Oregon to Invade Husky Territory

Oregon's Webfoots will be confronted with two situations, one normal and one strange, when they fly to Seattle this afternoon for Saturday's contest against the vaunted Washington Huskies.

The Ducks will be underdogs for the sixth time this season when they head north at a time when most of their feathered clan are winging south.

A fair-sized delegation of Oregon rooters is expected to watch the contest in which one team will be fighting to remain in Rose Bowl consideration while the other will be seeking its first conference win in 10 starts.

Coach Jim Aiken sent his Oregons through the week's final heavy workout Thursday and indicated satisfaction with the results of reverting to rugged scrimmage throughout the week. The Ducks exhibited more fire than they have shown for some time and exhibited a good running, passing, and blocking, according to Aiken. Defense work also claimed considerable attention as the squad sought a solution to the passing of Washington's Don Heinrich.

Quarterback Hal Dunham's performance against Washington State was good enough to win him a starting berth this weekend. Earl Stelle and Tommy Edwards likely will start at the halfback posts and Fullback Carl Ervin completes the probable backfield.

Emile Holeman, defensive halfback lost for the season with a leg injury, is the only member of the squad definitely out of the contest because of injuries. Guard Gene Edwards and Halfbacks Bob Carey and Ron Lyman are listed as doubtful participants.

Washington, too, is bothered by minor injuries and likely will send a makeshift lineup against the visitors.

UO Gridders Meet Huskies As Underdogs

An underdog Webfoot team invades Washington Stadium tomorrow afternoon for the 44th game of a series dating back to 1907. The count now stands at 21 wins for the Huskies, 18 for Oregon, and 4 ties.

Last year's fray was perhaps the best in the long series. Offense-minded Oregon lost 27-28 to a Husky attack sparked by Don Heinrich and Hurryin' Hugh McElhenny—two young men who are kingpins of the current Purple and gold machine. Earl Stelle's passing, and a 67 yard kickoff return by Woodley Lewis were among Oregon bright spots.

In 1948, the Cotton Bowl year, Oregon squeezed by a fighting Huskie club, 13-7. Bob Sanders, Van Brocklin, and Brad Ecklund played fine ball for a co-championship Webfoot clan which was almost humbled by the men of Howie Odell.

The 1947 Ducks won 6-0, on some All-American running and pass receiving by scatback Jake Leicht.

The 1946 game was a 16-0 victory for the Huskies, coached by Ralph "Pest" Welch, and it gave Washington four straight triumphs over the Ducks.

We must harken back to 1941 for another Webfoot victory, a 19-16 thriller by a band of underdog Oregons.

Pups-Ducklings to Vie On Hayward Saturday

Hoping for their 13th consecutive victory and their second straight undefeated and untied season, the powerful University of Washington Pups will battle the once-beaten Oregon Frosh at 1:30 p.m. Saturday on Hayward Field.

Coach Johnny Cherberg's high-scoring Pups averaged a sensational 40 points per game as they routed the Idaho Frosh 61-7, the potent Oregon State Rooks 33-18, and the Washington State Couababes 26-6. The latter two squads were undefeated and untied until they met the Seattle gridders.

Washington's last defeat, Coach Cherberg's only setback during his three years as head mentor of the Pups, was suffered at the hands of Coach Bill Bowerman's Oregon Ducklings in the 1948 opener for both teams. The Ducklings won a thrilling 25-24 victory in that clash, but the Pups came back in 1949 to ruin an undefeated season for the Frosh by seizing a one-sided 59-13 vengeance win.

The Oregon Yearlings opened the 1949 season with an easy 32-6 triumph over the Willamette University Jayvees at Hayward Field, but they dropped their next contest to the OSC Rooks at Corvallis, losing 23-7. Saturday's game is the third of the season on the Duckling schedule, which will be completed on the following Saturday, when the Rooks travel to Eugene for a return engagement.

The Pups hold an edge in their all-time series with Oregon. Washington has taken 12 wins while holding Oregon to 3. Two games ended in deadlocks.

Coach Bowerman has been highly pleased with the notable spirit displayed by his warriors during the practice sessions this week. The Duckling aerial attack has demonstrated definite potentialities with Quarterback Barney Holland and Left Half Jack Morris pitching the pigskin and Ends Don Hedgepeth and Pat O'Brien handling the receiving chores.

The Pups have three outstanding fullbacks, including 220-pound Ron "Tiny" Madlin, who reputedly won all-American prep honors at Bremerton high last year.

Dean Rockey and Arnold Bergh, described as "good passers," will handle the quarterbacking duties in the Pup T-formation. One of the outstanding linemen is Fred Robinson, a 216-pound Negro guard from Connecticut.

One of the strangest battles in the history of Frosh-Pup competition was the 1940 clash, in which Oregon gained only two first downs (none rushing, one in the air, and one on penalties). The Ducklings gained eight yards rushing and seventeen in the air as they lost 9-0. It was the only loss of the season for Coach John Warren's Yearlings.

Parade in Eugene For Armistice Day

Armistice Day will be celebrated in Eugene Saturday with a parade starting at 9:30 a.m. Featured will be large fairy-land character balloons, of the sort used in Macy's parade in New York, and the Mardi Gras in New Orleans.

A number of local bands will march in the parade, along with 150 Boy Scouts who will be escorts for the balloons. A representative of the Eugene Chamber of Commerce stated that the procession is scheduled to last a little less than an hour.

The parade will assemble at 5th and Willamette, then travel south on Willamette to 14th St. It will proceed east on 14th to Pearl, north on Pearl to 10th, west on 10th to Olive, north on Olive to Broadway, east on Broadway to Pearl, and north on Pearl to 8th.

Auditions for Radio To Continue Friday

Auditions will be continued for announcers for the University radio studios at 4 p.m. Friday.

The auditions were started on Wednesday and were publicized in the Emerald on that day. Participants were numerous, according to the radio department, and students had to be asked to come back on Friday.

Auditions for disc-jockeys will be announced later.

Welles Outlines . . .

 Welles said. He compared it to the old League of Nations which failed because of the selfish purposes on the part of Great Britain and France.

"If the United States attempts to make the UN an instrument for promotion of our temporary benefit it will contribute to its failure also," Welles claimed.

"The times are critical," said Welles. "I think we are now headed in the right direction."
