

Chance to Study Theater Given Students During Theater Night

University Theater Night—the big night for any and all students interested in theater at Oregon—will be held Thursday evening.

The exact hour of the theater event, to be held each term, will not be announced until tomorrow. Arrangements are being made to plan it early enough in the evening to allow freshmen girls to attend.

Theater night is the night all students interested in any phase of the University Theater—or any students who think they might become interested—get together to meet one another and learn of the opportunities of theater work at Oregon.

During the one and a half hour session, UT director Horace W. Robinson will introduce staff members, outline the theater season of 1950-51, explain the season ticket set-up, the presentation of awards, the opportunities for work, the participation program of the theater, and answer the questions of students who want to know more.

In addition there will be a couple of dramatic scenes presented to give newcomers and "old-comers" alike an idea of the make-believe of the theater. The program is being arranged by Terrence Roseen.

After the regular session in the University Theater, there will be an informal open-house of the drama facilities. Students will have an opportunity to walk around and get acquainted with theater personalities and theater technicalities.

Refreshments are being arranged by Pat White.

YWCA Group Holds Gathering

The YWCA International affairs committee will hold its first meeting of fall term at 4 p. m. today in YWCA headquarters, Gerlinger.

Students signed up for the committee and others interested in foreign affairs and foreign students on the campus may attend, Carolyn Oleman, committee chairman, explained.

The committee will discuss projects and activities for the coming term. Activities last year included foreign student coffee hours, a clothing drive and Christmas gifts for families overseas.

Biology Talk Set For Next Monday

"Hormones in Crustaceans" will be the subject of a public lecture by B. T. Scheer, professor of biology, at 8 p. m. Monday in 103 Deady.

Sigma Xi, professional science fraternity, will sponsor the lecture.

There's a lot of good in a lot of people because it never has come out.

X-ray Service Offered Students

Free chest X-rays will be given Thursday at the Student Health Service.

New students who have not had X-rays this fall and old students who have had X-rays in previous years but desire a recheck are urged to report to the Health Service as soon after noon Thursday as possible.

A mobile miniature X-ray unit from the State Department of Health is scheduled for 12 to 1 p. m. However, anyone who reports before the unit leaves will be processed, according to Dr. Fred N. Miller, director of the Health Service.

Appointments have been given for recheck examinations to a number of students for Thursday morning.

Old students who have not had a chest X-ray must do so before graduation, since it is a University requirement, Dr. Miller said.

'Othello' Readings Scheduled Tonight

"Othello" readings will be held at 7:30 tonight in 102 Villard by Mrs. Otilie Seybolt, who will direct the Shakespearean tragedy.

Numerous parts are available for men and women, Mrs. Seybolt pointed out. No theater experience is necessary for persons who wish to try out for the play. It will be the second production of the 1950-51 season.

"Born Yesterday," already cast, is now under rehearsal by Horace W. Robinson, theater director. It will open the season Oct. 27.
