

Violator's Fate

SOME GET IT, such as Mary Gillham, shown being dunked by Ray Karnofski and Dick Patrick, "Order of the O" members, for being caught violating a homecoming tradition. So far very few violators have shown up for punishment.

Weekend Plans Near Completion

By Pat Dignan

A weekend of fun, excitement, color, and memories is in store for students and alumni when Homecoming rolls around just two days away.

All annual traditions are now in force. Violators are being reported by Order of "O" enforcement officers and dunking penalties are being administered.

Highlight of the weekend will be the dedication of the new Student Union, given competition, of course, by the Homecoming game with WSC.

Noise parade, sign contest, and bonfire plans are now completely prepared and await only the return of alumni to be put into operation. Judges have been picked, rules publicized, and prices ordered.

Formals and tuxes will not be in order for the Homecoming dance. It will be informal, and students are requested to wear suits and short silks. The Emerald incorrectly stated that the dance is semi-formal, which would indicate suits and formal dresses.

ed for winners of this year's competitive contests.

This year's Homecoming dance will be led by Ike Carpenter and his orchestra. Known throughout the west as a fine piano player, Carpenter will display these talents at the dance.

Tickets are now on sale in the Co-op and Student Union for $2.40.

Homecoming chairmen, led by Tom Barry, general chairman, had their last meeting before Homecoming Monday night. Les Anderson, alumni director, was present and spoke a few words to the group.

The success of this year's Homecoming will depend a lot on the alumni turnout. If the rain ceases for the weekend, a capacity crowd will be expected. Reports from the alumni office indicate that many Order of the "O" men will return to take part in the traditional march.

It is believed that the financial outcome of Homecoming will be favorable. Button sales have been going on for two weeks. The quota is 5,000 buttons to be sold. So far students and townspeople have responded well.

A special 16-page Emerald will be issued Saturday. Eight pages of the edition will feature Homecoming. They will include pictures and articles on the history of Homecoming with emphasis on traditions and how they started.

Annual Apple Sale Starts Next Week

"The tradition is old but the apples are new."

Gamma Alpha Chi, national women's advertising fraternity, will begin its annual fall term apple sale next week with Kay Kuckenberg as chairman.

Sales booths will cover the campus and jeans-clad saleswomen with baskets in their arms will invade the classrooms. Last year on this campus 2,640 apples were sold, but this year the organization plans to top all previous records.

Sales start Tuesday and will continue through next Thursday, and the price is one dime. (No athletic cards or coupons necessary.)

Directories Ready Soon, Says Wright

The 1950-1951 Student Directory, commonly known as the "Pigger's Guide," will be completed in an estimated 10 days, according to Virginia Wright, editor of this year's book.

The guide is at the printer's now and will probably be proofread this weekend. As soon as it is proofread the book will go back to be finished by the printers.

Last year the guide came out at Thanksgiving time.

Fewer Books This Year
 This year there will be fewer books printed due to higher costs of printing and materials. . . but the price has not been increased. According to Bruce Wallace, business manager of the directory, "It's simply a matter of first-come, first-served."

When the book does come out, it will be up to each student to pay 50 cents a copy at purchase time, Wallace stated.

"This year in order to save bookwork and the student's time in registration lines, no money was taken for the book, at that time," he explained.

The Yeomen, off-campus men's organization, will sell the book this year. Places and dates of distribution will be published next week.

200 Kids Attend Halloween Party

Over 200 grade-school age children attended the first Alpha Phi-Sigma Nu Halloween party Tuesday night at Sigma Nu.

Alpha Phi B. J. Boner reported that nearly half of the guests arrived by 7 p.m.

The kids were treated to Mickey Mouse, Woody Woodpecker and other comedies, and a fake boxing match staged by Chuck Schofield, and Tony Robenette.

The usual Halloween entertainment was provided at the party which the two organizations plan to make an annual affair.

Rich Terieson and Larry Dean headed the Sigma Nu part of the program.

Rally Set Today; Classes Shortened

Today's Homecoming rally assembly, starting at 11:15 a.m., will be the first of two rallies held in preparation for the Oregon-WSC football game on Saturday.

The next rally will be the bonfire rally on Friday at Howe Field.

The assembly will be held in the Student Union ballroom. Plenty of chairs will be provided for students in attendance, Barry Mountain, ASUO president stated.

Besides the usual yells and songs led by the rally squad, football coaches will speak to the assembled students and faculty members. Entertainment, music, and speeches will compose the bulk of the assembly.

Mountain, speaking of the rally, said, "I know that all students will participate in the rally through their attendance at the assembly."

He also urged that all faculty members attend the rally today.

Following is the temporary schedule of classes for today: 8-8:40, first period; 8:50-9:30, second period; 9:40-10:20, third period; 10:30-11:10, fourth period; 11:15, rally assembly. Afternoon classes will follow the regular schedule.

Sumner Welles Speech Slated

Sumner Welles, former under-secretary of state, will speak on "The United States in World Affairs," at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 9 at McArthur Court. He will be introduced by President H. K. Newburn.

Recognized as a foremost authority in American foreign policy, Welles will discuss the major problems which must be solved to secure a durable peace.

After resigning from the State Department in 1943, the diplomat began editing a column on foreign affairs for the New York Herald Tribune. He is the author of "The Time for Decision," "Where Are We Heading?" and "We Need Not Fail."

Welles was the American statesman who first conceived creation of the United Nations, and since leaving the State Department has been active in furthering its interests through his broadcasts, books and lectures.

'Born Yesterday' Reopens Tonight At UO Theater

"Born Yesterday" reopens its run this evening, with performances scheduled for Wednesday through Saturday nights in the University Theater.

The three-act comedy will be presented next Monday evening to the Business and Professional Women's club of Springfield. The group requested the theater to postpone the performance, originally planned for last Monday, because of flood conditions.

Curtain time Friday night will be at 9:15, to allow theater-goers that night to attend the dedication ceremonies of the Erb Memorial Student Union.

Virginia Hall, theater business manager, reported that students may make reservations for tonight's and Thursday's performance at the box office, since there are still some seats remaining.

The Friday and Saturday night performances conflict with homecoming activities, Miss Hall said, but reservations for those nights are selling rapidly.

"Students should make reservations if they wish to see the play," Miss Hall said. "We do not wish to disappoint students, but it is not likely that extra performances will be given."

2 Foreign Students Invited to Willamette

Hildegard Ziegler from Germany and Hanns Hock from Austria, two of the foreign students on campus, have been invited to attend a special International weekend on the Willamette university campus the end of this week.

Foreign students from schools all over the Northwest will be entertained at the meeting.

Formal Dedication of SU Set Friday

The Student Union building, already established in the public eye as an outstanding feature of the University, will be formally dedicated during ceremonies Friday night.

The dedication, to begin at 8:15 in the ballroom of the SU, will climax the completion of a memorial student union on this campus that 27 years ago was little more than optimistic foresight by a few people.

One of those people, John M. McGregor, will deliver the principal address at the dedication of the new building.

McGregor, who was ASUO president in 1923, was the first to advocate building the Student Union and conducted the first successful campaign for funds. The senior class of 1923 took the lead in the drive and each member pledged $10 for ten years. The drive continued through the years until the SU became a reality.

Lives in New York
 McGregor, who was twice national president of Alpha Tau Omega, received a degree in law from NYU in 1926 and has been practicing in New York City since that time.

After an introduction and a description of the occasion, Barry Mountain, ASUO president, will speak on what the building means to the students of the University. R. E. Kleinsorge, a member of the State Board of Higher Education, will explain the building program of the SBHE, and how the Student Union was a part of that program.

Dr. H. K. Newburn, president of the University, will officially dedicate the SU and speak on the need of such a building on a university campus. Governor Douglas McKay will also give an address.

Official Name
 The SU is officially known as the Erb Memorial Student Union in honor of Donald M. Erb who, as president of the University from 1939 until his death in 1943, is considered the greatest contributor toward the completion of the building.

University Singers, a group of 41 selected students, will make their initial appearance of the season at the dedication. They will sing "Mighty Oregon" and the Oregon pledge song.

Special SU Edition
 A special eight-page supplement to Friday's Emerald will feature the new building. Included in the special edition will be the history of the Student Union from 1923 until its doors were first opened last September.

It will also contain feature articles and pictures on each section of the building and explain the organization of the SU Board and the six standing committees.
