

U.N. Troops Advance; Russ Jet Planes Seen

Compiled by John Barton
From the Wires of Associated Press

Korean fighting is assuming a whirlpool shape today, with United Nations forces slashing north in some places and North Korean Communists continuing to drive south in others. United States tank-led 24th divisions troops are pushing to within 19 miles of the Manchurian border in one spot. But on the northeast front, other U.S. troops are having a tough battle with Reds about 51 miles from the Manchurian frontier.

Russian-Built Jet Fighters. . .

. . . were in action over Korean skies yesterday. They tangled in a dog-fight with U.S. airforce P-51s, but the fight was a draw. And when they decided to leave, the Communist-marked planes flew north over the Manchurian border. This may indicate that their homes are in Manchuria—Red China may be adding air power to its ground forces in the Korean fight.

Invasion of Tibet. . .

. . . has been admitted by Communist China. This may be one reason they are going into the Korean fight rather slowly. The Peiping radio yesterday said Red Forces have captured Changtu (Chamdo). That's about 100 miles inside what generally is considered to be Tibet. It's about 360 miles from the Tibetan capital city of Lhasa. And 4,000 Tibetan troops were killed in the fight for the city.

India Doesn't Approve. . .

. . . of Red China's attitude of going into Tibet. An official spokesman for the Indian government has said that his nation is not satisfied with reasons given for the Chinese invasion of Tibet. The reasons were the usual "liberation" of Tibet from capitalistic aggressors who would use the little mountain state as a base for attacks on China.

Trygve Lie Will Continue. . .

. . . as secretary-general of the U.N. for three more years after his term expires in February. Lie's term has been extended by the U.N. general assembly despite Soviet bloc protests that he will not be recognized by the Soviet. The vote was 46 to 5, with 7 abstentions. The U.S. had contended (and won its point) that Lie should be kept in office as an expression of confidence for the way he handled the Korean situation.

The security council of the U.N. had tried to handle the matter, but Russian vetoes forced it into the general assembly for a vote. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky has said that if Lie gets a new term, which he has, he will not be recognized by Russia. Whether the Reds will support this bluff won't be known until the new term starts in February.

Vietmih Pressure. . .

. . . on French forces in Indochina is being relaxed, French sources say. There is no explanation for the rather sudden stoppage of hard fighting which has been going on for several weeks, ever since the Red-supported natives sprang their trap on French forces. The outpost of Laokay has suddenly been given a rest, although three to four Vietmih battalions are thought to be in the area.

George Bernard Shaw. . .

. . . is near death in England. At last word yesterday an Anglican clergyman had come from his bedside and said that, although the famous playwright claims to be an atheist, "he believes in God." Shaw is said to be quite low, although there was no change for several hours yesterday.

Deceased King Gustav V. . .

. . . of Sweden is said to have left an estate amounting to about three million dollars. That's about 15 million Swedish crowns. This report, carried in the newspaper Aftonbladet, has no official confirmation from the Swedish government. Gustav died Sunday at the age of 92. Much of the estate will go into legacies and pensions, the newspaper said.

Progress in North Atlantic Defense. . .

. . . meetings has been made, according to U. S. Secretary of State Acheson. A positive blueprint for the contribution of forces and weapons by each nation has been formulated. French objections of a German army were finally ironed out, after a three-day hold-up. All the North Atlantic Pact nations, Acheson says, agree that there must be no German national army, no German war industry and no German general staff. The world is still touchy about Germany.

An Atom Bomb Aircraft Carrier. . .

. . . has been proposed in Washington by Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.), chairman of the House armed services committee. He wants immediate construction of a 60,000-ton aircraft carrier designed to handle planes carrying atom bombs. The biggest carriers now in service by the navy are of the 45,000-ton class. But a recent report said a plane capable of carrying atom bombs landed on a carrier of this class. Authorities figure the proposal will get little opposition in Congress, regardless of the outcome of elections.

Release of Naval Reserves. . .

. . . starting next year, was announced yesterday by the navy. Enlisted men will start leaving the service in July and officers will go in October. Those reservists to be released are men who will have been recalled to active duty involuntarily by the end of this year. But the navy cautioned that it will continue to call up reservists "for the foreseeable future." The release plans will let go about 5,000 men and 1,500 officers.

Chest Drive Continues; UO Nears Quota

The campus Community Chest drive continues to roll with house representatives taking the campaign into the individual living organizations, Georgie Oberteuffer, campus chairman, reported today.

"Remember that there are only seven days of the drive left," Miss Oberteuffer cautioned. "The entire campus will have to get behind the drive and work hard if we are to complete our quota within the time limit."

No quota has been set for individuals, but Miss Oberteuffer asks that everyone contribute to the appeal, no matter how small the amount. "We want everyone to give," she stated.

Contribution booths are available in the SU and in the Co-op for those who have not been contacted by Community Chest representatives. Cash gifts are not necessary as pledges are equally acceptable.

The campus quota of $4,000 is the same as last year's, but a smaller student body will make it necessary for all students to give more.

Flying speeches, posters, and assembly announcements are being used to publicize the drive and it is hoped that house soliciting may be completed within the next few days.

Students, Alumni All Welcome At Barbecue

This year's Homecoming Barbecue, scheduled for 11:30 a.m. Saturday in the Student Union ballroom, will be open to students and alumni alike, Barbara Clerin, chairman, announced Wednesday.

Tickets, which will be on sale at registration booths, are $1 a plate. Instead of having a separate luncheon this year, Order of "O" members will attend the barbecue.

"The barbecue provides alumni with an opportunity to see the Student Union and the dedication proceedings," Miss Clerin said.

The program will include music, singing, and entertainment by a group from Phi Gamma Delta.

Phi Theta Upsilon, Druids, and Skull and Dagger, service honoraries, will help in the self-service system. Janice Taylor is in charge of cleanup.

Austrian Artist To Show Works

Marianne Gold, Austrian-born sculptor, will present an exhibition of her work opening at 2 p.m. Monday in the Little Gallery in the architecture school.

The show will consist of figures and portraits presented through the media of wood, terra-cotta, bronze and plaster.

Miss Gold, who has been a resident at Reed College in Portland since 1943, studied in Paris at Academie Ranson under Aristide Maitlôl. She has exhibited her work in the San Francisco Museum of Art and at the Paris Exposition of 1937, among others. Miss Gold has also presented one-woman shows in Paris and New York.

Nov. 22 has been announced as the closing date for the show.

IDC, IFC List Proposed Rush Rules

Printed below is the complete program for men's rushing and pledging set up Wednesday afternoon by the Interdormitory Council. ASUO President Barry Mountain emphasized that should this program be adopted by both IFC and IDC, it will be in effect only until the end of spring term.

Mountain added that the Executive Council of the ASUO is presently investigating the entire program of deferred rushing, possibly to recommend that it be changed.

"Certainly," said Mountain, "by the end of spring term a completely new and effective program will be set up to go into effect at the beginning of next fall term."

Tentative Rush Policy

1. Freshman rushing and pledging will be allowed for a maximum period of eight days ending before Nov. 22, 1950. All fraternities will use the same period of eight days or less.

2. Any man who is eligible and decides not to rush and pledge during this period will be allowed to rush and pledge the second week in winter term and the second week in spring term only. For the benefit of all concerned, this information will be published prior to rushing in the Oregon Daily Emerald.

3. Freshman pledges will participate in no activities with their fraternities for the rest of their freshman year, except every Sunday when they will be allowed to go to the houses. This "Sunday clause" will not hold true when it conflicts with campus activities such as Homecoming, Junior Weekend, etc., (dormitories having precedence.)

4. Freshman pledges will be allowed to go to their respective fraternity house dances except when fraternity and hall dances are on the same night. In this case the hall will have precedence.

5. All hall meetings will be attended by freshman pledges. They will not attend fraternity house meetings, nor will they participate in an orientation program given by the fraternity (including pledge lessons.)

6. Freshman pledges will give full loyalty in intramurals, and other campus activities to the dormitory, for the entire year.

7. IDC, in order to enforce the rules agreed upon by IDC and IFC, will require that a tribunal be set up. It will consist of three IDC and two IFC members who will pass judgement on any fraternity, dormitory, or individual who violates the regulations.

8. When a man violates the regulations, he and his house will be held responsible to the tribunal. For the first offense, $50 will be charged the living organization, $25 of this going to IDC and $25 to IFC. For the second offense, a man will lose his right to continue pledging to his fraternity.

9. Any changes of the above rules will require an amendment by both IDC and IFC.

10. This is a temporary procedure and effective only to the end of spring term, 1951, when the policy will revert back to the original program of rushing only in the middle of winter term. However, if members of IFC and IDC decide to change the policy next year, it may be amended.

Pearson Calls For UO Talent

Don't miss your chance to "get in the act."

Two auditions will be held for campus entertainers Tuesday in the Student Union.

Gerry Pearson, campus entertainment chairman, explained that these auditions, which will be held at 4 and 7 p.m. are just for the purpose of establishing files.

"Acts don't have to be in shape," she said. "If your act is just tentative, then bring the idea. If you can't come to either of the auditions, please let me know by phone so that I can get your name in the file."

Miss Pearson especially wants to see freshmen who are interested in entertaining. She said that she would work with them in arranging and developing their talent.

"Since campus entertainers play before audiences both on and off the campus, a great variety is needed," she said. "Groups, musical acts, instrumentalists, solo acts, and M. C.'s can be used, just to name a few."

Miss Pearson, who was appointed to the entertainment post by the Executive Council Monday, will be expected to furnish talent at a moments notice.

"That's why the file is so vitally important," she said.

"Please don't be backward. There won't be any criticism at the auditions, and they will be held privately. We know that no one will be in top form."

Russian Film To Run Today

"They Met in Moscow," dubbed the Russian "Oklahoma" because of its folk tunes and comical drama, will be shown at 3:30 p.m. today in 101 PE, and at 7:30 p.m. in 207 Chapman under the auspices of the Russian Arts Club.

The 86-minute movie has been acclaimed from an artistic viewpoint as one of the best Russian movies made. Nevertheless it is saturated with Russian propaganda. It was released from the Soviet Union in 1946.

Admission tickets for 35 cents will be sold at the door. Permission will be granted to freshmen women who wish to attend.

Clubs Meet Tonight

There will be a meeting of Phi Theta Upsilon, Skull and Dagger, and Druids at 6:30 tonight in the Student Union ballroom to discuss serving for the Homecoming barbecue.
