 for nearly a month, the Young Republicans' president said. Points being considered are transportation, expense, and date of the proposed trip. The situation in Salem is also involved, Collin noted, including choice of an interesting chamber and committee session, reservation of gallery space, and arrangements for a luncheon and possible tour.

Board Hears Idea

Collin presented the idea of the trip before a meeting of the Young Republicans' state executive board Sunday.

The executive board gave full approval to the proposed trip, Collin said. It advocates such excursion for college clubs in carrying out their educational purpose.

Also representing the University group at the meeting were Ed Peterson, senior in music and regional representative of the executive board in the Third Congressional District; Ellen Christensen, junior in political science and Oregon representative to the state executive board, and Bill Hempy, junior in physics.

Physicist to Tell Universe Theory

As part of the University Lecture Series, E. G. Ebbighausen, associate professor of physics, will talk on "A Theory of the Universe" at 8 p.m. Thursday in 207 Chapman.

Ebbighausen will base his lecture on the theory that the sun, meteorites, and the earth may be of common origin. Speaking in terms that the ordinary layman will understand, he will present his topic on a popular level.

The lecture is open to students, the faculty, and townspeople.

Actors Needed For Short Show

Tryouts for a one-act drama will be conducted at 4 p.m. Tuesday in 101 Villard, according to Director Don Frost, senior in speech.

The play will be given Jan. 30 in the experimental theatre, Villard. Rehearsals will be scheduled later this week.

"There is a real opportunity for an outstanding male actor," Frost emphasized. He said any interested person who cannot attend tryouts should contact him.
