide entertainment during the judging of acts at the end of the show. Combining playing and singing, they will start off their program with "Hawaii Calls," followed by "Macella."

A solo number by Margo Spangler, "U'Iani," and the hulu by Julie Beth Perkins are next on the schedule. More group singing will be featured in "Kiss Me Love." George Kehuna will give a ukulele solo before the program is concluded with "Hanani," a solo by George Henrickson.

Others who will be playing and singing are Stanley Hargrave, Armand Smith, and Tex Hays. Their instruments include the uke, two guitars, the bass, drums, and the moraccas. Master of ceremonies will be Bob Melim. Director is Kihei Brown.

Throughout the Vodvil, between-act entertainment is being planned. There will be songs by Joe Richards, Don Eastburn, and Tom Gurney, and possibly a magician will be on hand, Gay Baldwin, who is arranging the acts, said. Jack Faustus is assisting Baldwin.

Grade Wait Causes Late Dorm Moving

Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, director of dormitories, said Tuesday that changes in dormitory rooming were started late this term because it was necessary to wait for grade reports.

The dormitory office this week has been changing students' rooming in order to fill the rooms to capacity and close the vacant ones in the dorms.

She explained that it was necessary to make sure that students would remain in school before the changes were made. For example, she said, six dormitory residents dropped out of school Tuesday.

Definite statistics on the number of rooming changes actually made will be available later this week, she said.

IDC Resolutions State Objection To Living Plan

The Inter-Dormitory Council last night passed a resolution expressing its disapproval of the new living arrangements for University dorms.

The Council appointed a committee of three to draft the resolution to be sent to Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, director of dormitories.

The motion was passed after a lengthy discussion on how much good would come of such a resolution. Some of the Council members felt that the time had passed for it to take action to modify the dorm living for this year. The motion was passed, however, on the basis that the resolution would include suggestions on any extension of the program into next year.

The Council expressed its objections to "tripling" in rooms next year without reduction of fees.

Although the question of the Inter-Fraternity Council motion proposing a renewal of fall term rushing was raised, the IDC took no action.

Reserve Corps to Meet

The Navy and Marine Air Reserve Corps will meet at 8 tonight at the Navy-Marine Reserve Training Center, 1520 13th St. W.

The meeting is open to all former Navy and Marine personnel.

Leighton Noble Piano, Orchestra Due Friday

Piano-playing Leighton Noble and his orchestra will appear at Willamette Park Friday from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Noble has created a new style of dance music which he bases on "tone color" in his arrangements. Featured with the band is the Noble Trio, a vocal group which lends itself to the basic style of Noble's music. Leighton Noble is not only pianist for the band but also vocalist.

Noble's orchestra experience began when he organized his own band his freshman year in high school. He started professionally in music with Hal Grayson and his orchestra.

'Weekend' Plans Progress As Float Pairings Made; Queen Contestants Named

Finalists Due Tonight From 28 Candidates

Twenty-eight candidates for Junior Weekend queen have been named by their living organizations.

Finalists—probably eight in number—will be selected tonight at 7 in Gerlinger Alumni Hall, according to co-chairman Betty Wright. All candidates should be present at that time, in heels.

Five Judges Named

Judges at tonight's elimination will be Cal Smith of Penney's; Hart Larsen, owner of Hart Larsen's store; Dean Sidney W. Little of the School of Architecture and Allied Arts; Mrs. W. A. Dahlberg, wife of Speech Professor Wallace Dahlberg; and Mrs. Youngstrom of the Bu Tik.

Miss Wright, co-chairman of queen selection, stated that the

Oregana Sale Begins at Co-op

The final 100 copies of the 1950 Oregana will go on sale this morning at the University Co-op, Jim Sanders, business manager, announced Monday.

Students may reserve copies anytime between Wednesday and Friday afternoon for $6.

Because of the increased demand for the Oregana last fall at registration, 4200 copies, 200 more than last year, were printed, Sanders stated. The majority of the 100 remaining books were reserved by students who later dropped from school and failed to complete payment on their reservation.

Students knowing of Oregana purchasers not in school this term who will want their books mailed to them upon publication, around May 20, are asked by Sanders to take or send the mailing address to the Student Union office, across from the University Infirmary.

Canoe Fete Fame Remains in Seattle

The Canoe Fete, which still remains only a memory for this generation of Oregon students, is still enjoying some degree of its past fame.

From a Seattle yacht club came an inquiry Tuesday on the possibility of duplicating the Canoe Fete in a Washington celebration in August.

Lyle Nelson, director of information, plans to send the club pictures and history of the former Junior Weekend event, but, as he said, he must "sadly inform them that there is no canoe fete at Oregon now."

Higher Boards To Get Appeal Of Law Student

A motion by John C. Caldwell, third-year law student, to set aside his case until constitutionality of the ASUO Student Court could be determined, was denied by the court last night.

Caldwell, who was fined for illegal parking on the campus, said he and Dale F. McKenzie, also a third-year law student, would appeal the case.

Caldwell appeared before the court last week, along with McKenzie, and posted bail pending further decision on his plea that the student court has no legal jurisdiction over student traffic violations.

After being denied further postponement of his case until the legality of the court could be determined, Caldwell presented a written statement admitting the stated facts of the case to be true.

However, Caldwell and McKenzie will submit a petition prepared by themselves and other law students to the ASUO Executive Council and to the Office of Student Affairs. The petition will question certain matters involving the ASUO constitution.

Caldwell said his grounds of appeal to the two administrative bodies would be based on:

1. The fact that there are not

Miss Fashion Plate Pictures in Co-op

Pictures of Oregon's 10 "Miss Fashion Plate" candidates will be on display in the Co-op today. Taken by Miller Studios, Eugene, they are 8 by 10 inches and in color.

Students may cast ballots for their candidates today, Thursday, and Friday at a Co-op booth, which will be open from 10 a. m. to 12 p. m. and from 1 to 4 p. m.

To vote, students must present student body cards and a ballot clipped from Tuesday's Emerald, page 5.

Themes Due Tuesday; Regulations Explained

Twenty-three floats, each symbolizing a song title, will take part in this year's Junior Weekend float parade May 13. The Junior Weekend theme is "Melody Magic."

Living organizations were paired and float parade rules explained at a Tuesday meeting according to co-chairman Jim Hershner. All song-title themes for the floats must be turned in to co-chairman Will Urban at Phi Delta Theta by next Tuesday. Duplications will be eliminated by drawing.

Judging basis was announced as follows: Originality; neatness; effort in construction; and how the float carries out the theme of the song. A maximum of $30 may be spent on the floats.

Froshto Replace Glee with Picnic

Freshmen decided to replace their once-traditional Frosh Glee with a picnic in a living organization vote taken Tuesday, Jackie Wilkes, freshman class secretary, reported Tuesday night.

Two suggestions were voted upon—the picnic and a Sadie Hawkins-type dance. The picnic will be held Apr. 22 at a place not yet determined.

Petitions for the affair are due by 5 p. m. today to Miss Wilkes at Sigma Kappa or Helen Jackson at Highland House. Chairmanships open include:

General chairman, food, entertainment, rally, publicity, promotion, transportation, chaperones, clean-up, and tickets.
