Sigma Chi's Sweetheart, Lyn Hartley, Delta Gamma, was introduced last night on KORE.

The Sweetheart is five foot six inches tall, 111 pounds with brown hair and green eyes. Although Miss Hartley now resides in San Diego, Cal., she attended Grant High School in Portland, where she lived for three years. She is a Pre-Nursing major and lists sailing as her favorite hobby.

As Sweetheart Miss Hartley will have traditional duties. She will act as hostess for all house activities, such as dances, exchange dinners, desserts, Christmas parties and birthday celebrations.

Picture Sent In

Her picture will be sent to the national headquarters of Sigma Chi, where she will be entered in the National Sweetheart Contest.

The national contest is conducted on the same plan as each individual chapter in selecting their Sweetheart. Five finalists are invited to attend the Grand Chapter, where one is chosen Sweetheart of Sigma Chi on a national basis.

Miss Hartley and her four princesses will reign at the annual Sweetheart Dance which will be held Dec. 2. Last years Sweetheart, Pat Laney, will be present at the dance. She is no longer in school, but will come from San Francisco to attend the dance.

Recalled Vets Told to See VA

Veterans recalled to active duty while receiving benefit payments from the Veterans Administration should notify the VA office handling his records immediately, the Veterans Guidance Center announced Wednesday.

No veteran may receive such payments as subsistence allowances and compensation for service-connected disabilities once he goes back into uniform, under the law.

It was explained that if a veteran receives such a payment after he has entered active duty, he should return it to the VA office which has his records, or it will remain as an overpayment against him until disposed of.

The notification to the VA should include the veterans "C" (claims) number, complete name and address, amount of the payment, what it is for, and date on which he is going back into the service.

SDX Meets Tonight Teachers Association

Sigma Delta Chi, national men's journalism fraternity, will meet at 7:30 tonight in the Student Union, Secretary Jim Knight announced.

The main topic on the agenda will be selection of fall term pledges.

SU Cancels Ballroom Committee

The Student Union ballroom committee was abolished as such and four ballroom sub-committees and one other sub-committee were incorporated into the SU Directorate in a Wednesday meeting of the SU Board.

Four sub-committees that formerly made up the ballroom committee were elevated to the Directorate level. They are Concert, dance, movie, and workshop.

Committees Separated

The art gallery sub-committee was separated from the cultural committee and given full recognition as a standing committee. This increases the size of the directorate from six to ten. Chairman of each SU standing committee compose the Directorate.

The move came as a result of the increased amount of work being handled by committee chairmen. Present duties of the ballroom and cultural committees chairmen were not foreseen when the six standing committees were established by the SU Board last spring.

To Reorganize Later

Reorganization of the directorate will take effect later this term. Hank Panian, board chairman, appointed a special committee to handle petitions and interviews for the newly created positions.

The five positions will be open to any student having a 2.00 GPA who is not a member of the Executive Council. Petitions will be due in the program director's office in the SU by 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Coke Dances Proposed

Recent proposals by the SU Board to have weekly coke dances on Wednesday and mixers following Friday night basketball games at home were tabled by the Student Affairs committee.

The committee, which met Tuesday, set the measures aside until their next meeting Dec. 12, pending more information.

Applications for Exams Taken Out by Students

Students Say Drink Problem Not too Grave

By Larry Hobart

What is your opinion concerning drinking on the Oregon campus?

The problem of drinking on the part of students, which recently received public attention through the citing of minors in campus taverns and the oral suspension of five dormitory men for drinking in a dorm room, was reviewed by Oregon students today. The majority of opinions indicated that they did not view the problem as serious.

Bud Allen—sophomore in liberal arts—"I don't believe that problem is serious. The students recently suspended by the administration were old enough to drink and adult enough to make their own decisions. If some punishment must be inflicted, probation would be the best thing. It's a matter of individual responsibility."

Tom Burns Jr.—senior in social studies—"I think the rules regarding liquor in the dorms are too stringent. However, if the rules are on the books, they should be enforced. Persons 21 should be allowed to drink when they please."

Dick Kading—junior in business administration—"Drinking does pose a problem. I believe in moderation but see no reason why a person over 21 years of age shouldn't be allowed to drink as long as he doesn't involve minors. Concerning the episode at Barrister Inn, I think the students will appeal the case successfully. Drinking doesn't seem to be out of hand to me."

Sarah Turnbull—sophomore in liberal arts—"It will be difficult to enforce the rules concerning drinking and not infringe on the student's liberties. Matters concerning drinking in women's living organizations could be handled much more efficiently within the organization. The present system channels all disciplinary action through the office of women's affairs."

Bill Earl—freshman in business administration—"Oregon has been advertised as a school which allows a great deal of personal liberty. If further restrictions were added to those all ready in force, including those in respect to drinking, a great many students would lose their desire to enroll here. However, I believe that the students caught with beer in the dorm should be punished, although suspension is a bit severe."

Maureen Coffa—sophomore in liberal arts—"I definitely don't think there should be drinking in the dorms. Drinking should be restricted to the Side and Taylor's and limited to persons over 21."

Al Gordon—junior in art—"I think it is unfortunate that the students caught drinking in Barrister Inn were suspended. It is especially tough on the foreign student. One drink of beer and all his effort is wasted. The rules should be more elastic."

Berkeley Brown—sophomore in pre-med—"I don't think the drinking problem is out of hand. It is much worse other places. If the students caught drinking in Barrister Inn were allowed to go without some punishment, regard for the rule would be destroyed. Suspension is a pretty serious thing. Something a little milder might prove just as effective."

Lois Ann Smith—senior in history—"There is much more drinking this year than last. The tense world situation is partly responsible. If the foreign student involved in drinking in the dorms is

E. G. Moll Gives Lecture on Poet At 8 p.m. Tonight

"Wordsworth, the Struggle for Poetry," will be the topic of a lecture to be presented by E. G. Moll, professor of English, at 8 p.m. tonight in 207 Chapman.

The lecture commemorates the death of William Wordsworth 100 years ago. It will present the struggle in Wordsworth's mind between the poetic and the unpoetic.

The English department states that this promises to be an excellent lecture—one of the best of the University Lecture Series this year. Since the war, Wordsworth has had an increasing number of readers because he seems to have the power of revitalizing man's "drooping" spirit.

Studied Poets

"Prof. Moll has made a study of the Romantic poets for many years, and, being a poet himself, has a sympathetic insight into Wordsworth's view of Life," said R. H. Ernst, professor of English.

Books by Prof. Moll are "Sedge Fire," "Native Moments," "Campus Sonnets," "Blue Interval," "Appreciation of Poetry," "Cut from Mulga," "Brief Waters," "Beware the Cuckoo," "The Water-hole," and another which is in the process of publication.

The lecture is open to the public.

'M. Vincent' Shows At Mayflower

"M. Vincent," Foreign Movie Club French selection coming to the Mayflower tonight, Friday, and Saturday, has won more top awards than any other foreign film in the history of movies.

Critics, educational leaders, and religious denominations have all praised the film, based on the life of Vincent de Paul and starring the brilliant French actor Pierre Fresnay.

A religious picture, "M. Vincent" has real appeal because the film itself has progressed by faith. When started no backer could be found. The people of France came to the film's aid and sent in contributions to start its production. All these contributions have been paid back.

suspended, he won't carry a very good impression of the United States back to his country. The administration has suddenly thrown a bunch of rules at students, and they are naturally going to complain."
