Three Steps For World Union Told

Welles Outlines Foreign Policies

By Adeline Garbarino and Gene Gould

Three major steps have been taken toward world union and peace in the past five years, Sumner Welles told an attentive audience in McArthur Court Thursday night.

They are, he said: the leadership of the United States in the United Nations during the past two months, the Marshall Plan, and the Schuman Plan for control of coal, steel and iron in Western Europe.

With much international control, said Welles, Germany could not rise as a great military power and the first step toward a united states of Europe, including Germany, will have been taken.

Policy Essential

The foreign policy the United States is now following is essential, Welles continued, but it is at best a negative policy.

As a more positive program he recommended that the U. S. strengthen its propaganda to the satellite countries and prove that we have a better alternative to communism.

"Little by little the 'Iron Curtain' will rust and drop away if the people of the United States have the courage to keep on sacrificing and hold out against communism," the statesman asserted.

Marshall Plan

The Marshall Plan has been an outstanding success in many countries, Welles declared. The standards of the British people have improved a great deal in recent years and in France, industrial production has increased almost 140 per cent.

Welles referred to the Schuman Plan as offering the most practical means for controlling German militarism.

"It can be the first great step in the creation of a United States of Europe, including Germany," he declared.

Roosevelt Policy

Welles also discussed the late Franklin Roosevelt's ambitions for a peaceful and unified China and Asia.

"Roosevelt did not sell China down the river when he and Stalin entered into an agreement at the Yalta conference," Welles contended.

"If the present administration had followed Roosevelt's policies after his death, much of the tragedy and suffering of today would have been avoided," he said.

Welles said that he does not believe that the Red China government should be recognized by the United States or admitted to the United Nations: (1) a United Nations commission had been sent to Korea to investigate what has happened there. (2) Until the Chinese Communist government at least shows an inclination of abiding by international rules of government.

U. N. Guiding Power

"The United States is the guiding power for the United Nations, which is now stronger in actuality than it has ever been before,"

Welles Airs Views in Press Talk

Opportunities in the foreign service are now better than ever for college students, visiting statesman Sumner Welles told the assembled press at a conference Thursday morning in the Student Union.

"Pay is much better now than it was in 1915 when I started out as secretary of the embassy in Tokyo," Welles said. "Employment is gained through examinations rather than favoritism and this is attested by the fact that foreign service jobs are occupied by men from all sections of the country. Furthermore, there are more applications for these posts than ever before."

Discussing the present state of the world, Welles said, "The Marshall Plan, the Schuman Plan, and the success in enabling the United Nations General Assembly to take immediate and prompt action in

Monday-Friday Session Sets Three Dates Daily; Chairmen Meet Sunday

Pre-rushing registration for men will begin this morning in the Office of Student Affairs.

The official four-day rushing period will begin Monday, ending next Friday night, the Interfraternity Council decided at a meeting Wednesday night.

Pre-rushing registration will be conducted all day today and Saturday until 2 p.m. All men desiring to rush will fill out the required IFC rushing card and pay the $5 rushing fee.

These cards will be checked over the weekend by the Office of Student Affairs to determine scholastic eligibility.

Rushing chairmen of all fraternities will meet at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Student Union to receive lists of all eligible rushees.

Rushing, beginning Monday, will consist of three dates each day. No rushee can have more than two dates on any one day and no more than four dates with any one fraternity during the rushing period. Rushing hours will be lunch, dinner and evening dates, ending by 7 p.m.

Freshmen who do not wish to go through fall term rush week will not have an opportunity to rush and pledge until the second week of winter term, during a regular rush period.

Scholastic requirements for rushing are set under IFC ruling as a 4 prep decile or the upper two-thirds of the rushee's high school graduating class, in which case a letter is needed from the high school principal. Old students and transfers must have a 2.00 GPA.

Sign Date Cards

Date cards will be filled out from 3 to 5 p.m. Monday in Gerlinger annex. Two representatives from each fraternity, together with officials will be present Monday to assist rushees in filling out their date cards.

During the rushing period, rushees will have no contact with fraternity men other than scheduled dates and the Monday afternoon meetings in Gerlinger annex. No fraternity man will be permitted inside any dormitory and not more than two fraternity men in any house will be permitted in the vicinity of Gerlinger annex while dates are being made.

All present IFC rushing rules, modified to fit the dates of this rush week, are in effect and freshmen are cautioned that any violation on their part will result in not only a fine to the offending house but also in forfeiture of the rushee's right to pledge such house.
