

Soviet Bloc Vetos Lie Renomination

Compiled by John Barton
From the wires of Associated Press

Late Thursday Russia used the veto in the U.N. to block the re-election of Trygve Lie whose position as Secretary-General of the Assembly expires in February, 1951. The action was taken in a closed door meeting of the Security Council. Nine countries voted for Lie's re-election, Russia voted against, and Nationalist China abstained.

Almost immediately the Russian delegate, Jacob Malik nominated Polish Foreign Minister Zybmunt Modzelewski, but he was rejected. The Security Council then cleared the way for extending Lie's term by submitting the question to the General Assembly.

Under the charter, the Assembly should have a recommendation from the Council. The Assembly then decides the length of term. Lie was elected at the first meeting of the UN in London in 1946, and his term set at five years. Some delegates have advocated making Lie's term eight years, which would mean an extension of three years beyond next February.

In England...

... Anthony Eden, number two man of the Conservatives, told a meeting of his party that Labor was slow in rearming and said the proposal to send one new division into Europe was not enough. During the meeting the party passed unanimously a resolution calling for close co-operation with U. S. in Western Europe. It also approved U.N. armed action in Korea and condemned the government for going ahead with State ownership of the steel industry during a time of rearmament.

Also in England, Home Secretary J. Chuter Ede announced that the government plans to enlist a Civil Defense Force of about 800,000 within a few months. 16,000,000 persons in Britain mostly over 30 years old are eligible.

By nationalizing the coal industry, Britain will have to start spending almost $10,000,000 more a year, due to pay increases ordered Thursday. The order will effect 400,000 "lower paid" coal miners, both surface and underground workers.

The Veracruz Hurricane...

... which hit this Mexican area Wednesday, is estimated to have done over $1,000,000 damage. No deaths were reported, but two children were slightly injured. The greatest damage was on banana plantations and farms in the coast area, where much of the crop may be lost. In addition some 20 boats in the harbor were either sunk or driven ashore.

Crusade for Freedom...

... scrolls are being turned in all over the country, after which they will be sent to Berlin, where they will be placed in the Freedom Shrine. The event will be held during a United Nations celebration on October 24. A report from Ohio indicates that well over a million persons have signed the scrolls in that state.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation...

... has a new chairman today. Elmer Harber, Oklahoma banker, and Democrat, emerged as head of the re-vamped five man board, which found former Chairman Harley Hise (Democrat), and Harvey Gunder-son (Republican) ousted.

Harber takes over the important and powerful board at an important moment, when it is being geared to furnish a spark to the mobilization effort by providing cash for expansion of defense production.

Port Neches, Texas...

... saw the first reactivation of wartime rubber industry since World War II Thursday. The city's all-purpose synthetic rubber plant began 20 days ahead of schedule. The United States Rubber Company modernized the plant under the government's rubber expansion program. The installation will now produce more than 72,000 long tons. It was designed to produce 60,000.

A Teaching Fellow...

... at the University of Michigan admitted Thursday to setting two fires at the University last June. The arsonist, Robert H. Stacy, 30, admitted touching off a blaze in Alumni Memorial Hall, and also one in Haven Hall a few hours earlier. A lead on the origin of the fires came when a young lady, who had spurned Stacy's attentions, told of his bragging of the arson last summer. Since filing his confession police in Ann Arbor said that Stacy had twice tried to take his life.

Canadian Troops...

... the first of a large force destined for U.N. service will arrive in Fort Lewis, Wash. today. An advance group preceded the group arriving today, but they were for purposes of setting up the camp.

The unit represents every group in the Canadian Army Special Force (CAPS), including infantry, artillery, armored engineer, signal, medical, electrical and mechanical engineers, and provost corps. The troops will wear the special Canadian-United Nations field patch, which is a red and gold shield.

Oregon Lumbering...

... is still the number one industry of the state. Close behind was Agriculture, followed by the tourist industry. In figures just released the cash income from Oregon's forests last year hit an all-time high of $729,135,000, exceeding the 1948 figure by $22,000,000. Arthur W. Priaulux, public relations director of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association, said the total figured at mill level was 170 per cent greater than the state's farm income.

The income from agriculture was placed at $363,500,000, while the tourist industry had an income of $110,000,000.

A Brave Soul...

... is Mrs. Floyd Beach of Salt Lake City, Utah. Today is Friday the 13th, but she isn't worried, even if her name does have 13 letters. She feels she's reasonably safe. She lives at 1313 South 13th East street, as she does.

On the Campus

He's a Campus A-man

The "A" stands for "Activities"—and he's in a lot of them. Plays first-string basketball. Represents his class on the student council. Writes for the school paper.

When it comes to campus doings, his major is Service.

Telephone people are like that, too. They believe in giving good telephone service—courteous, friendly, helpful service. And because they believe it so strongly, their spirit of service shows up in community affairs.

That's why you'll find telephone men and women working on charity drives, joining service clubs, leading Scout troops.

Both at work and at home, telephone people try to help out wherever there is a need—and enjoy doing it:
