

Webfoot Practice Eases Off

By Pete Cornacchia

A week of light practice will be concluded by Oregon's football Ducks this afternoon when Coach Jim Aiken sends his charges through a brief dress rehearsal. Indicating that his team is in satisfactory condition, Aiken has emphasized rest in place of the usual heavy work with pads.

The Webfoots won't be the only ones to "limber up on the turf-covered mud, for the invading Washington State Cougars will arrive in time for a short session.

Timing Stressed

Most of Thursday's drill was spent in running plays against no opposition in an effort to improve precision. A few new plays, designed especially to be used against the WSC type of defense, were given considerable attention.

Despite the wet weather which has prevailed here and is expected this weekend, three of Oregon's quarterbacks — Earl Stelle, Hal Dunham, and Jim Calderwood — have thrown a lot of passes during the week. Dunham threaded the needle consistently Wednesday afternoon.

Injury List

Injuries may limit three men to only brief action against the strong Cougar eleven. End J. D. McCowan is still recovering from a long-suffered leg injury and once again is a doubtful participant this weekend. Tackle Bob Anderson will be returning to battle after missing the USC trip due to a shoulder injury. Guard Chet Daniel's leg is still lame, but he is expected to go against WSC. Stelle, Center Dick Patrick, and Halfback Bob Carey, on the injury list during the week, were listed by Aiken as ready for duty.

SAE and Betas Take Victories

Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Beta Theta captured victories in intramural cross country racing yesterday afternoon. Sigma Alpha Epsilon took the easy route to success as their opponents, Hunter Hall and the Yeomen, failed to arrive with the required number of participants and consequently forfeited.

Beta Theta gained a one-sided 41-19 triumph over Delta Upsilon. Jack Hutchins led the runners to the finish line with a time of 4:40.

Meet Bob Anderson Served Long and Well

By Bill Gurney

Back in 1945, a husky freshman end won his first varsity "O" for Tex Oliver's Oregon Webfoots. Bob Anderson is his name, and the current season is his fourth for the Ducks, with a two year time-out in the armed forces.

This record makes the 23-year-old Anderson the squads' senior athlete in point of long and faithful service.

He won three letters at the end position, but was switched to tackle this spring in a move calculated to add balance to the Oregon line. He has adjusted well to his new job, using his 206 pounds in effective manner on both offense and defense.

Nordic Type

"The tackle spot is easier, but bruising like any other place on a football team," Bob said.

He is a tall, blonde nordic type,

with a disarming smile and an easy going manner.

Bob hails from the uniquely named city of Scappoose, Oregon, which is near the Columbia River about 20 miles below Portland.

"It's a great place to live," he declared. One reason he gave was the fine salmon fishing thereabouts; and what red-blooded American male wouldn't understand that?

Versatile Athlete

Bob has been and still is a very versatile athlete. As a senior in Scappoose High, he brought home the state discus crown with a toss

Five Volleyball Teams Scratched To Scrimmage

Five teams have been eliminated from the WAA volleyball tournament as of yesterday's results.

University House received its first loss from ZTA 35 to 30, trailing 24 to 21 at the half.

Delta Gamma was eliminated by Kappa Kappa Gamma 41 to 35, half time score being 23 to 14 in favor of the Kappas.

Teams now eliminated are Hendricks Hall, Alpha Phi, Susan Campbell Hall, Delta Gamma, and Carson Hall.

of 153 feet. In the service at Port Hueneme, Calif., he played forward on a basketball team which won the 11th Naval District Championship. In addition to his football service here at Oregon, Anderson throws the discus for Bill Bowerman's track team.

Turning to other topics, we found that he receives his business administration degree in June, after which he has no illusions.

"Uncle Sam has the say," he smiled. He has considered a civilian career in the coaching profession, as well as the business world.

Here at school, Bob belongs to Kappa Sigma, and was a Skull and Dagger member.

Plays Poker

He says he likes to play a little poker on the football plane trips but was reticent about his luck.

"Ask Earl and Daugherty about that," he said.

Bob didn't make the trip to the Coliseum Saturday because he has a dislocated shoulder. He hopes to be ready for his last football game on the Hayward turf tomorrow, and the team can make good use of his battle-seasoned ability.

Did he think the alumni would be treated to a Webfoot win?

"It's all up to the guys and the student body," he replied.

Frosh Squads To Scrimmage

By Phil Johnson

Coach Bill Bowerman's much-improved Frosh football players will engage in an intra-squad scrimmage this afternoon. A light drill was held yesterday following Wednesday's spirited scrimmage, in which the Yearlings demonstrated definite improvement.

Ground Attack Better

The Ducklings ground attack also has improved, with Morris and Fullback Howard Hostetler outstanding. The tackles, led by Terry Picknell and Max Kendig who was shifted over from center, also showed great improvement.

Two of Bowerman's Yearlings, End Ted Anderson and Guard Howard Ailman, are temporarily sidelined with sprained ankles.

Deadlines For Swim Meet is Today

Today is the deadline for entries into the intra-school swim meet. Each organization must turn in its entrants in each event to Rod Harman at the Beta Theta Pi house.

Preliminaries are set for Tuesday at 4 p.m. Finals will be held Thursday at 4 p.m. Both meets will be held in the men's pool.
