25 TNE Members Put on Probation

TNE has been broken on the University campus. Twenty-five men students, admitted members of Theta Nu Epsilon, secret illegal society, have been placed on probation for the rest of their college days at the University, school officials announced Monday afternoon.

Officials announced at the same time that a campus TNE chapter has been "thoroughly and completely exposed and broken." No list of members' names has been or will be released.

Co-op Receipts Due Thursday

Thursday is the last day to turn in Co-op Cash-register slips for the regular yearly patronage refund.

Manager of the Co-op, G. L. Henson announced that no envelopes containing receipts will be accepted after Thursday's closing hours. The color of the cash-register tape will be changed Thursday night, so there is no reason for any customers to wait to pile up more slips.

Last year the patronage refund was 10-percent of all cash-register receipts turned in, and it is hoped that the same percentage can be given this year. After all receipts have been turned in, the Co-op Board will decide upon the percentage of refund and will make the announcement after June 1.

All Co-op members who turn in their envelopes and tabulated receipts can pick up their cash rebate beginning June 5. Henson requested that all rebates be picked up in person before the end of the term to avoid book-keeping difficulties in writing checks and mailing refunds.

Weather . . .

Fair and a little warmer today and Wednesday. High today, 72; low, 44. High Monday was 69.

An extensive investigation of the situation by the Office of Student Affairs under the direction of Donald M. DuShane preceded the announcement.

All TNE members signed affidavits admitting their affiliation with the illegal society, according to DuShane. Also in the hands of the administration are membership cards, a copy of the society's ritual, shingles—small certificates of membership, and other "pertinent information."

Election Review: Withdrawals, Riots Boltings Mark Wild Campaign Week

The battle cry of the 1950 spring term elections might very well be "Wha' Happened!"

One week of the most confused, startling, and hectic campaigning in campus annals left the student body with hardly enough strength to go to the polls Monday. And there they found the "Spirit of 1950" carried through in ballots which were already outdated, because some of the candidates listed weren't running anymore.

The campaign was enlivened with all the 19th century political trappings of charges and counter-

'I'm Surprised,' Says Mountain, New President

By KEN METZLER

Barry Mountain, newly elected ASUO president, sandwiched enough time between fraternity tubbings and an impromptu USA celebration at the Alpha Tau Omega house to say he was "a little surprised."

"These things are always a little uncertain," he commented. That was even before he had dried himself off from the tubbing he had received from his fraternity brothers, at the ATO house.

It was an eventful evening for the newly-elected ASUO president who beat second place Herb Nil by only 166 votes. After he had gotten the water out of his ears he said the first thing to do is to reorganized student spirit at the University of Oregon. He wants a rally squad that the University can be proud of and that will be known all over the state and the nation.

About Theta Nu Epsilon, the secret fraternity, he said "I hope everyone will let bygones be bygones. We're starting out with a clean slate now."

For the third successive year the United Students Association copped the number one and two ASUO positions, receiving the student nod for ASUO top executive spots next year.

USA Candidate Barry Mountain emerged from student body elections Monady as top man in the race for ASUO president with 1084 votes, winning over Herb Nil, non-partisan candidate, whose tally counted 918.

USA Running Mate Eve Overback edged into the number two position with a 90-vote margin over AGS candidate Joanne Fitzmaurice, who polled 613 votes.

Associated Greek Students candidates stepped into the major class offices and the yell king position by narrow margins, awarding them the class executive spots in the coming year.

A narrow margin of 10 votes put Steve Church, AGS, into the number one spot of the senior class. Church polled 221 votes, winning over Bob Pearce, who polled 211.

USA candidate Anne Goodman received the nod for number three senior position with 259 votes, topping Florence Hansen, AGS, who polled 208 tallies.

Vernon Beard slipped into the top junior position on a six-vote margin as he received 330 tallies to 324 for Willie Dodds. Shirley Hillard topped Donna Buse in a race for secretary. Official tabulations for secretary were not available to the Emerald before press time Monday night.

Voting Resumes For Constitution 3 Booths Open

Although most of the political furor has died down, three polling booths will remain open today and Wednesday for voting on the proposed new ASUO constitution.

If approved, the instrument will go into effect for spring elections next year.

Booths will be open in the library and on 13th St. between Fenton and Friendly Halls, and between the Co-op and Condon Hall.

Poll books will be marked with a different color of pencil today and Wednesday to avoid confusion with Monday's officers election. The same poll books are being used for all three days.

The constitutional election was set for three days by the ASUO Executive Council in an attempt to insure that 50 per cent of the student body would cast ballots for or against the document.

A two-thirds affirmative vote of 50 per cent of the student body is required for approval of the new constitution. The 50 per cent mark was reached after three days of voting in April, but the election was declared invalid by the ASUO Judiciary Committee because the Council had extended the election after the polls had been opened.

The committee stated, however, that it felt that a three-day election would be legal if so announced in advance.

Oregans Still Available

Unclaimed copies of the 1950 Oregana are now available at the Student Union office, on the first floor of the Erb Memorial building across from the infirmary.

Questions about orders will be answered at the office.
