

Who Will You Meet?

Coins to Start Derby Rolling Tonight at 7:30

By Lo Vaun Krueger

The march is on!

7:30 p.m. will find several hundred nickel laden males starting briskly out to try their luck at pigging, via the 'bunion' route.

A nickel at each house, and the male is entitled to pick out the lady of his fancy, effect a quick introduction, and finish out the allotted six minutes with some cheek-to-cheek swaying or a bouncy Charleston.

Then—a frantic four-minute dash for the next house, one more nickel into the can, an introduction . . . dance . . . dash . . . and so on into the night.

Prizes Awarded

Prizes will be awarded to the men's house scoring highest on two points: percentage of group participating and adherence to the correct Derby route. Women are Special music for the Bunion Derby will be featured by Mimi and Bob on their KASH broadcast from 9 to 11:15 tonight.

Judged on the number of nickels collected and men present.

Men's social chairman will be responsible for seeing that each man pays his nickel, keeps within the 6 minute schedule, and follows the correct route, according to Chairman Georgie Oberteuffer.

Women's social chairmen will be responsible for appointing hostesses at the door to collect nickels, count the number of men in each group, and check that each house is following the schedule.

Rain Indicated

The supposedly hardy male marchers have been fervently sending up pleas and prayers for tolerable weather, but last reports indicate a continuance of the ever popular and ever present Oregon mist.

Long slickers and raincaps are recommended for the marching males, while the women can wear regular campus garb.

Collections, which will be made between 11 p.m. and closing hours, are earmarked for Associated Women Students scholarships, orientation program, and general expenses.

Rubinstein Concert Set At Mac Court Saturday

Artur Rubinstein, internationally known concert pianist, will perform for Eugene audiences at 8 p.m. Saturday in McArthur Court. His program will feature chiefly Chopin and Debussy selections.

On a seven-months tour of the United States, Polish-born Rubinstein is appearing here under the auspices of the Civic Music Association. University students will be admitted by showing their student body cards.

Bearded Sophs To Strut Stuff As Of Monday

Sophomore men who contend they're not boys any longer will have a chance to prove their status beginning Saturday night.

According to rules set up this year in conformity with an old tradition, Sunday night will be the last time second-year men may shave until the night of the Sophomore Whiskerino Oct. 21.

At the same time, Helen Jackson, president of the sophomore class, said that no one could start their beards before that time.

Skull and Dagger, sophomen's honorary, will be out in force starting Monday to enforce the tradition. Punishment, in the form of a tub-dunking, will be meted

U of O - OSC Ducats Allotted By Drawing

Tickets to the Oregon-Oregon State football game Nov. 25 will be allotted to students by a drawing, members of the ASUO Executive Council decided Wednesday night.

Price of the tickets will be $2.50 each. The game, which is an OSC home-game, will be played at Multnomah Stadium, Portland.

The plan of distribution, as drawn up by Don Smith, senior representative, and adopted by the council is as follows:

First chance for the 1,500 tickets reserved for Oregon students will be to members of the Order of the "O", who will police the field after the game. No other group or individual will be given preference.

Students who want tickets may

Course Changes

Monday is the last day to register for changes in courses, either adding or dropping, according to Clifford L. Constance, registrar. This is a change from previous years when a student could drop a course up to the fifth week of classes.

The only way to change or drop courses after that date is by permission of instructors and petition and payment of penalty fees.

Every course on the record as of next Monday goes on a student's permanent record with some grade, Constance said.

Oregon-Montana Rally Set Tonight

Skits, snappy yells and a few remarks from representatives of Montana and Oregon will pace the pre-game rally today at 6:30 p.m. in the Student Union ballroom.

Originally planned for 6 p.m., the hour was changed to 6:30 in consideration of the men's intramural football games.

The rally board plans to invite the Montana coach, Ted Shipkey, and either Jim Aiken or Bob McClure, of Oregon, to present their respective schools at the rally, according to Jim Fenimore Rally Board chairman.

Fenimore feels that this rally should really carry a punch and he encourages everyone to attend. He assured the fellows that the rally would wind up just in time for them to meet their first Bunion Derby appointments.

Special Section Set

There will be a special men's white shirt rooting section at the game Saturday. White shirts are a must for all men who plan to sit in this section.

There will be 450 seats available in this section on the 50-yard line, rows 11-29. One hundred and fifty seats in the middle of these will be marked off for those with rooters lids. The yellow and green of the lids will form the inside of a big "O".

Need White Shirts

Fenimore stressed the necessity of white shirts and stated that the seats will be available on a first come, first served, basis. There will be absolutely no "seat saving", he said.

Gate opening time will be announced at the rally tonight.

Jack Faust, entertainment chairman, will be in charge of skits and other pre-game noises. Due to the shortness of time for preparation, there will be no card stunts at this game, he said.

Weather Bureau Forecasts Rain This Weekend

Heavy overcast with occasional rain.

That was the kind of weather that was supposed to be around the campus all day Thursday. And that was the kind that was around most of the day.

But the Weather Bureau couldn't explain the hail Thursday afternoon. "We hadn't forecast that," was the bureau's explanation. As a matter of fact, the Weather Bureau at the Municipal Airport didn't even know that it had hailed in Eugene until the wife of one of the officials called to find out what she should do about the windows—which were stuck out in the path of the falling hail.

Looking a day ahead, the Weather Bureau regretted that it might have to forecast rain and overcast for Saturday.

But cheer up. The bureau also said that this would end and "we will see blue sky again."

After that we'll have more rain.

Snappy Yells Needed

New yells—short, snappy ones for halftime—are needed by the Oregon rally squad yell king.

Symons requests all potential yell-writers to turn in their contributions to the ASUO office in the Student Union as soon as possible.

Curtain Rises Tonight On 'John Loves Mary'

They're coming from Washington, from Portland,—all for "John Loves Mary," which opens a two-performance return engagement at the University Theater tonight.

"Of course, the people that are traveling to Eugene for the show are members of the cast," Elmarie Wendel, the Mary of the play, explained. "You see, we're using the original summer cast in major roles—and two persons are no longer going to school here."

The two are Willard Winter-ringer, who arrived in Eugene last night for a pick-up rehearsal from Wenatchee, Wash.; and leading man Don Van Boskirk, who is attending school this term at Vanport in Portland.

Two new additions to the cast are Paul Wexler and Pat Saunders, who have taken over minor roles in the comedy.

Pickup Exciting

"Rehearsals have been going remarkably well," Miss Wendel, a vivacious brunette full of vim, vigor and vitality, commented. "Picking up a show after a month layoff is really quite exciting."
