

UO Victory Ends Long Loss Spell

By Charles Peterson

Playing on their home field for the first time this season, the Oregon Ducks notched their first win of the 1950 campaign Saturday by beating a stubborn Montana University eleven 21-13. Oregon had to come from behind to gain the victory which broke a seven-game losing streak extending back to the middle of the 1949 season.

It was superior line play coupled to the powerful running of Bob Carey and the passing of Earl Stelle which enabled the Webfoots to subdue the Grizzlies who were led by their quarterback Tom Kingsford, the outstanding player of the game.

Carey Surprises

In Carey, a former defensive halfback who was starting his first game with the offensive platoon, Coach Jim Aiken may have found the key to the Oregon running game which functioned only sporadically in the Ducks' opening games against UCLA and California.

The 185 pound halfback from La-Grande carried the ball 15 times for a net gain of 105 yards, an average of 7 yards per carry. He also scored the first Oregon touchdown as he took an 18 yard pass from Stelle on the Montana 45 and raced the rest of the way into the end zone untouched.

Daniels Kicks Three

The other Oregon scores came on a freak pass completion from Stelle to end Jake Williams, who caught the 20 yard toss in the end zone after it had been deflected into the air by a Montana defender, and a seven yard off tackle smash by fullback Chuck Missfeldt at the end of a 53 yard drive in the third quarter. Guard Chet Daniels converted after all three scores.

Today Marks End Of Course Changes

Today is the last day to drop courses or to add them.

In a change of policy from previous years, the registrar's office has sliced three weeks from the former period of five weeks during which period classes might be dropped. The period during which courses may be added has not been changed.

Following today all courses on each student's record will go on his permanent record. The only way to change a course after Monday will be by permission of instructors or petition, and payment of penalty fees will be required.

Bat Baffles Babes But Misses Meal

A lonely bat was looking for a free meal in John Straub Hall Saturday night.

Startled coeds, ducked, squealed, and even ran out of the dining hall, as the "flying mouse" swooped and dived from skylight to table. One young woman was observed peeping through an outside window whispering, "Is it gone?"

After a half-score attacks, the creature shot upward toward the high paneled windows and disappeared.

Maybe he's still up there, waiting for a meal ticket.

Audience Enjoys 'Timely' Comedy

By Don Smith

A pleasant little comedy that was an entertaining curtain raiser for the regular University Theater season, "John Loves Mary," played Friday and Saturday nights to appreciative audiences.

The comedy, particularly timely now because of the Korean situation, relates the story of a senator's daughter and her attempt to get married to her boy friend, who has just returned from overseas. Unknown to the girl, the soldier is already married to an English girl.

Leads Entertaining

Marie Wendel was successful as the Mary who John loves, and Don Van Boskirk had a nice sense of comedy as the John who loves Mary.

Willard Winterringer was fine and extremely funny as Fred Taylor, the man for whom John had married the English girl, Lily. John wanted to get Lily to America, let her get a Reno divorce, and then have her marry Fred, who had been in love with Lily in England. Only trouble is—Fred has gotten over his undying love for Lily, has met and married an American girl, and is going to be a father.

Desire Immediate Marriage

Mary and her parents want an immediate marriage; but Lily, adeptly portrayed by Pat Saunders (a newcomer to the University Theater) is in no hurry to get a divorce unless she is sure she can find another man to marry.

This situation is taken care of, in act three, when John and Fred discover that Lily was married to ex-Lt. O'leary (Louie the house), portrayed remarkably "heelishly" by Faber DeChaine. The feeling is that Lily and Louie deserve each other.

This complicated plot was handled with remarkable clarity by the author, Norman Krasna, and the cast, directed by Otilie Seybolt. The play, as directed by Mrs. Seybolt, kept the audience wondering just how things were going to turn out; there was really no doubt that things would end happily—but there were those suspenseful moments.

Vosburg Good

Tru Vosberg turned in one of the most competent performances of the evening. Her sense of comedy was charming, and she frequently drew laughs by her reactions, as well as by splendid handling of lines.

Donn Doak as the Senator was sufficiently Senatorilish; and Bliss Stanley as a Red Cross representative was humorously stuffy. Burton Filut and Paul Wexler

Sophomore Shavers Vacation

Six hundred ninety-one razors will lie neglected today as sophomore men begin growing stubble for the annual Sophomore Whiskerino, Oct. 21.

The traditional dance will climax two shaveless weeks, as bearded sophomores vie for honors in the Whiskerino contest.

Bill Frye and Mike Lally have been named Whiskerino co-chairmen, from petitions submitted to class officers last week.

Whiskers Optional

Those wishing to enter the beard-growing contest may wear their whiskers to the dance, those not intending to compete may shave their beards the day of the dance.

Winners of the Joe College and Betty Co-ed contests will be announced the night of the dance. These two persons are to represent the typical college students.

Group To Elect Candidate

Each women's group—sorority, co-op, Ann Judson, Orides, each floor of Carson, Susan Campbell, and Hendricks—will select one sophomore woman as Betty Co-ed candidate. Names must be turned into Jackie Wilkes, Sigma Kappa, by noon Wednesday.

Fraternities, Co-op, each John Straub unit, and each vet's dorm unit will likewise elect one sophomore man as Joe College candidate. Names should be phoned to Bill Deland, Phi Kappa Psi, by noon Wednesday.

Chairman Named

Chairmen of sub-committees for the Whiskerino include Bill Deland and Jackie Wilkes, Betty Co-ed and Joe College contest; Sarah Turnbull, chaperones; Marlee Smith and Gretchen Grefe, decorations; Merle Davis, promotion; Margaret Powne, programs; Rod Bell, entertainment; Jack Beyers, Whiskerino contest; Clyde Fahlman, clean-up; Andy Freidle, publicity, and Don Zaviv, tickets.

Sophomore men who disregard the no-shave tradition from now until Whiskerino will be prey for Skull and Dagger members, who are acting as "cops" for the whiskerino contest.

Thetas Top Women In Bunion Derby With $31.97 Total

By Larry Hobart

Kappa Alpha Theta took in $31.97 during Bunion Derby festivities Friday night to top all women's houses in cash collected. Second place went to Alpha Xi Delta, which collected $32.00. The rating was based on the ratio of total members participating to the amount of cash collected.

Tabulations for men's houses are not yet complete. The total number of men living in must still be determined by the Office of Men's Affairs, which will compile the pledge and transfers figures.

Men's winners will be released in Tuesday's Emerald.

Masked Zanies Appear

The derby was enlivened by the antics of four masked zanies who dashed from house to house bestowing impartial kisses and dances upon multitudes of lucky women. Jerry Pearson's rubberized mask portrayed the features of a heavy-eyed glamour girl, while Marcia Knosher captivated the men with an appearance in blackface. The male contingent, Bob Brown and Bob Chambers,
