

Do You Know a Rumor--- when you hear one?

During the war we knew enough to mistrust rumors and particularly knew how dangerous it was to spread them. We knew then that rumors affected our unity, and unity was vital to winning the war.

But perhaps we don't know that rumors are just as dangerous today as they were during the war.

Because — rumors about other groups, other religions and other races always threaten our national unity—without which we cannot hope to survive.

Be an active citizen — help keep your country strong, united and secure—a good place in which men can live together, prosper together and pursue happiness together.

Make sure that you are not spreading rumors against a race or religion. Speak up, wherever you are, against prejudice, and work for better understanding. Remember that's being a good American.
