Monday, October 2, 1950

tion. Very low rates. Fast progress. Room 72, Barrister Inn. 15

(Continued from page one)

shortage of trucks and other motor-

The Third division crossed the line approximately fifteen minutes before General MacArthur's ultimatum to the North Korean government was broadcast from four powerful army transmitters in Tokyo and the restored civilian ra-

The question whether Korea's unification could come without further bloodshed depended upon

Kim Il Sung, North Korean premier and supreme commander, and his field commander, Gen. Choi Yung

The question remained unan-

Prior to the dramatic broadcast of MacArthur's message in Korea,

Red Premier Kim Il Sung sent a message to Communist China's leader, Mao Tze-tung, that North Koreans were "firmly resolved to continue the fight to ultimate victory-under support of the Chinese

Premier Barks

mier Chou En-lai in a bristling 11,- 000 word speech observing the first anniversary of the Peiping Red re agely invaded by imperialists."

a gesture ... only barking."

ment was dismissed by the chair-who returned from raids on North Korea Saturday reported seeing at least 22 North Korean planes including possibly six new jet fighters. They also reported the most intensive anti-aircraft fire of the war in the vicinity of Pyongyans, Red capital 70 air miles north of the

The Korean Red air force was virtually destroyed early in the war, was possibly of high significance.

Council to Salast

the appearance of new planes

China will not "supinely tolerate

From China, the Communist preswered early Monday.

South Koreans

ized equipment.

dio at Seoul.

Khin.

people."

gime, declared:

38th parallel.

388.

OREGON DAILY EMERALD

Inquiring Reporter

Beer in SU?

Majority Says

By Helen Jackson

so many students this weekend,

the Inquiring Reporter had to scout around campus more than usual for today's comments. The question

"Shall we have beer in the Student Union?" provoked serious thought as a whole and most of those interviewed tended to think the idea

Mitzi Asai-Liberal Arts freshman from Hood River--"It seems to me that there is enough here for fun without beer-all the things

Mike Popovich-sophomore transfer from Santa Monica City

College-"No-for several reasons might start; there are enough recreation facilities already and the SU wouldn't look particularly nice with beer bottles all over the place.

There are adequate facilities around campus for those who do

Dorothy Govig-sophomore in music-"My first thought would be 'no' but I can't give an good rea-

Richard Bogart-freshman in

W. C. Martin-Cottage Grove,

father of two Oregon students-

'I'd say 'no'-with no need for Shelby Walch-graduate student in psychology from UCLA-"Yes.

I think as long as it is so close on campus why not? It isn't any far-

Catherine Elder-senior in PE

By Barbara Fagg

son why I thought that."

liberal arts-"Why not?"

because many students are too downstairs, etc."

indulge anyway."

elaboration."

but not for me!"

pins have some

With the call-to-Portland taking

'No' in Poll

Page 7

Music, Yells, Animals Cheer Ducks in Defeat

By Phil Bettens

An excellent band, spirited yell leaders-plus an unattached bagpiper and several peculiar animals helped add interest to the California Bear's trouncing of the Oregon Ducks in Portland Saturday.

campus was deserted-except for a few hard-studying freshmen. The Cal team-which flew in from Berkeley-arrived at Multnomah stadium behind a police escort. Later events proved all that was unnecessary; those Bears take care of themselves very well.

UO Band Plays

Early arrivals at the stadium heard the UO band playing on the field-one of the tunes they were practicing was "Hail to California." This elicited some unkind comments from a few Duck rooters.

Then the fun really began! The crowd streamed into the stadium; cries of "Pigger" echoed through the stands as some unsuspecting freshmen showed up with dates. Oregon spirits were high; there were an unusually large number of unusually large coats seen about the stadium. Apparently everyone was afraid it might turn cold suddenly.

Animals Attend

Down by the 25 yard line a variety of animals seemed to have wandered in. One of them was identified as Ken Griffin, Sederstrom Hall counselor, whose accurate rendition of a horse's whinny-followed by a most unusual battle cry from a near-by rooter-was heard during the game.

Another of the strange menagerie heard bawling in the stands turned out to be a fellow from Coquille with a bagpipe. He played several inspiring tunes on his instrument. and paraded back and forth under the bleachers several times. The another football game-and anbagpiper, Hollis Hill, was later seen downtown, serenading the end-was over.

Things didn't all begin on Saturday, however. The flight from Eugene began as early as Thursday, and by Saturday the Portlanders from the window of a hotel room.

Half-time Activities

During half time the Oregon band played songs of the various schools Oregon will meet on the football field this year. They also formed the initial leters of the schools as they played their school song. The score at this time, by the way, was 21-7 but who cares about score?

Hollis Hill again got out his pipes during the second half, and he was soon drawing about as much attention from the Oregon rooters as the game itself. Nothing particularly exciting hapened on the field during this half-except that the Bears scored another touchdown.

Took Over Portland

After the game, the UO rooters proceeded to take over the town of Portland. Carloads of students with out dates dragged all the main streets-without success. Mobs of dateless rooters stormed the various dances-without success. The luckier ones were able to crash a few of the numerous parties held that evening in celebration of the victory. (?).

By Sunday morning, Portland was practically deserted. The Cal team had long since gone-some were seen sniffling idly at a large bouquet of roses, and dreaming of things to come. The Oregon rooters were straggling back to Eugene, thinking about "next time when we meet those so-n-so Bears . . ." And other long-to-be-remembered week-the SU-"I think it would sort of German Police Arrest Agitators spoil it-maybe it would be nice,

(Continued from page one)

French authorities indicated yesterday in a press conference that this is a full-scale military operation, intended to drive into the very heart of Red concentration in Indochina. But military authorities say that any French attempt to hold onto this wild jungle country could prove costly, and the drive may be a punitive expedition. One objective could be to ease pressure which strong Vietminh concentrations are exerting on French frontier posts.

In Formosa, Nationalists...

yesterday were expected to be giving fresh instructions to their United Nations delegation on the security council's decision to hear Chinese Red charges of American aggression against Formosa,

Dismay and uneasiness in the Chinese Nationalist capital was the Gold or silver, most of these apparent result of the UN's decision to hear Red complaints about the

Productions WANTED-Replacement for vets Dorm. Room-contact Lowell Aplet McChesney Hall ext. To Be Shown 11 GERMAN LESSONS- Conversa-Three professional Broadway productions will be presented by the Civic Drama Festival in Eugene this season.

3 Broadway

The first play, "Harvey," will open Nov. 28 at the Lane theater. The other productions are "Born Yesterday", and "I Like It Here."

Proceeds To Hospital

Proceeds from the productions, sponsored by the Eugene Optimist was a poor one. Their ideas are Club, will go to Crippled Children's yours to think over. Hospital and the Lane County Juvenile Home.

Mary Chase's comedy, "Harvey' ran 1775 performances on Broadway. The story of the invisible rabbit has since been made into a movie. The original Broadway cast starred Frank Fay. Other shows have seen James Stewart, James Dunn, Rudy Vallee, and Joe E. young; many don't drink now but Brown playing the role of the rabbit's friend.

February Production

"Born Yesterday" will be presented in February. (The same production will be given eight nights by the University Theater, opening October 29.)

"I Like It Here", the final production is less well known than the other two plays, but was chosen by the Festival producers because of its heartwarming elements of American home life.

Tickets are obtainable through the Optimist Club or by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to J. J. Kamerman, 204 I00F Bldg., Eugene.

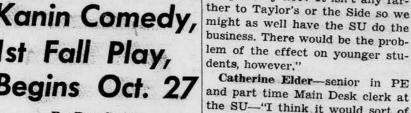

Kanin Comedy, 1st Fall Play, Begins Oct. 27

cheap broad-that's "Born Yesterday," the first play of the University theater regular season scheduled for eight performances begining Oct. 27.

ly four years on Broadway, was the first hit play written by Garson Kanin. It traces the development big pin or clip. We're thinking of a Brooklyn girl from a chorus of those massive pieces of costume line, who is kept by a junk dealer, jewelry that looks as if they have who tries to muzzle in on Washington politics.

seeing their neighbors being sav-At Pusan, Korea, Chou's stateman of South Korea's assembly (congress) P. H. Shinicky as "only By Don Smith However, American fighter pilots

Junks the Junk Dealer e girl. Billie Dawn

A rollicking comedy about a

It's Collegiate The comedy, which ran for near-One of the most striking new items on the fashion scene around the Oregon campus this fall is the been handed down from some "old family" of Europe.

 The younger generation's great in the court is film version of "Born Yesterday." Casting This Week Casting This Week Casting This Week Casting for the show will be completed this week, according to Director Horace W. Robinson. Much of the play depends upon the play depends upon the play depends upon the working processes of the rally great will be up for discussion, as in enforcement of and additions. Permanent organization and working processes of the rally great will be up for discussion, as in enforcement of and additions. Your Uncle Sam may cut the cigar tax, but millions will continue to go up in smoke. The younger generation's great instake is that it has learned things too readily from the older. Right now there are probably as there are on the golf course. Cold cash sometimes makes a friendship warmer. This is the season when the jack of all trades goes into the solut trades goes into the solut trades goes into the solut trades goes into the solution. 	 Jomecoming Head Selection of the 1950 Homecom- ing chairman, petitions for which re due at 5 p. m. today, is on the genda for tonight's ASUO Execu- ive Council meeting, set for 8 p. m. Petitioners will be interviewed the Student Union board room. Petitioners will be interviewed the Council beginning at 8 p. m. SUO President Barry Mountain mounced last week. Methods of distributing the tick- ta allotted to Oregon rooters for the Oregon-Oregon State game in ortland Nov. 25 will be discussed, Student court machinery and method of selecting new members without members; under the pre- ent machinery it should be man- ted by a sophomore, a junior and senior member with a new sopho- nore member elected each year ind the other members carrying ver. Permanent organization and working processes of the rally and will be up for discussion, as enforcement of and additions 	cracy and what type of guy her junk dealer is. She finally junks the junk dealer—but not before three_acts of sparkling comedy with dramatic overtones. Judy Holliday and Paul Douglas played the roles in the original Broadway show. Douglas zoomed from the play to Hollywood to ap- pear in such productions as "Let- ter to Three Wives.' Miss Holiday, a long-time fav- orite on Broadway, also has a Hol- lywood contract. Her first role was the dizzy blonde who shot her hus- band in "Adam's Rib." At present Miss Holliday is working in the film version of "Born Yesterday." Casting for the show will be com- pleted this week, according to Di- rector Horace W. Robinson. Much of the play depends upon the women who plays Billie, a role which is particularly difficult to cast. Your Uncle Sam may cut the cigar tax, but millions will con-	There seems to be no end of uses to which an enterprizing coed can put such a pin. We've seen them on knotted silk scarves worn with a skirt and sweater, on the shoulder of a suit, on the pocket of a flannel skirt, or worn on a heavy chain around the neck with a plain wool jersey blouse. These pins can dress up almost any outfit. They add a note of sophistocation. Since no two are alike they give the wearer an exclusive look and make an ordin- ary costume look like something special. The younger generation's great mistake is that it has learned things too readily from the older. Right now there are probably as many good lies in the club house as there are on the golf course. Cold cash sometimes makes a friendship warmer. This is the season when the	Other Communist action, this time in New Delhi, India, has sulted in the American motion picture, "The Conspirator" (Robert T lor—Elizabeth Taylor) being banned from New Delhi theaters. The ture deals harshly with Communism. The ban, imposed by city offici is reported to have come after vigorous objections from the Russ embassy. But the city officials declined to give a reason for their decis British Troops Sailed yesterday for Korea from Liverpool, Eng. Many of the troops openly unhappy with having to leave their civilian jobs to fight a v They're sailing aboard the troopship Empire Pride. About 800 men m up the contingent, the first battalion, Royal Ulster Rifle Regiment. Clustered around War Minister John Strachey at the dockside, m of the troops asked, "How long shall we be away?" "There is no answer to that question, although of course the posit is more encouraging for you now," the lanky war minister told th About half of the battalion is made up of regular army men; the rest reservists. Some said they were "cheesed off" at having been recalled active service. They average about 30 years of age. In contrast to the reservists, most of the regular army men wer high spirits. President Truman Slept yesterday aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg, taking t off from the grind of duties which have kept him busy almost constan- since the outbreak of the Korean war. Truman plans to take a Potomac cruise on the Williamsburg, s bathing, reading the papers and generally "taking it eases" "He
--	---	---	--	--