Members Now Goal Of YMCA

This morning begins the third day of the campus YMCA's membership drive. Results so far have been "encouraging," according to executive secretary Jack Merner.

The drive is a new attempt by the YMCA to fully activate its eight community and campus service committees. YMCA President Dave Swanson and Merner have expressed the contention that this is "the year" for the Y. A preliminary membership drive was held at the beginning of the year, partly filling the required membership of the committees.

Under the present YMCA plan, each member is given a position on a committee. The committees now standing are membership, publicity, sports and recreation, international affairs, public discussions, campus affairs, community service, and religious emphasis.

At the beginning of the drive, the YMCA at Oregon had seventy members. The YMCA also has an advisory board of twenty-five members, one half of whom are business and professional men in Eugene, the other half being members of the University faculty.

The University of Oregon YMCA was founded in 1892, and has served the local area continuously since that date. During World War II the exodus of male students caused the YMCA to become almost dormant. However, it was reactivated after the war under the direction of the advisory board.

The membership drive, which started Monday, will end this weekend.

Emerald Staff Slates Meeting

An Emerald news staff meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Student Union.

News Editor Norman Anderson requests all old and new reporters and feature writers to attend the meeting.

Student Court Posts Available

Here's your chance to levy fines rather than pay them. Appointments to the ASUO Student Court have not been made because less than half a dozen potential judges and court personnel has thus far been attracted.

Petitions for positions on the court, which will range from three to five, are being accepted this week. Petitions are available at the ASUO office on the third floor of the Student Union. Deadline is 5 p.m. Friday in the ASUO office. The only eligibility requirement is a 2.00 GPA.

Interviews are scheduled for 8:15 p.m. Monday in the Student Union Board room.

Candidates Show Variety of Interests

Rusty Holcomb, Fred Decker, Beverly Krueger

Three candidates for the Betty Coed and Joe College title to be introduced today are Rusty Holcomb, Delta Zeta; Fred Decker, Pi Kappa Phi; and Beverly Krueger, Chi Omega.

They are among the 12 finalists awaiting announcement of the winners at the Sophomore Whiskerino Oct. 21. Winners will be determined by votes cast at the dance

RUSTY HOLCOMB

Few people know today's first Betty Coed candidate by her real name, for Marilyn Holcomb is too well characterized by her auburn hair, and since the eighth grade has been called "Rusty."

Originally from Illinois, Rusty has lived in Newport four years.

"I love the ocean," she said, "and wouldn't live any place else." Her room at Delta Zeta is decorated with large photographs of scenes from around Newport.

After working as a long-distance telephone operator during the summer, Rusty switched to cataloging fossils and numbering skulls when she returned to school.

Her new job is working in the preparator's room in the Museum of Natural History in Condon Hall.

"The director has promised to give me a skull for my bookcase," she reported, "which should give it atmosphere!"

Besides making the majority of her own clothes, including two coats, Rusty also knits. A major in biology with plans for a teaching career, Rusty is a member of Kwama, sophomore women's service honorary, a night editor of the Emerald, and a member of the Student Union recreation committee.

Scandling Sets Saturday Clinic

Written hints to campus publicity chairmen will be distributed at Theta Sigma Phi's publicity clinic Saturday morning, Marge Scandling, president of national, professional women's journalism fraternity, announced Tuesday.

Publicity chairmen or representatives from every organization on campus—social religious, departmental, or political—are eligible to attend the clinic, set for 9:30 a.m. Saturday in the Student Union.

Qualified speakers, panel discussions, and question-and-answer periods will be featured during the two-hour program, Miss Scandling said.

An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged, mainly to cover the cost of informational material, Miss Scandling said.

26 Women Finalists Due For Selection

Twenty six candidates have been selected by women's living organizations to compete for the title of Hostess of Homecoming.

Candidates are to appear at 7 p.m. this evening in the Student Union. At this time five judges will narrow the number to six finalists. Pictures of finalists will appear in the Co-op and the Emerald and the student body will select one to rule as Hostess.

The selection of six finalists will be on four main features which will total fifty points. They are charm and personality, appearance, poise, and speaking ability.

The candidates are: Lee Dejarrette, Alpha Chi Omega; Haroldine Filler, Alpha Delta Pi; Mary Lou Stanbery, Alpha Gamma Delta; Mina Sloan, Alpha Omicron Pi; Carol Udy, Alpha Phi; Jeanne Dewees, Alpha Xi Delta; Jeanette Holloway, Carson 2; Jean Burns, Carson 3; Nancy O'Connor, Carson 4; Martha Stapleton, Carson 5.

Sno-ball To Roll Friday

A big snowball rally for the St. Mary's game has been scheduled for early Friday evening, Jim Fenimore, rally board chairman, announced Tuesday.

The snowball route and house pairings will be announced in Thursday's Emerald. The snowballings will be on foot and will end at 6:30 p.m. in a big rally in the parking lot in front of Phi Gamma Delta between Alder and Kincaid. Men's and women's houses will be picked up at the women's houses as paired.

Oregon's new song queens, Beverly Krueger, Janet Shaw, Nancy Miller, Carol Lee Tate, and Shirley Bonner, will be introduced at the rally. The program will include yells lead by the rally squad and special entertainment by some campus living organizations. Jack Faust is in charge of rally program arrangements.

Speaking of this weekend's activities, Fenimore said, "Every Oregon Student should turn out for the rallies. Let's forget last week's game. That is water under the bridge. Let's start working for this Saturday."

Barry Mountain, ASUO president, also urged the Oregon student body to back the team through rallies. "The team is playing for us. The least we can do is get behind them one hundred percent—win, draw or lose. Never let it be said that the Oregon student body would give up before the last game."

An assembly originally planned for Thursday morning in the Student Union ballroom was canceled in favor of the snowball rally.

Plans For Sign Contest Set-up

Thirty dollars will be the limit organizations may spend on Homecoming signs for this year's contest, Jane Carlisle, sign chairman, announced Tuesday.

All living organizations are requested to turn in sign plans to Jane Carlisle, Pi Beta Phi, by 5 p.m. Friday. These will be checked by the sign committee so duplications will be avoided.

Judging rules will be similar to last year's. Ten points will be awarded for each of the following, adherence to central theme, effort, originality, and impressiveness.

The Homecoming sign committee members are Rex Balentine, Marian Christenson, Elaine Hartung, Joan Jacobs, Betty Moshofsky, Frances Neel, Dolores Parrish, and Janet Shaw.

SU Branch Post Office Opens; Five-Day Week Set by McMullen

Complete post office facilities become available to the University and the entire eastside today when the Student Union branch of the Eugene post office opens at 8 a.m. in quarters in the north end of the SU.

Tuesday's Emerald incorrectly stated that the new branch would open Monday.

Superintendent John McMullen of the branch said that all types of mail facilities will be offered in the post office, except general delivery and box service. This will include money orders, stamp sales, and parcel post service. In addition, carrier delivery for the area east of Patterson St. will operate out of the new post office.

Five-Day Week

The branch will operate under regular post office hours—five days a week, and half day on Saturday. The money order window will be open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.; stamp and parcel post service from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Main entrance to the post office is on 13th St., opposite the Infirmary. Another entrance leads to the first floor of the SU.

A staff of 18, all civil service, will operate under Superintendent McMullen. There will be 14 foot carriers, one mounted carrier for suburban delivery and one relief carrier, in addition to clerks.

The new post office is the only classified branch of the Eugene post office. There are six contract stations in the city, giving service outside the jurisdiction of the main post office. The SU branch is the only one of these outside offices which is operated by the main post office.

Oregon Veteran

McMullen told the Emerald Tuesday that he is "returning" to the University after 26 years. "I was a freshman here in the fall of 1924." McMullen received his degree in 1931.

McMullen has spent 24 years in the Eugene post office.
