

U.O. Faculty Changes Hours Requirement For School Majors

Majors in all professional schools will be required to take a minimum of 62 hours in upper-division courses to receive the bachelor's degree, as a result of action taken at a University faculty meeting Wednesday.

Degree requirements previously stated that only 45 upper-division hours were necessary for professional school majors. The requirement for other majors remains at 62 hours.

The action was taken to make all degree requirements uniform. Clifford F. Weigle, dean of the journalism school, who presented the motion, explained that when the 45-hour requirement was made, it was probably felt that differences in professional school programs might make conditions for their major unlike those for other students.

Residence Musts Changed

The faculty also:

1. Passed a change in degree requirements making the residence requirement read "45 term hours of the last 60 presented for the degree," rather than "45 hours (normally the last 45)."
2. Clarified requirements for the second bachelor's degree.
3. Elected six faculty members to serve on the 1950-51 advisory Council.
4. Defeated a motion making deans ineligible for election to the Advisory Council.

Present practice requires any student who has not taken his last 45 hours on the Oregon campus to petition for his degree. The new legislation will make it unnecessary to act on any such exception up to 15 hours of non-resident study.

Petition Not Necessary

Thus if a student takes 45 hours as a resident during his senior year, and his last 15 in correspondence courses, he will not be required to petition for a degree.

Explaining the action on the second bachelor's degree, Mr. Weigle said that there is some question whether there has been any legislation on the matter since the unification of the state system of higher education in 1932.

The faculty voted Wednesday that a second bachelor's degree may be granted, but an additional 36 term hours of credit shall be earned in residence beyond the requirements for the first degree.

Advisory Council Elected

New Advisory Council members elected by the faculty are W. C. Ballaine, professor of business administration; F. A. Cuthbert, professor of landscape architecture; R. R. Huestis, professor of zoology; Orlando J. Hollis, dean of the School of Law; E. H. Moore, head of the sociology department; and Hoyt Trowbridge, professor of English.

The Council acts as an advisory body to University President H. K. Newburn on such matters as appointments to committees, promotions, and general University policies.

Weekend Tickets Available at Co-op

Necessary tickets for three Junior Weekend events are available at the Co-op.

Admission to the All-Campus Sing Friday night will cost 80 cents; tickets to the All-Campus Picnic Saturday will cost everyone 45 cents; and admission to the Junior Prom Saturday night will be $2.40 per couple, with mothers to be admitted free.

Oregana Distribution to Begin At Mac Court Booths Today

More Mystery! Pool Plastered

Tuesday at 9 p.m. a mysterious group armed with waste-paper baskets threaded its way cautiously around Fenton Hall. Its destination was the honored dunking place of Junior Weekend tradition violators.

They dipped the water out methodically, their work interrupted only by occasional retreats caused by the sound of slamming car doors and visiting law students.

After emptying the pool the dauntless band filled the outlets with plaster of paris and clay. Their retreat signified a job well done.

Barry Mountain, junior class prexy, has his own idea of who the culprits are. "It seems the Phi Thetas are busy again; now all they have to do is empty the Mill Race and they'll be safe."

The physical plant has refilled the pool and the dunkings will continue as scheduled, stated Ed Chrobot, traditions chairman for Junior Weekend.

USA Bigwigs Consider Ticket

The United Students Association Steering committee met Wednesday evening to whip their roster of candidates into shape for the forthcoming USA primary election.

The committee, meeting behind closed doors at Highland House, considered petitioners for the top ASUO, class and Executive Council positions.

The names of the petitioners passed upon will not be released until Friday at the USA open primary for the coming ASUO elections, according to John Day, USA president.

The reason for this delay, as explained by Day, is that the committee has not reached a definite decision upon the petitions submitted.

The USA primary will be held at 4 p.m. Friday in 207 Chapman. Petitioners not recommended by the steering committee at the Wednesday meeting can be nominated from the floor if 10 persons second the nomination, Day stated.

The final selection of party candidates will be completed at the Friday meeting when one candidate will be picked to run on the party ticket for each office.

Distribution of the 1950 Oregana begins at 9 a.m. today in McArthur Court.

Members of Kwama, Phi Theta Upsilon, and Alpha Phi Omega service honoraries will hand out the books until 5 p.m. today; from 9 a.m. to 12 noon Friday; and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday.

"The reason for the shorter period on Friday is to avoid a conflict with the All-Campus Sing decorations, who will be using the Court on Friday afternoon, Oregana Editor Larry Davidson said.

Students are requested to enter Mac Court by the doors at the south end, near Howe Field.

Presentation of receipts is not necessary. "However," Davidson commented, "anyone who is dubious about his Oregana payments should have his receipt ready for reference in case a checkup is necessary."

This year's Oregana distribution is the earliest since before the war. The book has been released around the end of May since 1940, with the exception of last year, when a printers' strike pushed publication into late summer.

Lawyer Elections In Tie as Record Vote Recorded

The law school student body pointed with pride Wednesday to the fact that 98.1 per cent of enrollment turned out to the polls in the election of law school student body president.

But they still didn't elect a president.

After the polls were closed, Bill Tassock and Jim Hafey were tied for the position. The third candidate was Vern Gleaves.

The election committee was very careful to point out that the polls were open the exact stipulated time—6 hours and 10 minutes—8:50 a.m. until 3 p.m.

The committee scoffed at the suggestion of keeping the voting going for a couple more minutes to allow the other 1.9 per cent of the student body to vote.

Out of an enrollment of 106 students, 104 voted. A run-off vote will be held Friday between candidates Tassock and Hafey. With political machines in operation, the election committee predicted a 100 per cent turnout.

The position of president is the only elective office in the law student body.

Queen Crowning Friday to Open All-Campus Sing

Three Awards Await Winners, Other Events Set for Evening

Crowning of the 1950 Junior Weekend Queen will mark the beginning of the All-Campus Sing in McArthur Court at 8 p.m. Friday.

Tickets to the Sing are now on sale in the Co-op and will be available at the door Friday night. Price is 80 cents.

The Queen and her four princesses will remain on the throne throughout the Sing, following the coronation by Maj. Gen. Thomas E. Rilea, commanding general of the Oregon State National Guard.

The five members of the Royal Court include Lucille Wright, Sigma Kappa; Mary Lou Bittman, Carson Hall; Nancy Chamberlain, Kappa Alpha Theta; Pat Lakin, Phi Beta Phi; and Gloria Grimson, Alpha Chi Omega.

Twenty Houses Compete

Twenty men's and women's houses will participate in the Sing, with three awards to be presented in each group.

Going to first-place winners for the men and the women will be engraved rotating trophies as well as small permanent awards. Houses winning second and third-place spots will also receive permanent trophies.

Song leaders of first-place choruses will be presented permanent cups.

Judges for the Sing for men's organizations will be Miss Eleanor Tipton of Clark Junior College, Vancouver, Wash., and for the women, Forrest Brigham, of John Rogers High School, Spokane.

Trophies to Winners

The two judges, Sing Chairman Joanne Fitzmaurice and Ann Gilenwaters, adviser, will present the trophies.

Skull and Dagger, sophomore men's service honorary, will tap new members following the 20th song.

House Libraries Judged

The Harpham cup for the best house library will be given and winners in the campus clean-up and Magic Melody contests will be recognized. Prizes in the song contest will be a $25 gift certificate from Laraway's Jewelry, a white Palm Beach dinner jacket donated by Baxter and Henning's, a white Sacony woman's sport suit from Russell's a $10 gift certificate from the Radio Lab, and a record album from Graves Music Store.

'Clean' Campus Gets Underway Today at 4 p.m.

The battle of brooms begins at 4 today when campus living organizations compete in the campus cleanup contest.

House pairings were listed in Wednesday's Emerald, and a map on page 7 today shows sectors to be cleaned as well as living organizations which will clean each area.

Time limit is one hour, between 4 and 5 today, and according to Chairman Jan Hughes, "there aren't any fancy rules, the winning section will simply be the one that's neatest."

Miss Hughes had several other things to say. She said, "Winners in this contest will definitely be rewarded. Large, sturdy, and above all, serviceable trophies will be awarded at the All-Campus Sing Friday night." She also announced that Jerry Kinersly will fill out the roster of judges, which includes herself, Margie Petersen, and Stan Turnbull.

Freshman class presidents in the various living groups were urged to contact their counterparts in the organizations with which they are paired. Questions may be referred to Miss Hughes at Alpha Phi.

Today Last Chance To Request Housing

Tonight is the deadline to make housing reservations for parents for Mothers' and Junior Weekend.

Rooms in Eugene homes may be reserved by calling Carol Udy at Alpha Phi today. Price will be approximately $1.50 per person each night, Miss Udy said.

Tug-o-War Weighing-in Today; Class Presidents Ask Entrants

Black smoke filled the air Wednesday night after exactly no freshmen or sophomores showed up at a meeting scheduled for prospective Tug-o-War entrants, and Freshman and Sophomore Presidents Don Denning and Dick McLaughlin made an urgent appeal to each living group to have its huskiest underclassmen at the Co-op today at 4:30 for "weighing-in."

Extremely disappointed at Wednesday's "no show," they emphasized the importance of all burly frosh and soph—190 pounds and up—showing up at the Co-op this afternoon, at which time evenly-balanced teams will be selected for the very traditional Tug-o-War. The Tug-o-War itself will be at 4:30 p.m. Friday at the bridge over the Millrace near the Kappa Sigma fraternity house.

Today's weighing-in will be conducted by beauteous co-eds, they promised. It was asked that the underclassmen report in swimming trunks to be weighed-in on a king-size set of balance scales. Attendance by the student body at both weighing-in and "finals" was earnestly solicited.

The Friday final event will be attended by class bands and cheering sections. An added goal for freshmen is that if they win the Tug-o-War they will be excused from wearing rooster's lids Saturday.
