

Ducks Fly to Colorado; Frosh To Stay at Home

—Varsity—

A revenge-seeking Colorado eleven and several inches of snow await Oregon's Webfoots when Coach Jim Aiken's boys board an airliner at 9 a.m. today for a return engagement with the Buffaloes.

These particular Buffaloes certainly haven't been roaming where the skies are not cloudy all day, for the second contest between the two schools is expected to be played on a frozen turf covered by a thin layer of snow. Oregon holds the only win in the short series, a 42-14 triumph at Hayward Field.

Good Record

An impressive season's record has established Coach Dal Ward's Big Seven members as favorites to even the count. The Buffs have won three, including a 27-19 triumph over Nebraska, have lost four, and tied Utah. Oregon claims only a win over Montana in eight starts this season. A considerable difference in elevation may be another helpful factor to Colorado—just as it may have hindered their performance here last year.

The Webfoots again will be running into Fullback Merwin Hodel, who offered most of the Buffs' weak attack last year and is rated even better this season. The 195-pound junior has rolled up approximately 600 yards during the current campaign, including 92 yards against Oklahoma.

Tops Big Seven

Hodel's average of 4.1 per carry tops the efforts among fullbacks operating in the Big Seven loop. Press releases from Boulder have indicated that Hodel will miss the fray because of injuries but Art Litchman, Oregon's athletic news director, reports the big boy ready to go.

A light workout Thursday completed the week's home activities for the Ducks, who have been forced by heavy rains to do most of their work under the protection of the ROTC shed. Aerial drills claimed most of the time as Aiken called for lots of labor from Quarterback Hal Dunham. The slinging sophomore has shown tremendous improvement the past few weeks and his personal passing victory over Washington's Don Heinrich last weekend indicates a lot of trouble for the Buffaloes.

Missfeldt to Start

Aiken said Thursday night his starting lineup likely would be the same as that used against the Huskies, except for Chuck Missfeldt at fullback. Missfeldt, who hasn't started since the earlier part of the season, has shown enough in practice this week to give him a slight edge over Carl Ervin and Bob Moore. Halfbacks Tommy Edwards and Earl Stelle complete the backfield.

Two members of the squad will miss the trip because of injuries. Halfback Ron Lyman is still out of action because of a leg injury and has been joined on the sidelines by Guard Del Clemens, who is nursing a similar affliction.

Probable starting lineups:

OREGON	Pos.	COLO.
Brethauer	LE	Case
Munkrehm	LT	Thompson
Daniels	LG	Brynstad
Gibson	C	Jump
Liang	RG	Dunning
McCauley	RT	Thomas
Williams	RE	Johnson
Dunham	Q	Berry
Edwards	QH	Miller
Stelle	RH	Graves
Missfeldt	FB	Hodel

—Frosh—

Coach Bill Bowerman's Oregon will play their final game of the 1956 season when they meet the Oregon State Rooks at 1:30 p.m. today on Hayward Field.

Although the Rooks have captured victories in seven of their last nine clashes with the Ducklings, Oregon holds a definite margin over the Rooks in total wins since 1910. The Frosh have won 27 while losing 19 and tying 6.

Coach Bowerman's gridders seized decisive 33-6 and 13-0 triumphs over the Baby Beavers last year. The Duckling attack was constructed around the aerial talents of Quarterback Hal Dunham and the receiving efforts of Ends Jake Williams and Monte Brethauer.

Super Mann Ran Wild

The first Duckling-Rook collision of the 1956 season took place on October 20 at Corvallis. The Rooks won 23-7 as Left Half Dave Mann broke loose for 66 and 42-yard touchdown gallops through the Frosh defenses. Mann, recently reported to be suffering with an injured knee, might not see action today.

Rook Fullback Kaye Booth has an injured hip and also may be kept out of today's encounter, while first-string Quarterback Hogan Garrisi, out of action with a sprained ankle, definitely will miss the game.

Frosh Ready

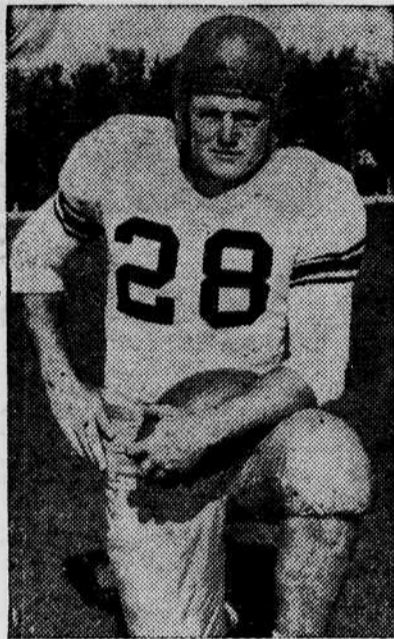

The Frosh are not bothered with serious injuries and are prepared to resist the Rooks at every step. Holding a record containing one win and two losses, the Ducklings rose to great heights Saturday afternoon before bowing to the Washington Pups 26-21. The Pups had previously submerged the Baby Beavers 33-18.

Oregon's lone victory was achieved at the expense of the Willamette Jayvees, who succumbed 32-6. Duckling Left Half Jack Morris caught two touchdown aeriels during the first quarter of that game.

Rooks Rough

The Rooks have averaged more than 37 points a game while defeating three of four opponents. After routing the Willamette Jayvees 45-7, they won the afore-mentioned game with the Frosh and then lost their next battle to Washington.

Their latest performance featured a 65-0 rout of the Lewis and Clark Jayvees. Although the field was muddy and slippery, the Rooks accumulated 450 yards on the ground and 158 in the air for a total of 608.

Chuck Boyle, 180 pound Colorado quarterback, will probably get a chance to do some potent running against the Ducks Saturday.

Stitzer Bowlers Move to First Spot in League

Stitzer Hall moved to undisputed first place in the inter-dorm bowling league last night, as Merrick Hall, last week's co-leaders, lost four points to Gamma Hall.

Lloyd Sutton of Stitzer rolled a high series of 507, as Stitzer and Minturn broke even with two each.

Pete Darlington anchored the Gamma team to a four point win over Merrick. He rolled a 510 high series.

Stan Ray Hall won three points from McChesney, and Sherry Ross won three from Alpha.

League Standings:

Name	W	L
Stitzer	17	7
Stan Ray	16	8
Merrick	15	9
Gamma	14	10
Minturn	12	12
Sherry Ross	9	15
Alpha	7	17
McChesney	6	18

Charles Peterson, 72 Year Old Billiard Champion, to Perform

Charles C. Peterson, world's shot billiards champion, will give exhibitions at the Student Union recreation area tomorrow and Monday.

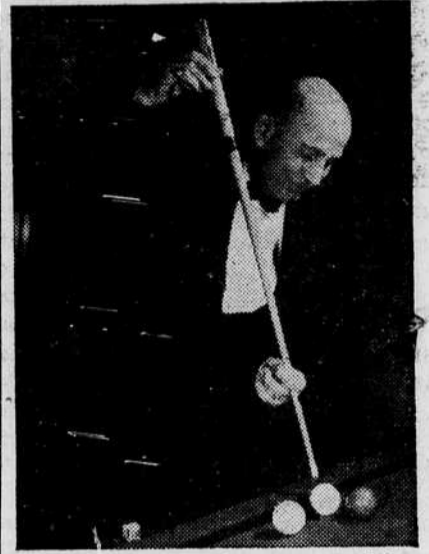

Louie Bellissimo, student union recreational director, expects Peterson's first exhibition on Saturday to be in the afternoon.

Seventy-two year old Peterson has been a veteran billiards' player for fifty-eight years and has been made famous by his challenge "show me a shot I can't make."

Since 1931 he has carried his billiard philosophy to American colleges, boy's clubs, and civic groups. In addition during the second World War he gave more exhibitions than any other entertainer.

His fancy shots, which number approximately 550, are only incidental to his purpose. His aim is to teach beginners—both men and women—that billiards is an easy game to learn and play.

Peterson's tour is sponsored by the Billiard Congress of America and the Association of College Unions.

UO-OSC Tickets

One thousand tickets for the Oregon-Oregon State game next Saturday are available, Howard Lemons, athletic business manager has announced. The tickets sell for $5.

Lemons also said there are tickets at the athletic office for the Eugene-Oregon City high school football game on Hayward Field at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Tickets to the high school game sell for 60 cents, and will be on sale all day Friday.
