Spirit Carries Snowball Rally Without Squad

Spirit kept the Friday night snowball rally from fading out completely as hundreds of students gathered in the Phi Gamma Delta parking lot and staged a half-hour impromptu rally in the absence of rally squad.

Originally scheduled for 6:30 p.m., with the Snowball through the campus starting earlier, the rally became a mass demonstration down Alder St. and into the parking lot, where Hap Engelbart, senior in art, led the crowd in yells from atop a parked car.

Chi Omega and Kappa Sigma began a series of songs and were joined by the rest of the crowd. Delta Gamma and Pi Kappa Alpha repeated the yell they had rehearsed for the rally until the entire crowd joined in.

Truck Appears

Not until 7 p.m. did any sign of the rally squad make an appearance. Then a sound truck came slowly down Alder and requested the students to join in a procession to McArthur Court.

Students swarmed down 13th Ave. and up University St. to McArthur Court. Until the rally squad and song leaders arrived, the crowd sang "Mighty Oregon," and continued the same spontaneous rallying which characterized the parking lot affair earlier.

Roll Called

Yell King Ron Symons called roll of the living organizations and led the assembled group in cheers.

A Sigma Nu trio sang "Evaline" and "Five Feet Two."

The rally Thursday morning was notable mainly for the small crowd. ASUO President Barry Mountain estimated the number of students as seven hundred.

Coach Jim Aiken introduced the football team and spoke to the assembled throng. Hart Larsen, president of the Eugene Duck Club also spoke.

Rally girls were introduced and the yell squad led the students in several new yells.

'Betty and Joe' Winners Told

Lois Peterson and Carson Bowler were elected Betty Coed and Joe College for 1950 at the Sophomore Whiskerino, last Saturday night.

Wally Heider and his orchestra supplied the music for the 1,500 assembled dancers.

Miss Peterson and Bowler were selected from a group of 12 finalists. Finalists for Betty Coed were Rusty Holcomb, Jane Knecht, Beverly Krueger, Lois Peterson, Maggie Powne, and Suzie Seley; Joe College contestants were Tom Bauman, Rod Bell, Carson Bowler, Fred Decker, Hal Dunham, and Jim Livesay.

Both winners were presented with a personal cup and their names were inscribed on rotating cups. Presentation of the cups was by Helen Jackson, sophomore class president, and Bill Frye, Whiskerino co-chairman. Cash-

Theater Board Lists 6 Major Productions

Six major productions of the University Theater for the 1950-51 season were named at an advisory board meeting last Friday noon in the Student Union.

The productions and month of performance are "Born Yesterday," in October, "Othello," December; "Right You Are," February; "Goodbye, My Fancy," March; "Finian's Rainbow," April; and "Anne of the 1000 Days," May.

Directors for the year will be Horace W. Robinson; Otilie Seybolt, and Frederick Hunter, new to the theater this year. Hunter's first directorial task will be "Right You Are." Robinson will direct the season opener, "Born Yesterday," and Mrs. Seybolt is now rehearsing "Othello."

"Goodbye, My Fancy," also to be directed by Mrs. Seybolt, will be the first major production of the University group to be done in the new arena theater. The "in the round" room in Villard will be completely remodeled during Christmas vacation.

"In the round" productions are

President Newburn Commends Spirit

Commenting on the spirit shown at Saturday's game with St. Mary's, President H. K. Newburn said Sunday:

"I want to congratulate the Oregon student body on the excellent spirit and sportsmanship shown at the game Saturday. It was one of the finest examples I have ever witnessed in college football."

Athletic Director Leo J. Harris also gave credit to the student body for the best spirit shown this year.

Nill Explains Frosh Election Rules, Petitions

Rules governing the forthcoming freshman election campaign were stated Friday by Herb Nill, ASUO vice-president, who is in charge of the elections.

The rules, set down by the Executive Council in a special meeting, concern the circulation of individual campaign literature, validation of petitions, and campaign speeches.

Just Handbills

Campaign literature, according to Nill, will be restricted to handbills posted on the bulletin boards in dorm halls. No posters may be displayed on the campus proper, nor leaflets dropped from the air, he said.

Validation of petitions will be done by the ASUO office Wednesday night after the 5 p.m. deadline. Names that appear on more than one petition will be nullified. For this reason, the ASUO office advised petitions to be turned in early. In case the 50 required signatures endorsing the candidate are not all valid the candidate will still have time to acquire more.

Assembly Sunday

A freshman assembly has been scheduled for Sunday at which time all candidates whose names will appear on the ballot will present their platforms. The assembly will be held in either the SU ballroom or Fenton Hall.

As the election will concern first-year dorm residents only and will probably be a no-party affair, interference by other classes or organizations has been ruled out, Nill said.

Lipstick Bowl Battle Sees Archers Nip Krunchers, 4-0

By Stan Turnbull

Flashing form at nearly every position, a pair of gorgeous football machines battled on fairly even terms through the entire Lipstick Bowl Sunday, with the Archers of Pi Beta Phi nipping the Krunchers of Kappa Kappa Gamma 4-0, by the margin of two safeties.

The teams, made up of pledge classes of the two sororities, both used the two-platoon system. Despite wet weather and between 200 and 300 ecstatic spectators, both sides made plenty of passes, but alert officials Mel Krause and George Moorhead kept things in line.

Center Proves Too Muscular

The first Pi Phi score came in the second quarter with the Kappas in possession of the ball near their own goal. The Kappa center apparently saw a friend or relative standing behind the end zone and tried to center him the ball. It sailed hopelessly over the heads of the backfield—ah—men, landing behind the goal for a safety. Kappa 0, Pi Phi 2.

A blocked kick recovered behind the Kappa goal by several Arrow-wearers in the final minute made the final score Pi Phi 4, Kappa 0.

Game to the last, the Kappa Krunchers nearly won on the last play of the game when Joan "Slippery" Fewless intercepted a Pi Phi pass and ran almost the full length of the abbreviated field before being overhauled within a girdle's width of the goal line.

Coaches Praise All Players

The coaches refused to single out any particular players for praise, saying, "they were all outstanding." Best in the backfield of either team, though, was probably Pi Phi Joan "Marvel" Miller, who regularly broke through the line for long gains. Great as a defensive end for the Krunchers was Sue "Dynamite" Riddlesbarger, who let very few plays get around her end of the line.

Notable was the restraint of the yells rendered by supporters of the two teams; "Smear 'em, bust 'em, that's our custom" from the Pi Phi side was countered by the beautifully simple "Kill 'em, ladies," from the Kappas.

YoungGOP Approves Resolutions

Resolutions favoring universal military training and urging repeal of the McCarron Subversive Control Bill were among those passed by the Oregon College League of Young Republicans at their first annual convention Sunday in the Student Union.

Eight Oregon colleges and universities were represented by a total of 42 delegates. Clay Myers, University of Oregon graduate now attending Northwestern Law school, presided.

Resolutions Approved

In a four-hour afternoon session, some of the controversial resolutions approved were:

1. Consideration by the U. N. General Assembly of the recognition of Communist China.

2. Creation of a united government and free democratic elections with complete United Nations supervision in Korea.

3. A "no" vote on the "balanced" plan for Oregon state reapportionment.

This "balanced" reapportionment plan was previously approved by the Oregon Young Republican Federation, of which the college group is a branch.

Collin Elected

Don Collin, president of the University of Oregon Young Republicans, was elected vice-chairman of the state organization. Ellen Christiansen, also a University student, was elected treasurer.

Dick Paul, Lewis and Clark College, defeated Bill Lees of the University for the collegiate presidency.

Other new officers are Howard Marde, Willamette, regional representative, and Paul Egger,

Stefano to Sing Tuesday Night

Metropolitan Tenor, Giuseppe di Stefano, will appear at 8 p.m. Tuesday in McArthur Court, in the second Civic Music Association program of the year.

Making his debut in Italy four years ago after studying with Luigi Montesanto, Italian baritone, the 29-year-old singer made the Metropolitan Opera less than two years later. Since then he has sung in 10 leading tenor roles.

He also appeared at Mexico City and Rio de Janeiro where the audiences gave him such enthusiastic ovations that the respective managements were compelled to

OSC Ticket Sale Closes Today at 5

Today is the last chance for approximately 750 students to buy reserved seat tickets for the Oregon-Oregon State game in Portland Nov. 25.

Only half of the 1,500 tickets had been sold by Saturday, Howard Lemons, athletic business manager, reported.

Sales will continue from 8:30 a.m. to noon, and from 1 to 5 p.m. today. Ticket price is $2.50.

Students who were winners in the drawing for eligibility may buy the tickets, Lemons said. Members of the ASUO Executive Council and Rally Board will be given first preference for tickets remaining after today, according to a motion passed by the Council last week.
