

Fine Teamwork, Average Form In IM Volleyball

By Jim Mendenhall

First round volleyball victories were scored Tuesday by Sigma Nu, Pi Kappa Alpha, Phi Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Chi and Beta Theta Pi.

Although some of the clubs did not appear in excellent form, good teamwork was evident in nearly all of the games played. The last two encounters were unusually close and third sets were necessary to decide the winners.

Sigma Chi Sharp

Sigma Chi racked up the most one-sided score of the day as they swept two straight sets from Sherry Ross, 15-1, and 15-0. Playing with only four men, the Sigma Nus presented an example of good teamwork by sweeping Merrick Hall, 15-8 and 15-5.

Another not-so-close victory was scored by Phi Kappa Sigma as they raked Sigma Hall over the coals, 15-3 and 15-4.

Stan Ray Hall offered more resistance in the first game with Phi Delta Theta but withered under the volleys of the Phi Deltas in the second set. The Phi Deltas won the first set, 15-6 and walked away with the second, 15-3.

Betas Win

Beta Theta Pi was forced to come from behind in the last two sets to bring home a victory over Philadelphia House. The Phills captured the opening set, 15-10, but lost the last two, 15-2 and 15-9.

Theta Chi offered bitter opposition before bowing to Pi Kappa Alpha, two sets to one. After dropping the opener, 15-9, Theta Chi banged out a 15-13 win in the second to tie proceedings. The final set was close until the Pi Kaps served five points in a row to win, 15-7.

We'll Challenge The Winner

PORTLAND—(P)—Reed College football players, losers of 17 straight games, Tuesday challenged Eastern Oregon College to try to lose to them.

Long the losingest football team in the West, little Reed expressed indignation over Eastern Oregon's recent feat of losing 18 straight grid games.

Reed proposed a "Fum-bowl" game around Thanksgiving time, the loser to be crowned "Non-Champion of Non-Champions."

This was contingent, of course, on each team successfully losing its remaining games—two for Reed, five for Eastern Oregon.

Perhaps too beaten for words, there was no immediate response from Eastern Oregon.

Women's IMs

Today's Schedule

4:50 p.m. Carson vs. Alpha Omicron Pi
University House vs. Alpha Delta Phi
Orides vs. Chi Omega
5:20 p.m. Orides vs. Susan Campbell III

More Elliots

CORVALLIS—(P)—Pete Elliott, Oregon State College end coach, missed football drill Tuesday. He was busy passing out cigars.

Mrs. Elliott and their son, born at 4:30 a.m. Tuesday, were reported doing well.

Batching is that summer period which some men look forward to and are darn glad when it's over.

EMERALD Sports

Lyman of the Week

RON LYMAN, sophomore back, who has displayed plenty of hard running in practice this week and is expected to see heavy action Saturday against St. Mary's. The 186-pounder has been switched to a halfback berth after starting the season at fullback.

Order of 'O'

Order of the "O" will meet at noon today at the ATO house. President Don Peterson requests all members to be present.

Charles-Barone Bout

NEW YORK (P)—Ezzard Charles will defend his newly acquired world heavyweight boxing title in about a month. Jake Mintz announced Monday that the Champion will fight Nick Barone of Syracuse November 28. The fight will be the regulation 15 rounds and will be held in Madison Square Garden.

Frosh Basketball

Candidates for the 1950-51 Frosh basketball squad will meet at 5 p.m. today in 101 Physical Education building, according to Coach Don Kirsch. Bring fountain pens.

Hal Dunham Sparkles In Initial Heavy Action

Oregon's Webfoots displayed their regular mid-week sharpness yesterday afternoon as they ran through their first serious practice session of the week in determined fashion.

Coach Jim Aiken was particularly pleased with the performances of a group of sophomores and juniors who have seen little action so far in the campaign. Aiken predicted that many of them will see plenty of action this Saturday when the Ducks come home to Hayward Field, scene of their only victory this season, to play St. Marys.

Tough Situation For Beaverville

Oregon State's Beavers are beginning to wonder if the days of "breather" football games are over. After successive losses to Michigan State, Stanford and Washington, the Orangemen must travel to Berkeley next Saturday to meet California, another top-running favorite for the Pacific Coast conference crown. All of which means Coach Kip Taylor's club will have faced three outstanding PCC teams in as many weekends.

Work Needed

The Beavers, still smarting at the 35-6 loss to the Huskies in Portland last Saturday, face some rugged practice sessions this week. Oregon State's running offense wasn't too bad against Washington, but forward passing was extremely poor—largely because Quarterback Gene Morrow saw the game from the bench because of an eyeball concussion suffered in the Stanford tilt. Tackling and blocking was ragged, paving the way for several Washington scores.

Taft Helps

Most encouraging part of an otherwise dismal day was the work of Gene Taft at left halfback. The junior college transfer showed flashes of running brilliance, gaining an even 100-yards in 20 ball-carrying attempts. Another transfer, Bob Cornelison, looked good at left half and likely will see more action against Cal.

Bowling Scores

High scores in bowling on the Student Union alleys last were rolled by Pete Darlington, Gamma Hall with 229, and Helen Williamson, 935 Patterson with 160. Both of these bowlers are awarded 10 free lines of bowling.

Each week the highest total scored by a male and the highest total scored by a female will be published in the Emerald and they will receive their prize.

Bevos Get Ward

PORTLAND—(P)—The Portland Beavers Tuesday bought Larry Ward, 24, right-handed pitcher from Twin Falls of the Pioneer League.

He had been with Portland the last 30 days of the season on a look-see basis.

Dunham Shows

High on the list of sophomores who will be putting in time against the Gaels is Hal Dunham, quarterback, who was in the offensive backfield during yesterday's entire scrimmage. The Walla Walla, Washington, product was described by Aiken as a heady signal caller and a sharp passer. He completed several tosses in yesterday's rain and, barring anything but flood tides on Hayward Field Saturday, he will be throwing against the Gaels.

Dunham was one-fourth of an all-sophomore backfield with which Aiken experimented in an effort to put the spark back into the Duck machine which faltered against the Vandals last week. Rounding out the quartet were Ron Lyman at left half, Carl Ervin at fullback, and Don Sloan at right half. Ervin ran well from his post and may be expected to carry a share of the backfield burden.

Aiken Experiments

While planning no drastic changes in either his offensive or defensive alignments, Aiken experimented liberally at the defensive end positions yesterday. Gerry Moshofsky at left tackle came in for plaudits for his work on offense and will probably team with Right Tackle Bob Anderson and Guards Chet Daniels and Don MacCauley in the center of the offensive line Saturday.

On the defensive forward wall will be Ray Lung and Gene Edwards at guards, and Gus Knickrehm and Don Eldart at tackles.

McClure Cautions

Line Coach Bob McClure, who scouted St. Marys as they lost to University of San Francisco, 33-7, Sunday, warned the Ducks that the Gaels will be a worthy foe despite their winless record this season.

Best of the Gael running backs is John Henry Johnson, a 190-pound sophomore who has looked good even in the Gaels' worst moments. Oregon followers will also remember Quarterback Dick Jarvis as the passer whose throws nearly beat the Ducks in the Cotton Bowl year of 1948. That season it was another lightly regarded Gael team which came up to battle Oregon all the way before losing, 14-13.
