'Real McCoy' Gets Radio Show Part

The director was having difficulty.

He was casting the radio fantasy, "Captain John and the Golden Locket" for presentation over KOAC Thursday at 4:30 p.m.

Several students had tried out for the parts and he had a pretty complete cast—all except for one part. He needed someone with an authentic French accent to play Marcy.

More people tried out—none of them were quite right. "They just don't sound authentic," Director Burt Filut said. Then, the last man in the studio, dressed in cords and a sweater, stepped up to the mike. He read the part of Marcy with the most genuine French accent Filut had heard. He got the part.

Later, in the control room, Filut asked the actor where he had learned the French dialect so well. "At home, in Paris," was the answer.

Marcy is being played by Pierre Pasquio, exchange student from France.

Bridge Players To Vie Tonight In First Meet

Bridge players from 24 organizations will vie tonight for honors in the first annual all-campus bridge tournament sponsored by the recreation committee of the Student Union Board.

Playing will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the Student Union, and should end by 10:30, Chairman Steve Englemann said. The teams will be divided into two sections.

Finalists will include first and second place section winners of north-south and east-west teams. Time for the play-off will be set by the finalists, Englemann stated.

To Present Trophies
 Rotating trophies will be presented to the winning men's and women's houses, and small permanent trophies to individual winners. Second-place winners will be awarded permanent plaques.

Teams entered in the tournament represent Gamma Phi Beta, Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Alpha Delta Pi, Delta Gamma, Phi Gamma Delta, Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Phi, Alpha Omicron Pi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Theta Chi, Delta Upsilon, Beta Theta Pi, Phi Sigma Kappa, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Ordes, Hendricks Hall, Gamma Hall, Alpha Hall, Sigma Hall, and Highland House.

Members of the YWCA Upper-class Commission cabinet will act as scorers, with Jean Gould as chairman. Englemann will be tournament director.

BA Staff Members To Promote Clinics

A series of "business clinics" in a number of communities in the State of Oregon will be handled by staff members of the Business Administration school, Victor P. Morris, dean of business administration, announced recently.

The committee in charge consists of Morris, C. F. Zeibarth, W. D. Richens, W. W. Blaine, and A. L. Lomax, professors of business administration.

Current business problems, such as problems growing out of inflation, tax loads, government regulations, and other local problems will be discussed.

Exact dates have not been set. A tentative schedule includes talks about the end of November, with others appearing in December, January, and later in spring.

The business school will work in conjunction with Chambers of Commerce in communities where talks will be held.

Ford to Begin Series

S. T. Ford, professor of business administration, will act in connection with the Portland Housing Authority in giving a series of six talks to employees on public relations, responsibilities, and employee opportunities.

The series, beginning Monday 13, will continue for six weeks.

Club Sponsors 'Table'

The Spanish Club is sponsoring a "Spanish Table" at noon today at the Anchorage. All students taking Spanish may attend, as well as all Spanish-speaking foreign students.

Possible topic of conversation will be the coming foreign language department Christmas party.

'Duck Quacks' Picks Richardson

Stu Richardson was chosen outstanding Sigma Chi of the week Tuesday on "Duck Quacks," a new radio show honoring a different campus living organization each week.

The program, sponsored by haberdasher Keith Fennell, was aired at 7:15 Tuesday night over KERG. Richardson received a belt buckle from Fennell for having won his title.

The Sigma Chi song squad sang "Of All the Ones," with Millard McClung as soloist. The chapter house was the scene of the broadcast, and among those interviewed by Announcer Reg Roos were President Lin Sloan, Social Chairman Mike Moran, and Intramural Chairman Darhl Davis.

Alpha Chi Omega sorority will be honored on the broadcast next week. The program is transcribed.

Plans for Pledges Discussed by Group

"How to get acquainted with your sorority" was the main topic of discussion at the Junior Panhellenic meeting Tuesday.

Members talked about various plans of the pledges to enable them to get to know the girls who are living in the sororities, and exchanged ideas concerning the problem.

The group also discussed plans for the all-pledge banquet which is tentatively scheduled for the first week in winter term. Study hours, scholarship, and the honor system of studying as applied to the various houses were also discussed.

The next meeting will be held at the Kappa Alpha Theta house Nov. 21.

Come grape season, we can expect the growers to squeeze out a nice profit.

Films Feature Land Customs

Feature movies of customs in other lands will be shown at 7 and 9 p.m. tonight in 207 Chapman.

"Rhythm of Africa," a short on the arts, handicrafts and traditional ceremonial dances of an Indian tribe in French Equatorial Africa, will be shown. These have never before been filmed and the music with the movie has rarely been heard.

The story of a Mexican girl, "Chata," will be the main attraction. Colorful dress, gay fiestas and stately dances lend interest to the theme of Mexican life.

"Zapotec Village," the third of the movies, pictures life among the Mexican Indians.

These movies are part of a series sponsored by the Student Union Board for students, faculty and townspeople.

Student Leaders To Visit Corvallis

Four members of the ASUO Executive Council will leave Friday to represent the University of Oregon at a three-day meet of the Oregon Federation of Collegiate Leaders.

The meeting will be held Friday through Sunday at Oregon State College in Corvallis.

Anita Holmes, Emerald editor, Don Smith, senior representative, Eve Overback, ASUO second vice-president, and Dave Rodway, junior representative will make up this University's delegation.

All phases of student activities and government are slated for discussion. OSC hosts announced that delegates would be guests at the OSC-University of Idaho football game and an after-game dance. They added that dates would be furnished if advance notice was given.

Voting Surprizes Foreign Students

Amazement at the seemingly casual way votes are safeguarded was the main response of the foreign students who toured election polls Tuesday afternoon.

Two German students grilled women working on the election and counting boards visited, trying to show how illegal voting could be done under the present system.

The voting system was explained to the students by election board members. The tour included a poll in University High School and one in a private home. They thought it unusual to find a poll in a private dwelling instead of a public building.

The trip was conducted by Carolyn Oleman and Marilyn Peterson, members of the YWCA International Affairs Committee.

University Wins

University House captured first place in League 3 Tuesday by beating Zeta Tau Alpha, 41-21, after leading 22-12 at the half. Jean Godknecht led the winners with 10 points, while Barbara Murray tallied 6 for ZTA.

The final two games of the regular season are scheduled for today.

Final play-offs begin Monday.

WHERE ARE YOU GOING?

Students at the American Institute for Foreign Trade can answer this question. They are preparing themselves for careers overseas with American business firms or government agencies. Under the guidance of distinguished men who have served abroad, they plan successful careers in foreign trade. The intensive course of study is designed for mature students doing upper-level college work. It is a dynamic new idea in education that teaches not only business techniques, fluency in foreign languages, but understanding of the world outside.

Registration for Second Semester Begins February 2, 1951
