Club to Hear U.N. Debaters

A record transcription of highlights from United Nations meetings will be a feature of the International Relations Club meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in the Men's Lounge, Gerlinger.

Following the recording, the problem of "Arming the Atlantic Communities" will be discussed. Grace Sargent, junior in political science, will lead the discussion.

This is one of a series of topics planned in preparation for the IRC Regional Conference to be held Nov. 17-18 at the College of Puget Sound, Tacoma.

"Problems of National Communism" will be considered at the next meeting Nov. 9.

All interested students are invited to participate in the meeting, President Claire Cordier said. Refreshments will be served.

Garnett Directs Radio Program

The public school music class will present its weekly radio program, "Let's Sing, America," at 1:15 p.m. today on KOAC, under the direction of Miss Maude Garnett, professor of public school music.

Since October has been designated as Latin American month, and Cielito Lindo as song of the month, this, La Cucaracha, selected Halloween songs, and others will be sung.

The students are juniors in public school music and do this radio work without credit.

Halloween Fantasy Broadcast Today

A Halloween fantasy, "The Ghost of Benjamin Sweet," will be produced by the Radio Workshop at 4:30 p.m. today over KOAC.

"A filter microphone, used to produce a hollow, eerie effect, will signify the human characters, while the ghosts speak over a regular microphone," Terry Roseen, director, explained.

Star ghosts are Jack Heald and Ed Ragozinno, supported by Donald Hefty, Janet Harris, Marilyn Patterson, Vern Stolen, Pat Withers, Lorry Antijunti, and Gordon Green.

Dick Hardie and Elmarie Wendell are directors of sound and music.

First year students are welcome, as is any faculty member who enjoys speaking French, Francis Gillmore, club president, said.

Les Thelemites will also sponsor a French "causerie," or chat, at the College Side at 4 p.m. Tuesdays.
