

DUCK TRACKS

By Charles Peterson
Emerald Sports Writer

What cards Lady Luck will deal the Ducks Saturday are of course a mystery, but if fickle dame fortune should choose to pass out a few well-chosen kings and aces she couldn't pick a better place or a better time. It's been along two years since the Web-foot warriors made a successful invasion of the City of Angels, and it was the Trojans of USC who gave them a push on the downhill trail when they romped to a 40-13 win on the Coliseum turf just one year and one week ago tomorrow.

Bob Sanders

While nobody can write off nine losses in ten games to lousy luck, bad breaks, or fickle fate, the fact remains that there has been little if any good luck over that span, either. And we recognize that plain old unvarnished luck wins no football games, and any team which waits to have a ball game dropped in its lap will find itself on the short end until ice forms way down below.

Nevertheless, we'll allow that the Ducks wouldn't be averse to a portion of fortune if it should come their way. It will probably take a quantity of that mixed liberally with a winning spirit to bring Oregon out on top against the Trojans. If you are inclined to sneer at these elements, take a look at the Purdues, UCLAs, and North Carolina States who have made life miserable for favorites all season long.

If football games were decided in bookie joints and horse parlors, there would be no point in going through the motions on Saturday afternoons. If getting on the short end of the odds guaranteed being on the long end of the score, Oregon would be sporting a record of three wins and two losses. But Idaho and St. Marys had ideas apart from the experts, and here we are. So don't write the Ducks off yet. USC has had its troubles, and is certainly not infallible.

The last time the Webfoots rolled into Los Angeles to meet the Trojans they were a feared and powerful crew which had knocked off 19 of 22 opponents over a three season stretch. They had Bob Sanders, top running back in the conference, and Woodley Lewis, who led in kickoff returns. Chet Daniels was raising havoc with one of the most accurate kicking toes in football, and the team's offense was averaging 365 yards per game. All that failed to impress the men of Troy, who paraded up and down the Coliseum as though they owned it as they scored all their points in a wild second half.

That just about brings us up to Friday's predictions of Saturday's games, a task we have undertaken with many misgivings. The nature of this season's outcomes is enough to drive even the veteran pickers to distraction. Last week's record for this department was 25 right, 8 wrong, and 2 tied. We'll see if we can't better that .757 average with these straight-from-the-barn choices.

Oregon over USC. Call this one what you like, but we'll refer you to the record for proof that Trojans don't have much on the Ducks in any department. In fact, they haven't won a game at all, which puts them one behind in the most important department.

Washington over Stanford. Both these clubs saw perfect records go by the board last Saturday and need this game badly. The Huskies rate the nod on their better showing in defeat and their more convincing wins over common opponents, UCLA and Oregon State.

Oregon State over Montana. Tommy Kingsford won't operate as effectively in the Bell Field morass as he did here. The Beavers are hungry for a victory and shouldn't pass this up.

Washington State over Idaho. The battle of the Palouse Hills should go to the Cougars, who are coming along well under Forest Evashevski.

Non-conference tilts include California-St. Marys where the Bears get the call, and UCLA-Purdue, in which we'll string along with the Bruins. Elsewhere among coast teams, it's Willamette over College of Puget Sound, USF over Fordham, Marquette over Santa Clara, and Lolola over Nevada.

In the Midwest and the Rockies we give you Northwestern over Wisconsin, Michigan over Minnesota, Ohio State over Iowa, Illinois over Indiana, Notre Dame over Michigan State, Oklahoma over Iowa State, Kansas over Nebraska, Colorado over Utah, Iowa State over Kansas State, and Arizona over Denver.

In the South and Southwest they look this way: Rice over Texas, Texas A&M over Baylor, TCU over Mississippi, Kentucky over Georgia Tech, Wake Forest over Clemson, and Georgia over Boston College.

Student Affairs Gets Proposal For Wednesday Coke Dances

A proposal to hold Wednesday night coke dances in the fish-bowl has been forwarded to the Student Affairs Committee for approval. Action on the Student Union Board's measure will be taken Nov. 14.

If approved, the dances would probably be held each Wednesday night from 9:30 until 10:30. The SU Board recommended that the dances be held on the basis that they would provide recreation for students that would normally be in the Union that evening anyway.

All-campus functions are not permissible after 7:30 during week nights, and if the Student Affairs Committee decides that the coke dances will constitute an all-campus function they will necessarily reject the proposal.

During their regular Wednesday night meeting, the SU Board also discussed proposals by the Student Union Ballroom Committee that would provide weekly movies and Friday night dances in the ballroom. Action on these measures is pending.

Approval was given to plans submitted by the SU Recreation Committee for faculty and student bowling leagues during winter term and for the setting up of bridge and ping-pong tournaments.

Fulbright Award Applications Lag

Only four applications have been received for Fulbright scholarships by James D. Kline, foreign student adviser. The deadline has been extended to Nov. 3, Kline said.

Graduating seniors and graduate students should consider the possibility of filing for the award which offers opportunity for study abroad in one of 17 countries, according to Kline, and pays transportation, tuition, books, and maintenance for one academic year. Value of the scholarship is about $5,000.

Basic qualifications are: United States citizenship, a college degree or equivalent at the time the award is to be taken up, and some knowledge of the language of the country where the student is going.

It is absolutely certain that at least two students from the state of Oregon will be selected for awards, as that is the number allotted by federal law, Kline stated.

Rush Party at SU For Phi Mu Alpha

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia is holding a rushing program for 27 guests at 8 p.m. Monday, at the Student Union. There will be a program and refreshments, after which the members will vote on rushees.

Included in the program are Eldon Penttila, tenor, who is to sing the "Last Song," by Tosti, and Verdi's "Drinking Song," accompanied by Gene Slayter; Don Hibbard, who will play a bassoon solo, "Romanze," by Weissenborn; and Jack Loughery and John Keinzle, who will present a trombone duet by Ansdan.

To some people "law is order" simply means to lay down the law and give orders.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

- Today
- 12:30 p.m.—Freshman candidates, 313 SU
  - 4 p.m.—Foreign students, 110-111 SU
  - 7:30 p.m.—WAA Fun Nite, Gerlinger hall
- Saturday
- 9 a.m.—Oregon High School Press Conference, Student Union
  - 9:45 a.m.—Panhellenic, Gerlinger Men's Lounge
  - 11:15 a.m.—Broadcast of UCLA-Purdue Game, Student Union
  - 12 noon—Phi Delta Phi, 114 SU
  - 1:30 p.m.—Broadcast of Oregon-USC Game, Student Union
  - 8 p.m.—Nisei group, Gerlinger men's lounge
- Sunday
- 3 p.m.—String quartet concert, School of Music auditorium
  - 6 p.m.—Newman club, Gerlinger Annex
  - 7 p.m.—Panhellenic, 315 SU
  - 7:30 p.m.—Freshman assembly, Ballroom SU
- *Monday
- 12 noon—Deseret Club, 110 SU
  - 4 p.m.—Foreign Students, 110-111 SU
  - 7 p.m.—Co-ed Co-op Council, 114 SU
  - Orides, Gerlinger sunporch Yeomen, 110-111 SU
  - 7:30 p.m. SU Browsing Room Comm, 201 SU
  - Yell Squad, Ballroom SU
  - 8 p.m.—Phi Mu Alpha, 334 SU
  - SU Cultural Comm (Art Gallery group), 114 SU
  - 8:30 p.m.—Newman club, 113 SU
  - 8 p.m. ASUO Executive Council, 337 SU
- * This schedule does not constitute all meetings to be held in the Student Union on Monday, Oct. 30. For other room assignments, please check Bulletin Board in Main Lobby.

Mrs. Wickham Away

Mrs. Golda P. Wickham, director of women's affairs, has taken a vacation trip to California. She is expected back on Nov. 6.

8
More Days Until
HOME COMING

Employment Service Offers Various Jobs

The University Employment Service has jobs for men who will work as banquet waiters at the Student Union at 70 cents an hour. Men will be called only when banquets are being held.

A qualified barber is also needed for Saturday work at a local shop.

Also needed are men and women for various commission selling jobs.

HAND DIPPED
Chocolates & Fudge
Made in Eugene
SUGAR PLUM
63 E. Broadway

To all Good Jills
and Joes
Who are always
Late to shows,
If your date is
irate
When you're late
for that date
Then bring your watch into Bristow's

BRISTOWS
Jewelers
620 Willamette

LOOK OUT!
He's Headed for
DUCK INN
On 11th near The Mayflower

NOTICE

Saturday, October 28th is the last day for delivering books and supplies to veteran students.

The Co-op is now returning unsold books to publishers. Students who have not purchased needed textbooks should do so at once.

U. OF O. CO-OP