Cougar-Duck Fencing Here

By PHIL JOHNSON

Something new has been added! The ancient pastime of fencing has returned to the Pacific Northwest. University of Oregon Swimming Coach John Borchardt has made arrangements for an informal fencing meet between his physical education class duelists and a rival band from Washington State College.

The skirmish, which is scheduled for Saturday, will take place either in McArthur Court or in one of the Physical Education Building gymnasiums.

The Cougar fencers will travel with Jack Mooberry's WSC trackmen, who will battle Oregon in a dual meet Saturday.

According to Coach Borchardt, the fencing meet will be strictly informal. No championships will be at stake, but the fencers are expected to wage a lively battle.

Pass Plays Get Stress From Aiken

Coach Jim Aiken worked his Spring football Ducks through a hard play-polishing scrimmage yesterday, with a let up on body contact in the backfield.

Passing plays were scrimmaged thoroughly, according to Line Coach Buster McClure. Most of the running plays were practiced through the standing posts, to lessen body contact.

Aiken's passing system is coming along quite satisfactorily, McClure said after yesterday's workout. Aiken and Assistant Coach Jerry Lillie were unavailable for comment last night. Both mentors went south to Drain for an engagement.

Williams Shaping Up

Two outstanding offensive ends are dominating that position. At the left wing, Jake Williams is finally showing what was expected of him, McClure stated. The big ex-Frosh star had a little trouble assimilating himself to varsity ball, but is now coming along fast.

At the right end spot, Dick Daugherty, shifted from defensive line backer, is leading the list of candidates. Daugherty, while not overly fast, is nevertheless a fair pass catcher and an exceptional offensive blocker.

"Daugherty adds punch to our line-up," McClure commented. He also named Monte Brethauer as a likely candidate to follow Williams at the left wing position.

On defense, three men have been outstanding among the multitude of linemen, McClure asserted. Delmar Clements, Harold Simmons, and Don Eldart are still hustling on top of the pile.

Emery Effective

Defensive ends at the present are Wayne Johnson and Emery Barnes. Few offensive blockers seem to be able to unseat the big Emery when he is determined to stop a play. Aiken commented a few days ago that, while Barnes' style is a bit unorthodox, it is certainly effective.

In the offensive line, Bob Anderson, veteran letterman at end, is turning in the best work as right tackle at the present.

In the backfield, since Bill Fell has given up heavy workouts to devote full time to his track duties, Aiken is faced with the job of finding a left half who knows all the plays.

Playing in that spot now is Tommy Edwards from Klamath Falls, Edwards ran from that position on the 1948 Frosh team. McClure said yesterday that he is "coming along" very well. Wayne Parsons is also putting in time at the left half position.

At fullback, Ron Lyman, converted halfback, drew top ratings from McClure. Tom Lyons has been shifted for the present to the right half spot. Bobo Moore and Jerry Peckover are also promising in the line-bucking role.

Earl Stelle, Leo Gilnet, and Hal Dunham are still standing in that order at the quarterback position.

Oregon-Idaho Baseball at 3; Netmen meet Willamette

Junior Varsity Racqueteers vs Corvallis Here

Oregon's varsity and junior varsity tennis squads are scheduled to swing into competition today, with the varsity engaging Willamette University in a match at Salem and the JV's playing host to the Corvallis High Spartans on the Emerald street courts.

Coach Robeson Bailey's six-man traveling team includes Tom MacDonald, Cameron Thom, Dan Cudahy, Bob Mensor, George Boyd, and Bill Williams.

In its two pre-season contests thus far, the Webfoot varsity has blasted both the Eugene Tennis Club and Portland University. This will be its last match before it opens Northern Division play against Idaho here Friday.

JV Something New

The Willamette Bearcats are also unbeaten, having edged Linfield in their first start. Among their players are four returning lettermen—Cece Connors, Ray McCoy, Howie Lorenz, and Al Miles.

Meanwhile, the JV's, something new in Oregon athletic history, take on Corvallis on the local courts.

The JV squad is composed of Jerry Barde, Fred Zolezzi, Merv Englund, Herb Chin, Martin Meadows, and Gerry Berreman. The encounter will be its first of the season.

Duck Pitcher Not Yet Named; Idaho Winless

The touring Idaho Vandals make their second Valley stop this afternoon, as they take on Don Kirsch's Webfoots in a baseball game scheduled for 3:00 p.m. at Howe field.

Both teams will be looking for their first victory in Northern Division competition. Oregon was beaten twice by Washington State over the weekend, while Idaho was suffering a like fate up in Seattle. Another pair of losses was added to the Vandal skein as they bowed twice to Oregon State up in Corvallis.

Stallworth and Pritchett at Bat

A couple of basketball stars provide the batting attack for Idaho. They are Nick "Slats" Stallworth, and Bob Pritchett, no strangers to McArthur Court visitors. Stallworth, who is built on the order of a flagpole, plays shortstop and bats in the number five spot. Vandal clean-up hitter is first-base-man Pritchett.

Probable lineup for the Idaho team will see Tobe Massingill at second base, Hal Hunter in left field, Rod Grider in right, Bob Pritchett at first base, Nick Stallworth at short, Merrill or Darnell will be behind the plate.

Don Kirsch's starting pitcher remains a mystery. He has a choice of going with Mel Krause who has a four day rest, Jim Hanns who has not seen league action, or DeWayne Johnson who retired after four innings on Saturday. The infield will be the same as that which were against the Cougars unless Don Kimball's leg allows him to go back to third. The outfield will be drawn from Dewayne "Mouse" Owens, John Jones, Ray Stratton, Dick Salter, and Joe Tom.

WSC Track Meet Set for Saturday; Time Trials Today

Time trials are on the docket for Oregon's track team today in preparation for the Washington State College dual meet here Saturday.

Bill Bowerman's squad should be at full strength, with the possible exception of distance man Jack Hutchins, who has a slightly sore leg.

Art Backlund, Bowerman's other star distancer, is still showing traces of a cold which slowed him down last week at Idaho, where he finished third in the mile race.

Bill Fell, who didn't make the Idaho run, will be present and ready for the sprints against the Cougars, WSC has its ever-tough-cinder squad again this year. The Cougars are figured to be among the toughest competition in the Northern Division.

No IMs for Week

Softball intramural action takes a holiday for a week due to varsity baseball and track competition. However, intramural tennis and golf will go on as scheduled. It is imperative that entries in these sports notify Everett Peery at the intramural office immediately following each contest.

With the platoon system, why not have football players train for the bowl games by mingling with holiday shopping crowds?

Minturn, Lambda Chi, Kappa Sigs, Chi Psi, Phi Delts, Sigma Nu Win

Hits, runs, errors, wild pitches, double plays, and everything conceivable happened in Tuesday's IM softball circus.

Wins were registered by Minturn, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Delta Theta, Chi Psi, Kappa Sigma, and Sigma Nu.

Minturn hitters rapped out a 14-0 win while teammate chucker, Ken Edwards, was limiting the Delta Upsilon crew to one safe blow.

Bill Hilliard's triple, Dave Van Zandt's single, and Bill Mellin's single coupled with an error and a fielder's choice gave the dormitory nine their first two markers in the initial inning.

A walk, an error, singles by Mellin and Van Zandt, and a home run by Dude Rose added five more runs to the total.

In the big seventh inning Louie Santos opened with a round-tripper to left-center field. Two walks, three errors, a single by Mellin, and a double by Edwards added six more runs to complete the scoring.

Lambda Chi Strikes

An eight run barrage in the first inning was the bulge that gave Lambda Chi Alpha a 17-8 win over McChesney Hall.

Three walks, an error, a single by Ken Beers, and doubles by Bill Davis (2), John Doolittle, and Jim Crakes produced the plate denters in this inning.

A triple by Doolittle, a single by Dick Kremmel, a base on balls and an error produced two more runs in the second inning.

McChesney struck back in the bottom half of the second inning when two walks, an error, a triple by Dick Michael, and a single by Cameron Stewart accounted for three runs.

Lambda Chi roared back into their run-making ways in the top half of the third by scoring two runs on a walk and singles by Rod Neal and Doolittle.

McChesney tallied their final five runs of the evening on four walks, an error, and a single by Michael.

Lambda Chi added five to the marathon in the sixth inning on a walk, a triple by Neal, a double by Davis, Brunsen's single, and a hit by pitch.

Phi Delts Win in Walk

Phi Delta Theta literally walked away from Pi Kappa Phi with a 15-0 breather.

Two walks and a single by Bud Covey produced two runs in the first inning.

Singles by Lou Urban, Jack Keller, Covey, and Bill Teuffel opened the second inning barrage. Three walks and two home runs by Brad Fullerton and Keller added the finishing touches to a ten run parade.

Will Urban singled, stole second, and came all the way around on an overthrow in the fourth inning.

Singles by Urban, Keller, and Lavey added the final three runs in the fifth inning.

The Philadelphia House-Chi Psi meeting was the tightest ball game of the afternoon.

The game went over the time limit before a 3-3 deadlock was broken.

Philadelphia house hit first in the sixth inning with a single by Harold Long and a double by Jim Cummins.

Chi Psi Wins

In the bottom half of the sixth inning Chi Psi retaliated. Two men walked; a double steal put them on second and third respectively.

Charlie Strader singled one run in. John Elorriaga's high bouncing infield hit sent the winning and tie-breaking run across and gave Chi Psi a 5-4 win.

In the early innings Philadelphia had tallied three runs on two errors and four walks.

Chi Psi had tied up the ball game in the fourth inning on two walks and singles by Bob Maxwell and Bob Hurtic.

All the explosion came in two innings when Kappa Sigma topped ATO 3-0.

Two walks, an error, two fielders' choices, and a single by Bill Clauson accounted two runs.

The final run was registered in the third inning on two walks and two errors.
