University Students to Have Free Access to Library Stacks

University Library stacks will be open to all students this year, as part of arrangements inaugurated with the completion of a new $750,000 building addition.

The University library will be open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. every day except Sunday through Sept. 24 and 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. Sept. 25.

Beginning Sept. 26 hours will be 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. Monday through Thursday, 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. Friday, 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. Saturday, and 2 to 9 p. m. Sunday.

Being able to roam at will through the stacks will be a new experience for University students. Formerly, stack permits were required.

Books will be arranged in the open stacks by subject divisions, such as humanities, social science, and science.

Part of the first and all of the second level of the three-story addition will house social science, with humanities located on the third level. Other stack decks will contain science division books.

Ramp Connects Floors

A ramp will connect floor levels in the new addition to stacks of the original building.

The addition contains an elevator, as well as fluorescent lighting, air-conditioning, modern furniture, and special equipment.

Completion of the addition will give the Library 82 percent more space and allow housing of 135,000 more books.

Basement Rooms

New basement rooms will contain the Audio-visual department. Space will be provided for two projection or recording studios, two darkrooms, two rooms for viewing slides, and large storage and service areas.

A new Douglass room will house 13 listening booths, records, turntables with earphones, and adjoining listening rooms.

Government documents and general periodicals will be added to the Reference room, which will continue to contain general reference books.

Space occupied by the Adelaide Church Memorial Room, the contents of which have been moved to the Student Union, will now be used as a newspaper room and study hall.

Technical services, such as cataloging, will be carried on in first floor rooms in the addition.

Union Memorial To Donald Erb

It was at memorial services for Mr. Erb that Mrs. Beatrice Walton Sackett, then vice-president of the State Board of Higher Education, suggested that if the University ever builds a student union it be named after Donald Erb.

It was during his years as President, and largely through his efforts, that the University regained its science department. The University was close to losing accreditation because it had no science, when President Erb convinced the State Board to return science to Oregon. It was his belief that no university was a complete university unless it had basic science courses as well as basic liberal arts.

The name Erb and the University are pretty inseparable. After President Erb's death, his widow returned to the University community and is now secretary in the English department.

The interior decorating was handled by Dan Cooper, nationally famous decorator, who was on the campus last week to personally supervise finishing touches.

Dedication ceremonies for the Erb Memorial Building will be held Nov. 3, with Porter Butts, Dean of Student Union directors and director of the Union at the University of Wisconsin, as main speaker.

University and State officials will also be present at the formal ceremonies. About 2500 persons will receive invitations to attend the dedication.

Be as careful of the books you read, as of the company you keep; for your habits and character will be as much influenced by the former as by the latter.

Musicians Name Allton Governor

New governor of the Northwestern province of the men's national professional music fraternity, Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, is Donald W. Allton, professor of organ and music theory.

Replacing Allton as faculty adviser to the University chapter is Milton Dieterich, professor of cello.

Allton played a prominent part in the reactivating of the University chapter after World War II. He has been connected with the fraternity since his undergraduate days.

His appointment as Northwestern governor is for a continuing term.

2 Million Building

union this week. Student Union hours have been tentatively set for 7:30 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. weekdays, 12 midnight Friday, and possibly 1 a. m. Saturdays. Williams indicated that this schedule will be subject to change according to student convenience.

The Hello Dance will be the first all-campus event in the building. It is scheduled for Saturday night.

Most of the student union services will be available today and Monday, but several services will begin at a later date.

The cafeteria line will "most likely begin operation later in the week," according to Foods Director Ruth Coffey. But a brisk business is expected at the Soda fountain—in shakes, cokes, sodas, sandwiches, and hamburgers—today.

Training Program

"We'll open the cafeteria when we can give good food and give good service," Miss Coffey explained. "When we serve food, we'll serve it right."

Miss Coffey has been supervising an employee training program for her 21 full-time employees this past year. 30 student employees received similar instruction Friday and Saturday.

Paper-plate service will be offered to students who want their milk shakes, etc., in a 3rd floor office, basement ping-pong room, or any part of the building. Students will have to come to the fountain to pick up their orders, the foods director explained. Delivery service may be arranged later in the year.

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE — Practically new Smith-Corona portable typewriter Sterling model, $79.50. Ph. 5-7662. After 5:30 phone 41178.

Singers Schedule Meeting Times

The University Singers, a 40-voice mixed chorus, meets this year in the Choral Room of the New Music building at 3 p. m. on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays.

Tryouts will take place from the Choral Union, so those interested in this group should tryout and register for Choral Union first.

Beside home and campus concerts, this group takes a state tour in the spring, which will be along the coast this year.

Students who have been in high school vocal groups or had experience in other college groups are invited to tryout.

Oregana Orders Start Wednesday

Orders for the Oregana, University yearbook, will be taken beginning Wednesday.

Full payment for the $6 book may be made at registration, or purchasers may pay $3 at registration and $3 from their breakage fee.
